THE DEMPSEY MURDER

If the man arrested for the alleged murder in May last of Dempsey proves to be the guilty party, the old saying that the Mounties always get their man will apply. The Daily Mail has been insistent that something be done towards hunting down the alleged murderer in this case.

There has been too much of crimes being committed and people getting free, and this applies to Restigouche County more than to any other place. In the past half century alleged murders have taken place up there and no arrests have been made. They may or may not have the right man. But it should be seen that justice is done.

There have been cases in this province where guilty parties have been allowed to go unpunished.

We congratulate the Mounties in making a move in this matter.

THE FIRST HUNDRED YEARS

One of the current truisms that pass for wisdom among some people is the assertion that the hope for human betterment lies in applying the methods of physical science to social and economic problems. It is noteworthy that men of science are not so fond of saying that as are men who write about science.

But now comes Dr. Alexis Carrel, research scientist of the Rockefeller Institute, who thinks science can do something even to modify the species that invented science. Man undoubtedly has latent powers that have not been much used, Dr. Carrel thinks. For instance, he is satisfied that every human being has some capacity for telepathy, while some have weird powers of telepathy and clairvoyance, a fact which has been apparent since the days of Emanuel Swedenborg, but a fact which science has not followed up.

But even that is not of importance, according to Dr. Carrel. "It is just a part of the whole," he says. "What we need to do to improve man is to realize that we can modify the intellect as well as the organism. We can handle the intellect as we do inorganic matter. The institute I conceive would select the best material and, under strict conditioning and control, study each element, each factor—the nutritional, psychological, physiological factors all in one. There is no escaping the fact that man was definitely not created equal, as democracy, invented in the eighteenth century when there was no science to confute it, would have us believe. This fact cannot be suppressed, and is very sad."

But not sad enough to betray Dr. Carrel into any attempts at quick human makeovers or such attempts to create to order fascist supermen or proletarian termites as are in tragicomic progress in Russia, Germany and Italy. "It would, of course," says he, "take at least a century of discovering factors of development, and improving on them, before we would have any results."

HOME REMEDIES

Good old family remedies and grandma's simple medical practices usually haven't fared very well at the hands of physicians who turned a hand to educate the public in matters of health and hygiene. Accordingly, a good many oldtimers felt a little ashamed when they resorted to herb tea, foot baths and "a good sweat" to fight off winter ills.

To such will be welcome the announcement of no less an authority than Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, that some of the home remedies and nursing practices were not without merit. Dr. Fishbein has brought out a big book, "Modern Home Medical Adviser," in which along with his well-known popularizing of scientific medical methods, he puts an O.K. on "time-tried helps to comfort" when the common cold attacks.

So when the urge is on to cuddle up to a mustard plaster or to take a shot of baking soda in a glass of water, remember, one of the foremost medical authorities will not sneer at you.

Everything else being equal contracts should be given to our manufacturers who are trying to keep the wheels moving in our city and our province. This principle was endorsed by the Board of Trade last evening.

At the same time these local manufacturers and others who want those rights should on their part apply the same principle in regard to their own purchases.

"Why can coal from Sydney be landed in Campbellton at a cheaper freight rate than can coal from Minto?"

None of those who signed a petition to the Board of Trade against farmers coming daily to the city market appeared to back up their claims.

If you lose your rifle and belong to the militia you are liable to find it again.

And now back to the ordinary business of making a living. The air is getting cooler since Monday last.

And when all the excitement is over, give a kindly thought to the candidates who lost their $200 deposits. All the satisfaction they have is the knowledge that they added to the uncertainties of the day.

A man can think better on his feet, according to a Yale professor. No doubt of it. While walking back for gas the other day I thought of more names for myself in half an hour than I had thought of in the last two years.

"When a woman in an argument is silent for a long time, don't take it for granted she's becoming convinced, she's merely getting ready to spring another argument."—Concordia (Kansas) Blade Empire.

Don't fool yourself. When a woman in an argument is silent has been long time, the argument has been concluded—by her—and you have left the house.

year. This is an all-Canadian text, to produce which required nine years.

"A study was made of 200,000 running words of professional, business, social and children's letters, and more than 10,000 school compositions. The words are so graded as to meet the spelling requirements of children and adults, with due allowance for individual differences.

"The old idea of hearing a reading lesson and then having the children spell the words found in the lesson has been discarded. Reading and spelling are to be considered as distinct and separate subjects.

"The study-test method has been superseded by the test-study-test method and the daily assignment by the weekly assignment of twenty words, making the child's home work in spelling very much less than what was formerly required by many teachers.

"May I express the hope that no teacher present is continuing the old-fashioned practice, one which has little if any educational value, of giving children a list of words to take home, find a dictionary, write out and learn their meanings.

Health

"The first text on Health to be used in our schools was introduced in Grade V this year. This book, which is entitled, "Success and Health," replaced the old text in Physiology, which children found very difficult and uninteresting. Next year, Success and Health will be used in Grade VI, as well as in Grade V, and "Healthy Citizenship," another text in the series will be used in Grades VII and VIII.

Physical Training

"It is to be hoped that the 1933 edition of the Strathcona Syllabus of Physical Training, which was introduced last year, is now in general use. In the old text, individual exercises were stressed, whereas in the present text co-operation and group exercises and games are emphasized."

CANOE THEFT CASE

Joe Polchis of the St. Mary's Indian reserve appeared before Magistrate Whitman Haines in the Devon police court this morning, charged with the theft of a canoe owned by Raymond Currie of this city, who laid the information. Polchis was given suspended sentence. Polchis claimed that he had picked up the canoe when it was adrift and had no intention of theft.

YOUNGEST M. P.—
ELECT IS YOUNG COLLEGE MAN

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—Sarto Fournier, Liberal member-elect for Maisonneuve-Rosemount Division, resides with his parents at 4565 Adam street, and has just commenced his third year studies as a law student at McGill University. He is 27 years old and was born at East Broughton, Beauce County. He was educated at Levis College, where he took his commerce, and St. Mary College on Bleury street, where he studied classics for eight years and then went to McGill to study law. Two years ago he studied social economy and political science at the Montreal University during the evenings. Always interested in politics, when he was a college student he used to speak at the meetings under an assumed name, it being against the rules of the college that the students should participate in political meetings. Mr. Fournier speaks Italian as well as French and English, and has paid his way through college and university so far by taking employment in the summer whenever he could get it. For five years he was a waiter at the Mount Royal Hotel in vacation time, one year he was watchman at Maisonneuve Park for the City of Montreal, and another he worked on the relief commission for the City. This is the first time he has been a political candidate, and when he was nominated, the excitement was so great, that he fainted.

Arrest Is Made
In the Restigouche
Alleged Murder

Horried, they hurried back to the settlement, saying they had "found a corpse lying face downward in a clearing." They first reported their discovery to two neighbors, Irvine Doyle and James Kelly, who in turn informed R.C.M.P. Constable E. A. Aube, Jacques River. R.C.M.P. from Campbellton and J. Allan LeBlanc, of Campbellton, clerk of the peace for Restigouche county, hurried to the scene, as did Dr. R. L. Ellis, Jacques River, coroner. After viewing the body the coroner had photographs of it taken and then had it removed to the undertaking parlors here for an inquest, at which an open verdict was returned.

As far as could be determined then the victim had left his father's home on Saturday, May 18, at 4 p.m. to go to the home of his brother Joseph, in Mitchell Settlement. He spent the night there and on the following day went to the home of Frank Guitart, also in Mitchell Settlement. He left Guitart's house at 4 p.m. Sunday and was not seen again alive.

The victim was released from the county jail only a few days before his death, being one of the prisoners in New Brunswick jails freed in connection with the King's Silver Jubilee celebration. He had been given a two-months sentence by Magistrate Andrew at Campbellton for taking part in a store break at Jacques River.

reason we know about the 1,000 who deserted and the 500 who arrived—the other 500 being mowed down by Italian machine guns—is that they passed near a telephone station and reported.

"On the plains outside Addis Ababa hundreds of tents are pitched. Right now . . . there are 35,000 men there and most of them have rifles. . . . Tomorrow 50,000 more brown warriors will pace through the streets. They are the men of Kamgata Province.

"This afternoon the minister of war of Ethiopia put on his full European uniform. Soon he will be headed for the front with 50,000 men. There are hundreds of thousands more just like them ready at the front and hundreds of thousands more coming along the trails. . . .

"The warriors yell their hate at us whenever they pass us in the streets. Personally, I don't blame them. . . . The war song of Ethiopia, translated, means 'Break it up and feed it to the birds.' That's the closest I can come to the words.

"It doesn't sound like much when I sing it, but when you hear 35,000 men pouring out their voices in that howl of hate, it makes you think that perhaps the Italians aren't going to have the pushover they expected."

TYPHOID AIDS ETHIOPIANS

HARAR, Oct. 17.—Italy has been forced by the threat of a typhoid fever epidemic to shift 10,000 of its troops from Italian Somaliland to Eritrea, it was reported here last night. The Ethiopian strategists are counting on the disease as one of their most valuable allies in their plans for defence of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti Railway from an offensive originating in the southeast.

2 Women in House
and 2 in Senate

OTTAWA, Ontario, October 17.—Canada's 18th Parliament, elected Monday, will include two women for the first time in history. Voting resulted in the re-election of Agnes MacPhail (U. F. O.-Labor) the Dominion's first woman parliamentarian and victory for Mrs. George Black (Ind.-Con.) in the Yukon. Thirteen others were defeated. The election brought the representation of women in the Commons even with the Senate because the pre-election appointment of Hon. Iva C. Follis of Peterborough meant Hon. Cairine Wilson would have another member of her sex in the Red Chamber.

TO WATCH CANAL

LONDON, England, Oct. 17.—Britain's Mediterranean Fleet will remain near the Suez Canal until further notice. Orders for a fleet concentration at Navarino (Pylos), Greece, were officially cancelled yesterday.

VERY MUCH IMPROVED

Considerable improvement was noted today in the condition of Rev. Harry Burns, Galetown pastor, who has been critically ill in recent weeks. Rev. Mr. Burns' complete recovery is now looked for.
