HARVARD TAKES STEPS TOWARDS SPORT UTOPIA

Eventual Financing of Athletic Program Will Be by Endowment—Football Pays Way.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 20—Travelling along an endowment course mapped by President James B. Conant, Harvard sports seemed headed today for an intercollegiate Utopia, where football gate receipts will be of minor importance.

Stressing the necessity of removing the danger of another drastic loss of football receipts which he said, "hangs over our head like a sword of Damocles," Dr. Conant outlined the policy to replace the entire Harvard athletic program on the same basis as all other university activities, which are largely supported by endowments.

Dr. Conant pointed out, however, that this plan would not be completed for many years.

He predicted that the near future would find Harvard equipped with a fund large enough to provide income for a quarter of its athletic budget, which amounts to $365,000 this year.

Outlines the Plan

"The president and fellows," he told members of the Student Council, "have agreed that they will endeavor to build up during the coming years an endowment fund for athletics, a capital fund, the income of which will eventually become the support of intercollegiate and intra-mural sports."

This year, due to a $20,000 reduction in the athletic budget, support will be withdrawn from the Harvard golf team, and during the next three years six or more minor sports, cross-country, lacrosse, soccer, boxing, wrestling and fencing will be crossed off the H. A. A. list.

Cost $125 Per Man

Dr. Conant said that those sports now cost about $20,000 a year and that such a comparatively small number take part in them that the average cost per participant is about $125.

"We wish to get away as soon as possible from the vicious connection between football gate receipts and the expenditures for the athletic program," he said.

"It seems essential that we should have an athletic policy which will aim at removing the danger which now hangs over our head like a sword of Damocles, the danger of another drastic loss of income from the football gate receipts which have, since the war, provided on the average of more than 80 per cent of our income for athletics.

"Even during the past fall the net receipts from football amounted to $292,000, as compared with our total budget of $365,000.

CHANGES FOR SPRING TRAINING ARE MOOTED

Mickey Cochrane Has a Good Plan for Spring Training in South—To Seek Support in Circuit.

FLORENCE, S. C., April 20—Mickey Cochrane is carrying on a one-man crusade for a change in big league training plans. He hopes to get recruits to his scheme before the season is done and cause a general reform next spring.

Cochrane's plan calls for a late start and eliminates the one-day stands on the way home. He would bring the big league clubs to Florida during the second week in March and send them home direct three days before the opening of the championship season. There would be no stopover on the way north.

Big leagues are slow to change. In no sport is tradition held in the same regard as in baseball. Precedent rules. Clubs have been coming south late in February and returning north by slow stages during the first two weeks of April. About the only reason why they continue doing this is because they have always done just that.

Economy As Argument

Cochrane has one argument that should get him converts and that is economy. By adopting his plan, big league clubs will save money and in the last three years all major league clubs have searched for ways and means to save money.

Outside of the New York Yankees, no club has made money barnstorming in the spring. The one-day stands have cost most of the clubs heavily. Railroad fares and hotel expenses were in excess of receipts.

But there is a stronger reason why the schedules are objectionable and that is condition. After spending a month in Florida at great cost, getting into shape, the clubs toss off many of these benefits in their jaunt north. Ever changing food and water are not helpful to condition. Rough railroad jumps, most of them at odd hours, do not help either. Bad weather holds up teams.

Two Postponements

Detroit has not played in the last two days. Rain prevented a game in Charlotte on Sunday and cold weather and wet grounds made a game impossible in Columbia before the journey north.

As Harris pointed out, the club would not have been idle either day had it remained in Florida. Florida has not lost a day in Lakeland in two years. Had he had his own way the club would have remained there until a few days before the opening game in Detroit.

To make the plan work it will be necessary for at least one-half the major league clubs to adopt it. They must remain in Florida together and play among themselves. They all will leave Cochrane is hopeful.

BRADDOCK, NOT MAX BAER, IS KEY MAN, THEY SAY

Garden Matchmaker Is Forced To Show Hand; Braddock Will Give the Champ a Stiff Battle.

NEW YORK, April 19—The heavy-weight situation remains complicated, but there are signs that James J. Johnston, his hand forced by Mike Jacobs, shortly will find a way out of the jam created by Max Schmeling's return to his old form and the surprising climax of the Garden's elimination tournament. As every one knows by this time, Johnston would like to toss Max Schmeling into the Garden Bowl with Max Baer in June, but, his short-cut to that match having been blocked by the Boxing Commission, he has been faced with the choice of taking Max Schmeling and Baer to Chicago or of bowing to the Commission's edict and matching Baer with James J. Braddock. The chances are that even he does not know as yet what he is going to do, but do not be surprised if he names Braddock as Baer's opponent. The circumstances that have grown up about him in the last couple of weeks may leave him no alternative.

Meanwhile, the most recent twist of the strange fates that govern the boxing business have made not the champion but Braddock the key man in the situation, and Joe Gould has assumed a complacent expression reminiscent of the cat that swallowed the canary. The Garden needs Braddock if it is not to bolt the State to circumvent the stand taken by the commission, and Mike Jacobs, sensible of the manner in which Jim's comeback has captured the imagination of the public, has tried to sign him to meet the winner of the Joe Louis-Primo Carnera fight, agreeing to release him if the Garden wants to put him in with Baer. But Gould, free to sign where he will, refuses to sign with any one. As he sees it, there is no hurry. He worked long enough to manoeuvre Braddock into the position he now occupies and no one is going to jog his elbow until he knows which way the Garden intends to move.

The Brown Bomber Shuffles On

With every one hereabouts going around in circles taking in riddles, Joe Louis shuffles relentlessly towards a position where by September, Baer, or whoever happens to be champion by that time, will have to consider him above all others. Not even Gene Tunney, who liked to think of himself as a man of destiny, had any better claim to that distinction than the Brown Bomber, who has been bearing in a straight line toward a title bout ever since he first stuck his wooly knob above the pack of second-rate fighters in the Middle West.

His victory over Joe Lazar in Chicago a week ago was not precisely a Homeric feat of itself. Other fighters with no championship pretensions at all have hammered decisions out of Lazar. Eye witnesses of that struggle, however, report that Joe gave off unmistakable signs of extraordinary ability, and most of them do not hesitate to pick him to make short work of Carnera. The shadow that was no bigger than a man's hand just a few short months ago, now looms ominous over the heavyweight division.

Says Ross Can Make Weight

CHICAGO, April 20—The selection of Lou Ambers as his next compulsory foe, and not the weight problem, was advanced today as the reason for Barney Ross' sudden abandonment of the lightweight championship of the world.

While Ross himself said it was because he could not gracefully meet the weight limit of 135 pounds, those close to the holder of the lightweight and junior welterweight crowns, said the main reason was the lack of money-pulling opponents in the lightweight ranks.

DEMPSEY IS KEEPING HIMSELF IN CONDITION

Old Manassa Mauler Is Reducing His Bulging Waistline—Says Louis, Braddock and Schmeling Have Chance To Beat Baer.

NEW YORK, April 20—On the theory that when all men reach the age of 75 they still should be kids both in spirit and flesh, Jack Dempsey went back into training this week.

"I'm just fortifying my body against the time when I'll be 75 so that I'll feel spry as a youngster," said Dempsey after a brisk 45 minute workout in a gymnasium.

Doing the "glad hand" act in his mid-town restaurant for more than 12 hours a day for a couple of months has softened up the former heavyweight boxing champion. When he was in fighting form his waistline was 33 inches. Now it has swelled to 38.

His personal appraisal of champion Max Baer and some of his contenders was:

"It looks like James J. Braddock will get a crack at the crown. It ought to be a good fight.

"Personally, I think Braddock, Joe Louis and Schmeling have a good chance of beating Baer."

ROYALS AND LEAFS WIN BALL GAMES

BALTIMORE, Maryland, April 19—In a game featured by 28 hits—to of them home runs—Montreal Royals defeated Baltimore today 7-6 to take a 2-1 lead in the series.

Both the hits and the homers were equally divided between the clubs. The Orioles came from behind three times to tie the score or take the lead but were unable to turn the trick in the final inning, although filling the bases with one out.

Toronto's Maple Leafs edged out a 3-2 win over the Chiefs at Syracuse to even their series at one-all here today, with Walter Hilcher holding Syracuse to five hits in six innings while Ed Coleman, who relieved him, didn't allow a blow.

Stolen bases played a big part in the Leafs' victory, since they were held to eight hits by Vandenberg, who went the route for the Chiefs. A double steal in the second, with Wes Schulmerich scoring from third, accounted for the first man. Hanley's steal of second in the fourth put him in position to score the deciding run on Miller's single. Jack Crough, who had walked, came in ahead of Hanley.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE RACE TO BE TOUGH ONE

Toronto To Have Strong Team in Pennant Race; Bob Shawkey's New-ark Bears Strong.

The International League race is expected to be a merry one. The Rochester Red Wings and the other clubs all seem to be cut to trim the Bears.

The Baltimore Birds, according to reports coming from that city will be strong. Manager Guy Sturdy has moulded together a team much older than the Bears, but is said to have great batting power.

Many changes will be made in the Toronto club before it is ready, according to Manager Ike Boone. Buffalo, Montreal and Albany all claim strong clubs.

The Syracuse Chiefs, now that they have a working agreement with the Boston Red Sox, expect plenty of help and will be in the race from barrier to wire.

Anyway, the race gets under way Tuesday with openings scheduled for Newark, Albany, Syracuse and Baltimore.

JOHNNY KELLY, ARLINGTON LAD, WINS MARATHON

BOSTON, April 19—Although he gorged himself with the equivalent of 15 hearty meals as he ran, Johnny Kelly, 27 year old Irish speedster from Arlington, Mass., finished a quartermile ahead of his most dangerous rival, Pat Dengis of Baltimore today to win the 38th renewal of the famous Boston A. A. marathon.

This tortuous 35 miles—385 yards grind over the steep hills that range from Little Hopkinton to Boston was never anything but a contest between the victor and the runner-up, despite the presence of six former winners and two score of famous podders in the starting field of 190.

Kelly's time was 2:32:07 2-5, just 65 4-5 seconds slower than the course record set by Leslie Payson of Pawtucket, R.I., in the 1933 race. Dengis was clocked in 2:34:11 1-5. Dick Wilding, the seasoned Canadian distance star, of the York Athletic Club, Mount Dennis, Ont., finished third in 2:30:50, the same position he gained two years ago. Gordon Norman, of Bevely, Mass., seventh in last year's race, placed fourth in 2:40:57 2-5 and the fifth across the line in front of the B. A. A.'s clubhouse was Hugo Kauppinen of the German-American A. C., New York, in 2:44:32 2-5.

Canadians Drop Behind

Outside of Wilding, the Canadian contingent had little luck. Dave Komenen, the Sudbury, Ont., mine carpenter who won last year, started drinking water early and had to quit at the halfway mark. Five of the Canadians, Vic Callard of the Toronto Monarch A. C., ninth; Frederick Briston of Mount Dennis, fourteenth; Jim Shaw of the Monarch Club, fif-

N. Y. COMMISH APPROVES FOUR BOXING DATES

NEW YORK, April 20—Dates for four outstanding fistie attractions were formally set today by the New York Boxing Commission.

The Commission designated May 10 as the date Lou Ambers and Tony Canzoneri will tangle at Madison Square Garden for the lightweight championship throne, abdicated by Barney Ross, who notified the Commission formally the other day he has relinquished the championship.

Ambers agreed that if he wins he will meet any challenger selected by the Commission within 90 days.

The Commission also set June 13 as the date for the clash between Max Baer, heavyweight titleholder, and Jim Braddock at the Gardens Long Island City bowl.

Ross, anxious to annex the welterweight title, will go against Jimmy McLarnin, present titleholder, at the Polo Grounds on May 20, the Commission decided; June 25 was set as the date of the Primo Carnera-Joe Louis heavyweight go and the Yankee Stadium was picked as the site.

The Commission also listed the following challengers for the lightweight title: Frankie Klick, San Francisco; Honey Melody, Boston; Emilio Esende and Simon Guerra, South America, and Clito Locatelli of Italy.

teenth; Fred Mowbray of Mount Dennis, twenty-fourth, and Grant Hackley of Toronto, thirty-third, finished in the prize-winning division.
