WELL KNOWN RESIDENT CITY PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Annie C. Coulthard Dies At Home, Waterloo Row

Many friends will learn with regret of the passing of Mrs. Annie C. Coulthard, on Tuesday evening at her home, Waterloo Row.

Although she had been in ill-health for years past she was alive to world events and civic affairs, keeping in close touch with various developments and events in the city, in which she spent many happy and eventful years.

Since the death of her husband, Dr. G. E. Coulthard in 1900, Mrs. Coulthard has given a medal in his memory to the Fredericton High School and she followed with interest the careers of the winners.

At her old home on Carleton Street and later on Waterloo Row there was always a welcome and hospitality. She carried on a large correspondence and her interests in the welfare of her friends never failed even during her last illness.

She was born in Saint John, the daughter of James and Mary Hunter and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. F. T. Miles, Cranbrook, B. C., and three grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. H. G. Fenby and Mrs. E. B. Hunter of this city.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon from the late home, Waterloo Row, at 3:45. No flowers by request.

Burglars Here Again Employed

THREE BREAKS IN SUCCESSION HAVE POLICE PUZZLED

Even Aldermen Not Exempt From Work of Crooks

Burglars who have even made members of the city council their prey have the Fredericton police department puzzled. Following closely the report that the store of James H. Buritt was burglarized and about 4,500 cigarettes and some coppers stolen, it came to light today that the home of Alderman Dr. A. W. G. Good was broken into Saturday night and $13 stolen.

Today it was also learned that the Buritt Harness Shop, operated by Murray E. Hagerman, ex-alderman and former member of the administration of justice committee, was recently broken into on two occasions. The first time thieves got some coppers and small change, while the second time they did not get completely into the shop.

Alderman Good told The Daily Mail today that on returning home at about 1 a.m. Sunday morning with his family they discovered the door of his Queen Street residence open. A buffet and a bureau had been ransacked and a sum of $13 stolen.

The current wave of breaks is similar to one which flooded the city with burglaries about a year ago. The recent breaks were the first reported for some time.

Preaching in more than 100 languages, the officers of the Salvation Army operate hospitals, hostels for men and women, homes for the aged, children's hospitals, fresh air camps, prison and relief work, in addition to their regular social and salvation work, Commissioner Carpenter pointed out.

At the same time 11,531 women were admitted to women's homes and hospitals, 294 aged people were provided for and employment was found for 10,367.

OVER 900 YOUTHS GET TRAINING IN N.B. COURSES

Youth Training This Year Triples 1938 Program

Courses Closing

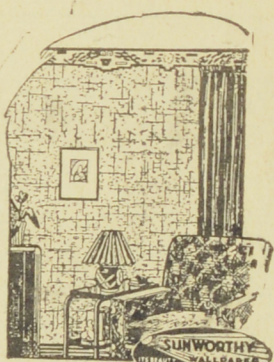

New Courses Will Not Begin Until Fall Of This Year

Through the youth training courses established in New Brunswick by the present administration, 900 young New Brunswick men have this year been given occupational training. It was learned from W. G. Tibert, director of vocational education for the province, in 35 courses conducted at various points in the province over three times as many young men received training that will fit them for gainful occupation in life that last year. The number in 1937-38 was around 300.

A great many young men have already taken advantage of their training it was learned today and are earning money which was not available to them a year ago. In view of the fact that the training was given to unemployed young men, it is stated that the courses will have a marked beneficial effect on the problem of unemployment.

The schedule of courses has been completed for the present season, although a number of courses are still running. No new courses will be started until October or November. Mr. Tibert stated today. Three courses will close the last of this month while others will close in May.

In the year 1938-39 courses have been held at the following centres: Grand Manan, 3, St. Stephen, 3, Saint John 2, Moncton 4, Chatham 1, Newcastle 1, Lemeque 1, Caraquet 1, Jacques River 1, Campbellton 4, Dalhousie 4, Edmundston 2, Plaster Rock 1, Woodstock 1, Fredericton 3, and Blackville 2, Black River Bridge 1.

FLOODS TAKE OUT BRIDGE, DAM AND MILL IN KENT

Cameron Mill Bridge, Dam Taken Out Along With Saw Mill

Other Bridges

Macniquac Bridge Off Foundation: Other Bridges

Rising flood waters and tons of rushing ice swept out a combined bridge and dam over the Kouchibouguac River and also took out the Cameron Mill, according to reports received at noon today by C. A. McVey, chief bridge engineer for the province.

The bridge and dam, which was an old structure, failed to stand up to the grinding pressure exerted by the rush of water. The bridge ran across the top of the dam.

Reports from other bridges in the province today showed that several have been damaged somewhat, but that no others have been taken out to the hour of press time. The Macniquac mouth bridge has been raised three feet off its foundation but lines have been attached so that it will settle back into position again when the flood has passed.

The floor structure of the McNally Ferry bridge has been damaged. The bridge is secured by straps, however, and it is expected that repairs needed to the bridge will be slight. The covered span of the Mouth of Keswick bridge has been moved to one side slightly. It was reported that the mill was taken over the McNally ferry bridge this morning despite the damage.

The Cameron Mill Bridge which was taken out, was about 120 feet long and was situated about 12 miles above St. Louis.
