

N. S. WILL SHARE IN INCREASED BUSINESS CREATED BY BRITISH REARMAMENT PROGRAM

Arms Orders from Great Britain Seen In Nova Scotia

Steel and Pig Iron From Dosco's Plants For British Warships

Canada May Be Supply Base For Materials
Reported Unit of 10,000 Barrels of Oil For Halifax

SYDNEY, C.B., March 16—Significance of the visit of Lord Riverdale—Sir Arthur Balfour—to the plans of Dominion Steel & Coal Corp., which he has inspected in detail, is that he is a quasi-official representative of the British iron and steel industry and has been associated with numerous British Government activities.

In Halifax interviews Lord Riverdale said that in his opinion the Nova Scotia steel plants would share in the increasing steel business created by Britain's huge rearmament program. Lord Riverdale was joined at Sydney by W. A. Bradbury, Canadian manager for Sir Arthur's Sheffield steel firm, Arthur Balfour & Co. They inspected every department of Dosco's Sydney steel mills, and after conferences with Dosco officials made an inspection of Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. plants at Trenton, N. S. Later they visited the yards of Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., another Dosco subsidiary. Lord Riverdale is expected to visit Ottawa.

Demands have been so heavy on British iron and steel firms that orders for the British Government will have to be placed in Canada and orders from private buyers which would ordinarily be handled by British firms will have to be given to Canadian steel mills, according to Lord Riverdale's comments at Halifax. British steel production, he added, is two million tons behind present requirements, and there is a shortage of scrap and pig iron. Steel from Nova Scotia furnaces, he said, will go into new British warships, but Britain's actual steel needs will scarcely be determined before next September.

Lively interest in Lord Riverdale's visit arose in the Maritime Provinces from an unconfirmed Halifax report that the British Government would take over the Dosco enterprise and its Halifax shipyards. While this report is discredited, it is believed that Lord Riverdale's visit and his comments indicate that pig iron, steel and billets from Canada, notably from Dosco, will be exported to Britain.

The Financial Post is informed from usually reliable sources that the British War Office appears likely to use Canada as its chief outside base for supplier of essential materials. Secondary reserves would be built up at Halifax, according to one informant, and possibly at Saint John, in connection with the British defense programme.

One report is that the War Office has invited establishment of a first

The House and The Press

THE OTHER DAY The Daily Mail had a few words to say in praise of the members of the Legislature. We feel that this praise was well deserved, as it is doubtful if there is any Legislature that has as a whole a more diligent, energetic gathering of men than has our Legislature in New Brunswick. They are in addition to this a genial, kindly collection of gentlemen who have won the respect and friendly feeling of all with whom they have come in contact in this city.

Now, a word in regard to the Press representatives. We often wonder if the members, some of whom are occupying seats for the first time, appreciate all the service which they are receiving from the members of the Press Gallery. Five New Brunswick dailies and one weekly newspaper are represented at the House. Through the medium of these different newspapers scattered through this Province—and through this medium alone—the public of New Brunswick are being made aware of what is going on at the Legislature. If these different newspapers were to withdraw their representatives tomorrow the public outside of Fredericton would scarcely know that the members were in the Legislature.

During the present session the different papers have at considerable cost to themselves kept representatives in the Press Gallery. At considerable additional cost to themselves they have published, most of the time in full, the speeches made during the different debates. Many days column after column of these speeches have appeared as a result of the reporter and the linotype operator "working up and onward in the night."

In former years, following out the practice that exists in Ottawa as well as in Provincial Legislatures throughout the Dominion, there was a co-operation between the members of the Legislature and the Press Gallery, through the officials of the House. This seems to be lacking during the last couple of sessions, and different instances have cropped up during the present session, which have demonstrated that the Press have not been treated with the proper courtesy which it is customary for them to receive. One instance is in the matter of the departmental reports. It was formerly the practice at the Legislature to place these reports on the desks of the press gallery at the same time that they were being distributed on the different members' desks in the House. This practice has not been followed out this year in the case of all the reports. And yet the press have a perfect right to these, and it is through the press that the public get the information as to what is contained in these reports.

There have been other instances of discourtesy on the part of certain members of the House staff, who are being paid to do the correct thing. There is this to be said for the caretaker, the messengers, door-keepers and pages: They are all extremely courteous and obliging.

In more than one Legislature the members of the Press Gallery have a room placed at their disposal, where they can get out their work. No one ever suggested such a thing here, and apparently the press has never asked for it. But they should do so another year.

One has only to read the papers to see how the press is treated at Ottawa. This courteous treatment is in evidence on the part of the leading public men from the Governor-General and Premier down.

On the other hand, if papers expect their representatives to be treated with courtesy they should be represented by reporters who know how to keep confidences and who have a proper regard for the fitness of things. No reporter should expect to get reports and news releases before these releases are ready, and any reporter who seeks to get "scoops" by breaking confidences does not merit the confidence of anybody.

WASHINGTON, March 16 — That President Roosevelt has invited Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, to visit him in Washington was announced last summer on the occasion of the President's visit to Canada as the guest of the Governor-General.

The date of the return visit, coming as it does prior to the British Imperial Conference in London in May, revived speculation to the effect that his recent conferences with Rt. Hon. Walter Ruciman, president of the British Board of Trade, and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian Prime Minister, the President has been exploring the possibilities of putting forward some kind of peace formula.

Lord Tweedsmuir is credited with having suggested to the President that, in the event of his re-election, he should use his prestige to assume the leadership of a world-wide peace movement.

The Department of External Affairs announced here last night that Their Excellencies will arrive in Washington on the afternoon of March 30 and will return to Canada on the night of April 1. They will be guests at the White House during their stay in the United States capital.

This will be the first time a Canadian Governor-General has visited Washington officially as a guest of the President. Lord Willingdon, Governor-General from 1926 to 1931, made a trip in a private capacity and stayed at the Canadian legation in the capital.

The vice-regal party will include Mrs. George Pape, lady-in-waiting to Her Excellency, A. S. Redfern, secretary to the Governor-General, Lieut.-Col. Willis O'Connor, Lieut. S. G. Rivers Smith and Captain Campbell-Preston.

DOCTOR DOUBTS VALUE OF TESTS OF HYPNOSIS

TORONTO, March 16—Experimenting in hypnotism, students at the University of Western Ontario have encountered some strange results, including the production of burns on the skin although no heated object has been contacted.

The experiments are conducted in the psychology classes of the university, where some students are co-operating with Dr. D. J. Wilson, Assistant Professor of Psychology. The students relax and allow the professor to induce a hypnotic state where they are completely under control of his will.

Red Spot Appears
