SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Hospital Aid Bridge Club

The Hospital Aid Bridge Club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Harold McMurray. Other hostesses who have entertained the Club since the opening of the fall season include Mrs. J. J. F. Winslow, Mrs. J. H. Babbitt, Mrs. Stewart Neill, Mrs. C. P. Holden and Mrs. H. G. Chestnut.

Mrs. J. C. Veness entertained the bridge club of which she is a member last evening at her home when Mrs. Charles W. Johnston was the winner of the prize.

Supper Bridge

Mrs. A. C. Haining last evening entertained at her home in Smythe Street at a delightful five-table bridge. The prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Corbin, Mrs. Arthur Brundage and Mrs. John Baldwin. Red and green Christmas trimmings were used throughout the rooms and the tables were centred with small decorated Christmas trees, the place cards being most original. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, Mrs. Allen Horncastle and Mrs. Frank VanStone. Little Miss Jane MacDonald admitted the guests.

Ministering Circle King's Daughters

The Ministering Circle of the Kings Daughters met last evening at the home of Mrs. A. P. Crockett, with the President Mrs. C. C. Jones in the chair. In place of the regular devotional period the Circle had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. King, nee Miss Edna Baird, late of China who gave a most interesting description of "One day in the Missionary Compound." She described most interestingly her work and displayed some dolls dressed in native costume and some beautiful silk robes. Her time for speaking was limited but she was given an opportunity later in the evening to answer questions. Arrangements were made for sending out Christmas boxes and usual routine relief work. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

To Hold Banquet

Between 50 and 60 members of the Fredericton Branch, New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association, and guests are expected to attend the annual banquet of the organization tonight at Woodbridge's Cabins. The possibility that some of the members of the provincial government may attend was expressed by one member of the association questioned. This depends, he said, on whether the meeting of the cabinet scheduled for today is completed by this evening.

PRIME FURS

was, in the words of one, "gone with the wind."

Meanwhile, pelting activities are in full progress at the 100-odd fox ranches in this vicinity. Most of the pelting will be concluded by Christmas. The carryover of skins from last season was small, and this year's crop will be smaller than last year's because of the fewer number of pups born this spring. It is hoped that these factors will have a beneficial effect on the prices obtained by local ranchers, it was stated by E. M. Taylor, secretary of the New Brunswick Fox Breeders' Association.

First U. S. Sale Dec. 14

The first test of the American market will come on Dec. 14, when the New York Auction Company Inc. will offer 10,000 silvers for sale at that city. Returns of today's sale at Montreal will, however, tell the tale. If prices are favorable, and it is generally conceded that they will be far from that, New York prices will run along the same line. If the Montreal market folds up, so also will the American market.

The second Canadian sale of the season will be held at Montreal by the Canadian Auction Fur Sales, Ltd. on Dec. 28, the last receiving day to be Dec. 16.

EXAMINATION

was unable to satisfy the judgment, and counsel for the plaintiff, J. J. F. Winslow, K.C., was granted an order by Hon Judge Slipp for examination.

The examination this morning dealt with the receipts and payments of the company while it was active. It was disclosed that severe losses were suffered by the company through accidents in shipping. One boat was held up in Norway for 14 days, causing a loss of $8,000, another held up in a congestion of traffic, lost $16,000 to the company.

"Those things," stated Mr. Atkinson, "are what put us on the bum." Other losses of similar nature were quoted as $6,000, $4,000, $1,100, $1,800, $3,400 and $3,000.

Ladies Study Club

The Ladies Study Club of the League of Nations Society of Fredericton was addressed by Professor Malcolm Macpherson at their last meeting which took place this week at the Y community Rooms. The subject of the address was the International situation of the Day.

C. W. L. Hold Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Fredericton Sub-Division of the Catholic Women's League was held last evening in St. Dunstan's Hall with the President, Miss Anna Kelly, in the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" and following the reading of the minutes and reports routine business was carried on. A letter was read from the Diocesan President, Miss Veronica Osborne, urging thought for the needy at the Christmas season. A communication was also received from Mrs. J. J. Leddy of Saskatoon, Diocesan President, requesting a contribution of clothing and books to assist the victims of the distressed in the rural areas of Saskatchewan.

Rev. F. X. Knott, S.J., of the Mission Stamp Bureau of Toronto also wrote to the Sub-Division asking for contributions of used stamps with which the bureau had during the past year realized more than a thousand dollars in their work in the Chinese missionary fields.

Plans were made for the sending out of the Christmas baskets and also for visits and assistance to patients at the Victoria Public Hospital. Rev. Dr. J. H. Milligan, Chaplain of the Order was also present and addressed the meeting. All bills were ordered paid, the treasurer's report showing a favorable balance. The Educational and Study Club convener reported progress by several of the clubs.

Suggestions from Miss Grace Coughlin of Woodstock, Educational Convener were heard with interest. An appeal for help to inmates at the Mater Misericordia Home in Saint John resulted in twenty dollars being voted for that purpose. Plans were also made for a card party, which would be held early in January for the Boy Scouts. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Address W. I. Board Meeting

Mrs. Sterling Haynes of the Provincial Youth Training dept. addressed the Board meeting of the Women's Institute which has been meeting in the city for the past few days. She spoke on the county festivals which are to be put on in the various rural districts of the province under the educational improvement scheme. Following the closing session today the members will visit the short course classes at the Experimental Farm.

Mrs. Ellen Isobel Carr Passed Away Yesterday At Home, Rusagonis

The death occurred at Rusagonis last evening of Mrs. Ellen Isobel Carr, at the home of her son, Will Carr. The deceased had resided in Rusagonis for about fifty-eight years and was well known and highly respected. The death came very unexpectedly, the deceased having been ill for only a short time. She was 81 years of age.

The deceased is survived by two sons, Samuel, of Maine, and William at home; also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Fanny G. Brown, Rusagonis; Mrs. Frank Dunphy, this city, and Mrs. Otty DeWitt, Tracy; also one sister, Mrs. Selma Carr, of Washington, and one brother Samuel McKnight of Detroit.

The funeral will take place Friday afternoon with prayers at the home at two o'clock. Service will be held at the Baptist church, Rusagonis, at 2.30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Ricker will officiate. Interment will be made at Rusagonis.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Judgment was reserved until Dec. 16 by Magistrate Whitman A. Haines, in the case of the King vs. Harriet Paul, Devon Indian woman charged with assaulting Chief Andy Paul, at the conclusion of the argument this morning. The case arose out of an argument in the home of the accused who is a sister-in-law of the assaulted man, over a dispute between children. A skirmish developed in which Chief Paul was stabbed in the chest with a pair of scissors. The injury was not serious. A. R. Murray, clerk of the peace, prosecuted the case, while E. Allison MacKay defended the accused, who this morning took the stand in her own defence.

DIED

CARR.—Passed away at Rusagonis, N. B., Dec. 8, 1937, Mrs. Ellen Isobel Carr, aged 81. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon, Dec. 10, with prayers at the home of her son, William Carr, Rusagonis, at two o'clock. Services at the Baptist church at 2.30. Rev. Mr. Ricker will officiate. Interment will be made at Rusagonis.

HISTORICAL SOC. HELD MEETING LAST EVENING

A paper of much interest was read before the regular monthly meeting of the York-Sunbury Historical Society, which was held in the Society rooms in the Post Office building last night, on three petitions of the 18th century which were addressed to Governor Carleton. The first was a petition on behalf of a man condemned for murder, but the second, containing much valuable information concerning the beginning of the salmon fishing and mast industries in this province, and also the beginning of the Town of Newcastle, was highly interesting.

Dr. F. A. Wightman, president of the Society, occupied the chair. He gave the report of the executive meeting which was held just previous to the other meeting, submitting resolutions of the executive to the Society. One concerned the decision to seek certain articles of historic interest from the Odell estate for the museum. A letter was read by the recording secretary from Dr. R. H. Wright announcing a meeting in the Community Y rooms at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon in the interests of world peace and the boycotting of Japanese goods.

Mrs. Maxwell J. Brown read the petition of Robert Gowan to the Governor in objection to the escheatment of a grant of 100 acres of land, which had been granted to him back to the Crown for failure to settle the land. The petition stated that the land had been gotten for the purpose of establishing salmon fisheries on the Miramichi. The petitioner had established the fishery, built ships there and transported shipments to the Mediterranean. In the Indian rebellion his fisheries had been destroyed, some of his ships seized, remittances intercepted, and cargoes of salt, necessary to his trade, also seized. He had to quit the settlement in 1777, leaving a few people behind. These people narrowly escaped massacre by the Indians when a British ship arrived in the nick of time to save them.

The petitioner returned to the settlement after the rebellion and began the first mast trade in the province. He states that he expended $5,000 in the venture. In the eight months before writing the petition he had advanced the men $1,200 more. He stated that he had arranged (at the time of writing) for the transportation of a group of Scottish settlers to the point, all expenses paid.

An interesting local angle was disclosed when Mrs. Maxwell announced that Miss Gertrude Davidson, of this city, and who was present at the meeting, is a descendant of Robert Gowan, the petitioner. The house of the petitioner still stands, and is occupied by a brother of Miss Davidson. Miss Davidson is going to supply the Society with a photograph of the building. The grave of the petitioner is on the point where the Northwest and Southwest branches of the Miramichi come together and is marked with a monument.

Considerable discussion on the mast industry developed, several members telling about the old roads in the Maryland, Hanwell and other woods, which may still be seen and which were constructed for the mast trade. It was stated by Mrs. Maxwell that there is an understanding that Kingsclear was named from the fact that the land was cleared by the cutting of mast wood.

The annual meeting of the Society on the third week in January next, was also discussed. The question of whether the date could be changed for the convenience of one of the convenors of committee was also gone into, but it was disclosed that the constitution specifically states that it must be held on that night.

Several accessions were announced and described by the curator, Sterling Brannen. He also suggested that the Society observe the 125th anniversary of the march of the 104th Regiment, in February next. This suggestion was left for consideration. The mention of the march also brought a discussion on a brief account recently published in another section of the press, of that famous march. The

As the forest resources of the Island province consist mostly of farmers' woodlots, the one month's course which began on Nov. 12, was framed so as to be especially useful in work in connection with this type of woodland.

Mr. Taylor, "The improvement in quality of the commodity, the increase in the attractiveness of the packaged article, and the continuity of supply." He pointed out the continued efforts of the department since 1935 in urging grading of all products, and the establishment of an orderly marketing system.

Dark Spots Now Becoming Cozy Corners In Many Homes

The light-panel built into the ceiling makes possible an interesting decorative effect, which is extended along practical lines by the attractive lamp on the desk.

By Jean Prentice

THE dark spots of yesterday are becoming the cozy corners of today, thanks to modern architecture and lighting.

Many a home has an alcove or window seat that has long been the despair of the family, at least insofar as decoration is concerned. Generally, these areas are sufficiently pleasant looking by day, but at night they often fade into a background of shadow that robs them of their natural beauty and charm. Moreover, frequently they are useless for reading, sewing or studying, because no original provision was made for lighting them.

The modern trend in architecture, which carefully conserves space, and permits none to be wasted, lights these alcoves and window seats from above. In many cases, particularly in the newer houses, a panel of glass with a light above it is built into the ceiling, directly overhead. This panel may contain either clear or colored light, or a combination of both. The decorative effect is completed by placing statuettes or other ornaments on wall pedestals at either side of a picture.

Sometimes a desk is placed alongside the alcove or window seat, and the overhead lighting panel is called upon to provide illumination for it. This practice is frowned upon by lighting specialists, who point out that lighted ceiling panels rarely provide sufficient light for such purposes. Every desk, they claim, should have its own lamp, preferably one of the Better Light type, approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society, in order that whoever is seated at it may have ample local light by which to see clearly and without eyestrain.

It should be understood, too, that regardless of what the room may offer in the way of built-in or installed lighting panels, every chair used for reading or other eye work should have its own lamp, else the purpose of the scheme, which is control and flexibility, will be defeated. Ornamental fixtures are designed largely for decoration, and should never be permitted to displace the table or floor lamps needed for lighting convenience and ease of seeing.
