NEWS

Period Ending March 27, 1938

Wednesday saw an extra session of the District Scout Training Course, for a few of the candidates who had missed some previous sessions. Those turning out completed their notes, and to wind up this Course, an extra weekend Camp is to be held at Durham, dates, April 2nd and 3rd.

On Sunday, at the Parish Hall on Westmorland Street, ourselves and District Scoutmaster Fred Barnes held a final indoor meeting, which was largely attended. Models and notebooks were handed in by the candidates, the models being judged by Rover Scouts Don Cumming and Basil Law of the 3rd Fredericton Rover Scout crew. Several excellent models were brought, including a pair of scales; an effective bird design, made from pine; a model camp; book rests of birchbark and wood; framed pictures; carved soap; while the drawings in the notebooks exhibit a high standard. Two tied for first prize models, Dick Harkness of U.N. B. and L. DarGavel, Murchie winning the second prize. Previous to the Model judging, the candidates visited the 3rd Fredericton Rover den, and we gave a short talk on the history of the parish of Fredericton as illustrated by the many photographs around the walls of the Parish Hall.

A letter of congratulation, signed by the candidates and staff, was sent to Commissioner and Mrs. G. Alvah Good.

"We, the undersigned, members of the 1938 Fredericton District Scout Leaders' Course, join in extending to you our hearty congratulation on the Happy Event which has blessed you. We further join in wishing you both a safe return with the prospect of getting to know your prospective Wolf Cub, who will, we hope, one day take his place on such a Training Course as you have this year, and in other years, helped to run.

"May this be your slogan, and ours, Live to Train—Train to Live."

At this meeting also, an enlarged photo of the Upper Lincoln Troop was presented to Scoutmaster Robt. Howard, one of the candidates.

Springhill pack now have one new member, and at last Tuesday's regular meeting, three more boys were invested as Wolf Cubs.

At the regular meeting of Victoria Mills Troop, on Thursday, Scoutmaster Rev. Karl Fairweather invested two recruits as Boy Scouts. Present were Lawrence Carroll, who took the District Scout Leaders' Course in Fredericton a few years back, and is to act as A.S.M.

On Friday and Saturday we were to Lower Prince William, where the Little Troop is making excellent progress under Lady Scoutmaster Thelma Jewett. We passed Robert Lawrence, James I. Lawrence and Shirley Moore as Second Class Scouts; while Hedley Moore was invested as a Tenderfoot Scout. Ersel Moore, a former Scoutmaster and Gilwell graduate, assisted. Some progress has been made with the small camp on Mr. Moore's property.

Picardy Chapter Celebrates 20th Anniversary

An outstanding function was the birthday party which was held on Saturday afternoon by the members of the Picardy Chapter in honor of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the chapter. The celebration was in the nature of a reception and musical program. The guests being members of the organization, friends from the city and outside visitors who are here for the session. The distinguished guests included, Miss MacLaren and Mrs. A. A. Dyart, Mrs. T. C. Barker, the Regent of the Chapter welcomed the guests and in a few opening remarks reviewed the history of the chapter and extended thanks to the press for its hearty co-operation and the friends who helped.

Prominent in the stage decorations was a beautiful bouquet of roses with long streamers of ribbons to match, each rose representing a year in the life of the chapter. This was the gift of Mrs. John Bebbington of Bebbington's Gardens who herself has been prominent in I.O.D.E. work for over twenty-five years. The standards of the chapter and I.O.D.E. shields also were in evidence. The tea-table was centred with a beautifully decorated birthday cake which was cut by the Regent, Mrs. Barker who passed it around to the guests during the refreshment period. A musical and literary program was carried out as follows: Vocal solo by Miss Marie Lister; dance by Ann and Alice MacKenzie; reading, Mrs. E. M. Taylor; vocal duet, Mrs. Leon Thurott and Mrs. J. W. Maxwell; dance, Eva Herbin; solo, Mrs. A. F. Belding. Mrs. Stanley Wood was the accompanist.

Picardy Chapter was organized in Fredericton during the last year of the Great War taking the name of Picardy. The organization meeting was held at the home of the late Mrs. R. G. Lee, when Mrs. Robert Fitz-Randolph and Mrs. George Hodge, active in I.O.D.E. work since its inular sittings of the City Council this week.

MONCTON

The agreement calls for the City of Moncton to purchase a block of property approximately 1.275 acres in extent and located, some three miles east of the city, and to transfer the title thereto, in fee simple to the Crown, in respect of the Dominion government, the site to be utilized for a public airport.

The city will purchase a further block of land approximately 30 acres in area if necessary and located at a point approved by the department approximately two and one-half miles west of the airport site and will transfer this also to the Crown, this property to be used for the establishment of a standard radio range station.

The city will also undertake to provide electric power while the department will develop the land purchased into an airport, erect hangars and build runways at no cost to the city of Moncton.

The contract calls for the expenditure of two hundred and ninety thousand dollars this year and a further expenditure of forty thousand dollars for the erection of rain stations.

Mayor McMonagle, in outlining the proposal to council members, stated that the estimated cost of purchasing the 1.275 acres, two square miles of land, located at Lakeburn, would be in the vicinity of $50,000, which would be the city's contribution to establishment of the airport, and added that only last week a bill had been passed by the provincial Legislature authorizing the City of Moncton to expropriate if necessary, land for the establishment of an airport.

"We do not want any chiseling in this matter. We are willing to pay a fair price, but this step was taken to protect the interests of the citizens of Moncton, if this tentative agreement is approved," remarked his worship.

$200,000 Annual Payroll

It was pointed out that the airport would be almost identical with that built in Toronto that it would require approximately three years to complete, and that when finished there would be upwards of 100 permanent employees with a payroll in excess of $200,000 a year.

Concerning the radio range station Mayor McMonagle stated that it was possible a part of the present municipal airport at Leger Corner might be utilized, or, if not, a part of the rifle range located also at Leger Corner and owned by the department of national defence might be the site.

The present municipal airport comprises some 60 acres of land, and if this were chosen as the site for the radio range station, there would be no further outlay on the part of the city other than the purchase of the land for the site of the airport proper. If the rifle range site were selected there would be no cost whatever, it was said.

Funeral Of Well Known Resident Of Fredericton

The funeral of the late Archibald C. Burden who passed away Saturday night at his home at 216 Saunders Street in this city, took place this afternoon. The deceased was born in Fredericton, son of the late Oliver and Augusta (Sanborn) Burden. For nearly fifty years he worked as a railway expressman and at his death was one of the oldest expressmen in Canada. Starting with the American Express Company in New Brunswick, he witnessed a half century of progress, during which time the original American Express Company became the McDonald Express Company, then the Dominion Express Company. Later this company was absorbed by the Canadian Pacific Express Company.

Mr. Burden was employed for twenty one years at Woodstock as an agent, but retired about eight years ago because of ill health, to act as an express messenger.

Surviving are his wife, two sons Harold C. Burden, Fredericton and Norval A. Burden of California; four daughters Miss Nellie Burden of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. Lawrence O'Hagen of Woodstock, N. B., Mrs. J. R. Plummer of Hartland, N. B., and Miss Jessie N. Burden, at home; three brothers W. Judson Burden, Weldon Burden and Harry Burden of this city; and one sister Mrs. David Stockford, Saint John. Several nephews and nieces also survive.

The funeral services were conducted at the home at 2.00 o'clock by Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross and Rev. P. J. Trafton. Interment was made at the Rural Extension Cemetery.

Chief mourners were: Harold C. Burden, Norval A. Burden, W. Judson Burden, Weldon Burden, Harry Burden, Lawrence O'Hagen, and William M. Clark. Mourners who also acted as pallbearers were Guy E. Burden, Wendell K. Hay, Allan Ryan, B. Nash Smith, nephews of the deceased.

making strenuous efforts to secure this Eastern air terminus," remarked Mayor McMonagle, "and I feel that if this proposal meets with the approval of the council and the citizens in general, we should lose no time in communicating with the department and informing them of our assent, for only yesterday an announcement of serious consequence was made here, in that, effective April 1, some 150 employees of the railway shop here are to be laid off. I have been given to understand by department officials that if the airport proposal goes through, approximately 150 men will be employed in the construction work of the airport for a period of three years.

The site of the proposed airport is located three miles east of the city at Lakeburn and near the junction of the Soudou highway. The property affected comprises some five properties with a total of 11 buildings on the land.

CITY CHURCHES
WELL ATTENDED
ON SUNDAYBrunswick St. Church
Broadcast Morning Service

The fourth Sunday of the Lenten season featured many interesting sermons in the various churches of this city with large numbers in attendance. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Rev. George E. Ross conducted morning and evening services. Rev. Dr. Ross continued his series of pre-Easter sermons, the theme of the morning being "The Raising of Lazarus." The evening subject was "The Fault of the Fig Tree." At Christchurch Cathedral morning services were conducted by Ven. Archdeacon S. C. Gray. Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moorhead officiated in the evening. The Archdeacon also conducted the sermons at the Parish Church.

At Wilnot United Church, the theme of Rev. Dr. J. W. Bartlett's sermon of the morning was "He opened my Eyes." In the evening Dr. Bartlett preached on the subject, "How God Uses the Devil."

Taking for his text in the broadcast morning sermon, the words "For man looketh on the outward appearance; but God looketh on the heart," Rev. C. Harry Atkinson of the Brunswick Street Baptist Church preached his morning sermon on "The Man that God Knows." By way of introduction he pointed out the difficulty of knowing the real man as we meet a man upon the street. Men are "Masks in a Pageant" and bravely or subtly cover up either the anguish or the evil of their lives. Our own personalities are a mystery to us. Passions, thoughts, desires, sweep through our conscious life and for the fleeting moment we seem to be one of a half dozen different persons. The reaction of other people to our lives adds further confusion to a true estimate of ourselves. We need some abiding source from which to view ourselves, some permanent standard in the light of which to order our living. Men view us and we view others through eyes of ill-will, prejudice and ignorance. We see and are seen through the eyes of public opinion. We need to fix our trust in God who sees us as we are and to correct constantly our thinking and willing in the true light of His moral grandeur. Here is a source from which to draw the strength for a life of victorious moral purpose which rises above the opinions of men and the faults of individual conscience.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Atkinson spoke on "The Shadow." He gave a vivid and interesting study in the mystery of human personality through which influences emanate to effect the lives and conduct of other people.

Sursum Corda

When Spring was late in coming,
And Winter loath to go—
I looked abroad at daybreak—
The fields were clad in snow.
But joyfully the sun rose,
And all the wintry sheen
Fled from the glowing noontide—
And lo, the fields were green.
When the world without is bitter,
And the heart within is chilled,
Think not that Hope can perish,
Or the seeds of life be killed.
Though your Spring be late in coming
And your Winter loath to go,
The sun is in the heaven,
And there's grass beneath the snow.
—R. MacOmish.

DURHAM BRIDGE

DURHAM BRIDGE March 23—The Women's Institute held a very successful supper and concert in the Orange Hall. Over $20 was realized and a very enjoyable evening was spent.
