FAMILY OF THREE NATIONALITIES PROVIDES IMMIGRATION PUZZLE OFFICIALS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5—Canadian immigration officials here told of the latest immigration puzzle—an East Indian father, his Mexican wife and the American-born son, who collectively have no legal right in any country.

The man, alleged to have entered the United States illegally, married a Mexican girl in Texas, who also had no legal entry to the United States.

The child was born in the United States, and later the trio entered Canada without legal sanctions.

The father as a British subject could be deported to India, but that country will not accept his wife or son.

United States admits the son may claim citizenship, but will not have the father or mother.

Mexico will accept the mother, but will not have the father or son.

The family, whose names officials withheld, said they were unwilling to separate.

Buy a Poppy... Why?

TOMORROW IS POPPY DAY.

The purpose of selling poppies is two-fold, viz.: To honor the dead and to help the disabled living and the needy dependents of the dead.

Surely there could be no cause in which a patriotic people would rather share.

The wreathes and poppies that are offered for sale each poppy day are made by disabled veterans; veterans who are permanently and seriously disabled and who need our help. The proceeds of the poppy sales are used to help these poor fellows and also to help the dependents of the comrades who are now no more. The disabled take this means of seeking to help themselves financially.

Could any appeal be made for a more deserving cause? We were surprised when we were told that some people have worn the same poppy year after year in order to escape paying for a poppy. These people must have a queer mentality.

We respect the thought that goes with the placing of wreathes on the Cenotaph, and the wearing of the poppy in the button-hole of one's coat. The outward expression is a worthy one and is as it should be, but the big object is to help those who deserve the help.

The call accompanied by the little flower is such as to merit the investment as well as the display. Receive those who call in a spirit of courtesy. They are not getting anything out of it. Buy a Poppy. REMEMBER THE BOYS FROM HERE AND ELSEWHERE WHO SLEEP IN FLANDER'S FIELDS, AND ALSO REMEMBER THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN, THROUGH THESE LONG YEARS, SUFFERING SINCE THEY WERE WAR DISABLED. Some are your own. Some were the playmates of your youth at the York, Charlotte, Regent and other schools. They sacrificed their all at their country's call.

A Remembrance Day poppy can be bought for a few cents. Is that too much of a sacrifice to make once a year in memory of our heroic dead, and for the crippled and the orphaned living? No amount is too large to give. But the smallest offering will be thankfully received. Just give what you can afford.

ON SATURDAY, (TOMORROW), BUY A POPPY—a 1937 model poppy—in memory of those who gave their lives or who became disabled in a "war to end wars." Many of those who fell in the war did not die. That is in effect what happened to many Canadian young men. Wounded, damaged in body and spirit, these multitudes of our fellow men have survived twenty years of pain and handicap, of distress, frustration and disappointment in the daily race of life, regardless of all the help Government and Municipalities can devise for them. On the base of the indescribably beautiful Memorial on Vimy Ridge, there are carved in the solid stone, the names of 11,283 Canadian soldiers whose bodies have never been found, whose names do not appear on a headstone in any of the numerous Canadian cemeteries scattered over France and Flanders. Thus no man is forgotten. THE POPPY FUND, IN SO FAR AS THE FUNDS IT CAN RAISE PERMIT, HAS ATTEMPTED TO SEE THAT NO MAN OF THOSE LIVING BE FORGOTTEN. The things Governments cannot undertake to supply, clothing, furniture, the simple amenities of comfort in a home, are the routine provisions of the Poppy Fund. It also meets certain kinds of emergencies, medical and domestic. Its work is practically all voluntary. It tries to be on behalf of its countless contributors on Poppy Day, the Good Samaritan to the forgotten fringes of the veteran problem.

The Canadian Legion which conducts the Campaign in Canada is only one unit of the British Empire Service League which this month, in its world-wide associations in the British Empire, is selling poppies to fellow Britishers in every corner of the globe. EVERY CENT IS NEEDED. LET US DO OUR PART.

FRIENDLIER FEELING IN BRITISH QUARTERS TOWARDS GEN. FRANCO

Commercial Relations With Insurgent Regime Being Negotiated by British Government

DIPLOMATIC AGENTS AT CAPITALS

British Commercial Interests In Spain Are In the Hands of General Franco

LONDON, Nov. 5—That Great Britain has an eye to the future and to what would affect British interest in certain portions of Spain should Franco come out victorious is seen in the announcement yesterday that the government was negotiating a commercial agreement with the insurgent regime.

A full meeting of the 27-nation Spanish Non-Intervention Committee quickly approved British proposals for getting foreign troops out of Spain and authorized the Earl of Plymouth, the chairman, to approach the Spanish government and insurgents to obtain their consent.

An increasingly friendlier feeling in British quarters toward insurgent General Franco was evident with British and French authorities talking less about strong action to force withdrawal of the foreign volunteers fighting on both sides.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons Great Britain was negotiating commercial relations with the insurgent regime.

Lord Tweedsmuir, Honored By McMaster University, Says Democracy Is Threatened

Author of New Book Says Present Trend to Think In Masses, Not Enough Individuality

HAMILTON, Nov. 5—Giving his views as to what Great Britain's task now is in order to save democracy and what procedure was best for Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir, whose newest historical book, "Augustus," was published recently, told McMaster University students today Augustus was "almost the only dictator in history who kept his head."

Honored by the University as both Governor-General of Canada and as John Buchan, the author, Lord Tweedsmuir made brief reference to his book in an address dealing with the Empire's future under democracy, "the best method of government which the human mind has yet devised."

Augustus, he said, gave the Roman Empire a foundation that endured for nearly five centuries. In a modified form the empire lasted 14 centuries and many of its foundations continued today.

"I have been impressed by the wisdom of his conceptions," said Lord Tweedsmuir. "He was no megalomaniac and he detested rhetoric. He created a huge bureaucracy, which was necessary for efficient administration, but he labored always to preserve local idioms and to foster individuality in the citizens."

"He never tried to coerce his empire into the bonds of mechanical formula, and he refused to enlarge its territories."

FASCIST PRESS RAGES AT EDEN'S WARNING IN COLONIES BATTLE

Uproar Presages Nazis' Final Denunciation of the Treaty of Versailles, Is View of Diplomats

LONDON, Nov. 5—Italian and German anger against Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden as a result of his warning to Premier Mussolini to keep out of the German colonial controversy, tonight led to diplomatic predictions that Germany is preparing—with Fascist support—to repudiate the last shreds of the Versailles Treaty.

Fuehrer Adolph Hitler was understood to be considering repudiation of the mandate system under which her vast war-lost colonies were distributed among victorious allied Powers.

Many diplomats believed Hitler would announce the repudiation before a special session of the Reichstag and that Italy would give official recognition to Germany's defiance.

May Assert Mandates Invalid Despatches from Berlin said Hitler probably would base his repudiation on a contention that present administration of the former German colonies under League of Nations mandates is not legally valid.

The Essen National Zeitung, organ of Nazi Leader Colonel-General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, berated Eden for the latter's attack on Mussolini's recent Fascist "birthday" speech, in which Il Duce asserted that a lasting European peace depended upon restoration of the former German colonies in America.

Windsors Sail Tomorrow On Liner Bremen

(Special to The Daily Mail)

PARIS, Nov. 5—The Duke of Windsor after consideration of criticism from various quarters has decided to leave tomorrow on the Bremen for his 37 day tour of the United States.

Criticism from American labor, labor leaders stressed did not proceed from personal antagonism towards the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. It was based on the fact that his visit to German Fascist labor camps was considered an ill-omened prelude to his survey of American labor conditions. Also that his representative and spokesman Charles Bedoux was associated in the minds of American labor with the invention of the most ruthless high-speed efficiency factory operation system of modern times.

After trans-Atlantic telephone conversations between Bedoux and the Duke of Windsor it was decided by the latter that he would sail tomorrow for America as previously scheduled.

DELIVERED ADDRESS

At Hamilton, Ont., at noon today Hon. A. P. Paterson delivered an address before the Canadian Club. He dealt with Canadian-New Brunswick problems, and said that Canada was not a country but an agreement or a contract. Mr. Paterson's address which is interesting even to those who do not entirely agree with his contentions will be found in The Daily Mail today. It is well worth reading.

Communist International, it was stated, and return almost immediately to pave the way for mediation.

(The German embassy in Rome said an Italian-German-Japanese pact against Communism would be signed Saturday in the Italian capital. Von Ribbentrop left Berlin for Rome Thursday.)

SHAW PREDICTS CIVILIZATION'S END IN GR. WAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—George Bernard Shaw predicted the collapse of civilization in the event of another major war in an address broadcast from London today.

Only two nations—the United States and Soviet Russia—could survive another world cataclysm on the 1914-18 scale, the Irish playwright warned.

"They are too big, the distances are too great. But what could destroy them? A civil war, wars like the wars of religion in the seventeenth century, and this is exactly the sort of war that is threatening us today," he said.
