CHARGES CAMPAIGN TO BREAK DOWN PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY

Official Speaks To Service Club Representatives On the Matter.

KINGSTON, July 7—"The recurring attacks upon the Canadian National System, with the accompanying flood of half-truths, distorted statements and worse, have bred a feeling of resentment in the personnel of the Railway. The desire of the employees is only that the public shall have a fair and true picture of the situation." This was one of the declarations made today by S. W. Fairweather Director of the Bureau of Economics, Canadian National Railways, in an address delivered to representatives of service clubs here.

It was hard to escape the conviction, the speaker said, that there was a campaign to break down the confidence of the people of Canada in the Canadian National Railways. It was interesting to note that most of the critics produced the same plan to meet the alleged desperate condition, namely, that the Canadian National as a publicly owned and controlled railway system should cease to exist.

The property which it was hoped to submerge was the largest railway organization on the North American continent. It afforded the shortest rail route between eastern and western Canada with lower gradients than any other rail line in the United States or the Dominion. In the Prairie Provinces it served the most productive part of the country. It crossed the Rocky Mountains at the lowest elevation of any trans-continental line, its mountain gradients being as favourable as those on the prairie. It had a double-track main line running like a backbone through Ontario, Quebec and the United States as far west as Chicago and afforded the only all-Canadian route between the Maritime Provinces and the rest of the Dominion. It served directly ninety per cent of the people of Canada and to one quarter of them was the only railway available. It linked the Dominion with many of Canada's best markets in the United States. Sixty per cent of the coal produced in Canada depended upon the Canadian National for rail transport. Development of base and precious metal mining in recent years had been largely along its lines. It was the greatest factor in serving the forest industries in Canada, originating more newsprint and pulp tonnage than any other railway on the continent. It was difficult, the speaker said, to find any justification for the view expressed by some of the critics.

When Holidays Come

I'll get away from the city's roar,
I'll say "Good-bye" to the folk next door.

I'll turn the key in the lock and then
I'll be away with the carefree men.

In my knockabout I shall not mind
If it shows just where I've flopped behind;

'Cause I mean to doze, I mean to laze
I'll labor not on my lakeside days.

I'll please myself, I'll do only that,
I'll be a king in an old flop hat
I'll lock my door and pocket the key
And say farewell to formality.

I'll be as free as the breeze that blows
By the waters cool where the pine tree grows,

I mean to forget for many days
The old shop's rules and city ways.

Here's Simple Way to Curb a Cold

1. Take 2 "ASPIRIN" tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "ASPIRIN" tablets in 1/2 glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness almost instantly.

Two "ASPIRIN" Tablets—A
Full Glass of Water—That's All

The modern way to curb a cold is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor,
