Perennials Grow Best from TIBBETT WILL Seed Sown Early

Most perennials can be grown from seed without trouble or expense provided you grow them in a secluded spot where they will not be tramped on, or disturbed. A corner of the vegetable patch, or the unused cold frame are good places for them.

Early sowing is always best. the cool, moist spring days they germinate better, and an early start gives them a longer season to grow into sturdy plants for fall transplant-

Delphiniums and hollyhocks are the tallest perennials which no perennial border can well do without When it comes to those of medium neight ranging between three and four feet, there is a wide selection. These, however, form the mainstays for sheets of bloom at various times during the season. For the earliest display, starting in mid-May, as the tulips wax and wane, come the pyrethrums or painted daisies and the
