Record in 440-Yard Hurdles: Ottawa Athlete Cops Javelin Honors; Women Also Win

SYDNEY, Feb. 7-Canada's colors floated high over the Empire Village last night, hoisted to victory three times by a pair of track and field men and a women's relay team at the opening of the British Empire games Saturday.

Johnny Loaring, of Windsor, Ont., led the Canadian performers with a record-breaking 52.9 seconds in the 440-yard hurdles. It was one of six Empire marks bettered, five at the Sydney cricket grounds park and field meet and the other in the North Sydney Olympic pool where the swimmers gathered.

The husky 22-year-old University of Western Ontario hurdle star kept up with the leaders for 300 yards, then turned loose a burst of speed at the eighth hurdle that carried him to the tape 15 yards ahead of J. Park, of Australia. Loaring's time was 1.5 second faster than the Empire record set in 1930 by Lord Burghley of England.

Jimmy Courtright, Ottawa youth, 🕨 now a student at Queen's University CAPITALS HOST at Kingston, opened the Canadian victory march with a 206-foot 3-4-incn javelin throw.

The swim team with Florence Humble, of Montreal; Dorothy Lyon, Toronto; Noel Oxenbury, New Westminster, B. C., and Phyllis Dewar, of Vancouver, completed the trio of Empire championships for Canada in the Expect Hard Battle Dewomen's 440-yard relay. They nosed out the Australian quartet by 1.6 seconds in 4:48.3.

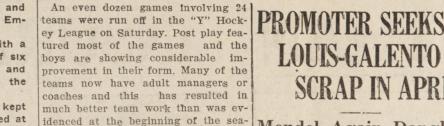

First Empire mark to topple was the women's 100-yard dash.
