

CANADIANS ARE HONORED ON KINGS BIRTHDAY LIST

C. G. D. Roberts Received Knighthood — Mrs. H. W. Woods of Fredericton Is On Honor List

LONDON, June 3.—Knighthoods for nine Canadians, a promotion for one who had been knighted previously, and 97 other awards made on the recommendation of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett Canadian prime minister, appeared in the King's Birthday honors list made public here today. The Canadian section was the largest since titles were restored in the Dominion on New Year's Day, 1934.

Honors conferred upon Canadians will reach into homes throughout the Dominion, from the cities to the isolated outposts, and in Tokyo, Australia, England, Washington and New York. People in every walk of life, from the humblest to the greatest share in the distributions.

It was known that His Majesty on this occasion wished to honor particularly those who had made notable contributions to the arts, science, literature, and music, and those who had performed long and faithful service both for the community and the state.

In making his recommendations on this, the fourth occasion titles have been awarded Canadians since restoration of the custom New Year's Day, 1934, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett adhered closely to the expressed desires of the King.

Of the newly-created knighthoods, three went to those who have contributed richly to the literature of the Dominion, one to an outstanding painter, one to a leading Canadian scientist, one to a musician, and one in recognition of generous public service.

SERVICES AT CHURCHES HERE ON SUNDAY

The usual services were held at the various churches in the city and vicinity on Sunday with large congregations attending because of the beautiful summer weather.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Rev. G. E. Ross the regular pastor, spoke at all services. In the morning his subject was: "Youth and the Diamond Jubilee." In the evening he spoke on the theme: "The Unfailing Saviour." Announcement was made during the services that during the month of June the Sunday school will meet regularly at the close of the morning service.

Rev. G. W. Guion conducted all services at the Brunswick Street Baptist church on Sunday. In the morning the theme was "The Preaching of Jesus," and in the evening the subject was "Things Held in Remembrance." The monthly communion service was held at the conclusion of the evening service.

At St. Paul's United Church Rev. George Telford conducted the services. The morning service was in the nature of a special Children's Day service, with an interesting program carried out. The topic in the evening was: "The Christ Who Sang," and was a special service of praise. Congregations were large at both services.

At Wilmet United church Rev. Dr. F. A. Wightman spoke at both morning and evening services, in place of Rev. J. W. Bartlett, the regular pastor who is ill at the present time. The morning theme was "Southlands," and the evening topic "Conquest and Triumphs."

At the Devon Baptist church the morning subject was "The Lost Christ" and in the evening "Staking Our Claims." David L. Kennedy, D.Th., was the speaker.

At St. Dunstan's church on Sunday morning Rev. Dr. J. H. Milligan spoke on the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides' Jamboree. Dr. Milligan said it was a pleasing sight to see nearly 3,000 Scouts lined up in Saint John. He paid a fine tribute to Lord and Lady Baden Powell and said that it must be a great satisfaction to Lord and Lady Baden-Powell to witness throughout Canada and the world the results of the great movement which he had started. Continuing, he spoke of the advantages of Boy Scout and Girl Guide organizations to the youth of the country.

Speaking of the Girl Guides Dr. Milligan said that he was proud of the appearance and smartness in action of the Fredericton troops—St. Dunstan's and St. Anne's. He said that he and Ven. Archdeacon A. F. Bate who accompanied the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides to St. John, were both very much encouraged at the nice showing made by our contingent of Scouts and Guides.

"Do your best for Canada and for your brother Scouts in the rest of the world," he urged. "All stick together as brother Scouts and we will make universal peace." In conclusion he declared "Remember you are a great international team of fellows whose object is to carry out the Scout laws to the best of your ability."

He then read them a message from the Prince of Wales addressed to Canadian Scouts in which His Highness expressed himself as pleased with the progress of Scouting.

"Try and carry your ideals and friendships to other countries and be loyal to the Empire and good luck to all of you," he ended.

The Chief Scout's message was taken to heart for at the big billet at the Exhibition buildings the Scouts, Rovers and Cubs were walking about yesterday with crossed Union Jacks and Stars and Stripes in their hats while the kilted troop had exchanged uniforms with the Bangor Sea Scouts.

A cheering fringe of youth, their hats waving wildly in the air, gave their beloved chiefs a rousing send-off as they left the Barrack Green after the jamboree. The car bearing Lord

Horace Hanson

Horace Hanson, a nephew of R. B. Hanson, minister of trade and commerce, one of the the younger Conservatives spoke next. There is no indication that York County is going to go Liberal. "York County is going Conservative more than ever before at the next election". Mr. Hanson found many things in the present government to commend. It had represented and represented well, the people of this province. The Liberal platform is a patchwork of many colors". The speaker called it a crazy-quilt platform. A campaign of misrepresentation, Mr. Hanson called it.

Mr. Hanson concluded with congratulations to the York County candidates. "These men should inspire you and cause you to give them your votes", concluded the speaker.

Ernest VanDine

The next speaker was Ernest VanDine, one of York County's youngest Conservatives. Mr. VanDine is a brilliant and agile speaker. He urged "fight" in the coming campaign as well as confidence. He complimented Ralph Gibbs on his energy in bringing twenty three converts down to the meeting. It was young men like this who are energetic in gaining popularity for the party. Mr. VanDine praised the tourist business and mentioned the present government's methods in explaining things clearly to the people. He noted this especially in dissemination of the knowledge of hydro. The Liberal party's platform was a "rickety" one, drawn up in a hurry and with no definite foresight. Mr. VanDine urged the support of the young people of the country and the province. He was glad to be working for Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, premier of the province.

E. C. Atkinson

E. C. Atkinson spoke next. He referred of the "famous Atkinson stumpage" deal which the Opposition so liked to refer to.

How is Mr. Dysart going to revitalize the basic industries of this province asked Mr. Atkinson. He saw no way that Mr. Dysart could do this. He said Mr. Dysart was "insincere" and made many rash statements, regarding promises to the people. The Opposition would put on direct taxation and add to the provincial burden.

The people of the province are under trying circumstances today.

AN INDICTMENT AGAINST TROTTING SPORT IN THE UNITED STATES

The Game Lacks Showmanship, Publicity and Discipline, New York Authority Says—Some Specific Lacks Revealed

NEW YORK, June 4—As the owner of the colt that won the Hambletonian Stake of 1934, E. L. Mefford was called upon at a recent gathering of Ohio track managers to give his opinion of existing conditions in harness racing. "The sport lacks showmanship, publicity and discipline," he said. "If you used the same lax methods in your own business you would all go broke." Nobody rose to dispute this candid criticism. Probably nobody could.

Among people of fastidious tastes harness racing has always been more or less handicapped by the careless appearance of many of the drivers, by the half-clad caretakers that swarm on the quarter stretch at the finish of a heat and, above all, by disfiguring hobbies, sheekskin shadow rolls, elbow and other boots, gaiting-poles and head-sticks, not to mention the lesser contraptions with which so many trainers cover up the natural grace and beauty of their horses. A showman would eliminate such unattractive things from the picture at almost any cost, but the average track manager sees little and does little beyond soliciting entries and selling the betting and other concessions to the highest bidders. The horse owners and the bettors supply the bulk of the money paid out in purses, and the spectators are, as at a shooting tournament, a minor consideration.

Almost the only secretary I ever knew who worked efficiently and industriously early and late, to make his trotting meetings attractive and to attract the crowds as well as the horses, was Rensselaer Weston, a retired stock broker of New York, with an inborn love of the trotting horse. He had E. H. Harriman's wealth behind him, and he handled with such good effect to promote harness racing at the half-mile track in Goshen that the annual circuit meetings there became the most successful of their kind in the country.

Cases Are Cited

William H. Cane's successful efforts in exploiting the annual race for the Hambletonian Stake afford an outstanding example of showmanship which Mr. Mefford talked about. No other fixed event in harness racing history has uniformly drawn such crowds as are brought together on Hambletonian Day at Goshen's mile track, with a great name and the dollar mark as the magnets. The Ohio horseman's allusion to lax discipline in harness racing may perhaps be ascribed to the interferences encountered by his Hambletonian winner, Lord Jim, 2:00 1/4, last season, in the Kentucky Futurity. Lots of horsemen thought it cost him the victory on that occasion, but on the other hand a strict enforcement of the rules might have deprived him of first money in the $25,000 race at Goshen, his driver having apparently "dropped" the third heat to Muscletone, 2:02, that second money might be assured to another colt in the same stable.

Both of these unfortunate incidents can be attributed to the rule which permits two or more horses from the same training stable to start in the same race. Experience has shown that more or less helping and hindering are bound to occur under these conditions, and few judges seem to have the backbone to punish it.

W. F. Caton, the man who "made" Protector, 1:59 1/4; The Marchioness, 1:59 1/4, and Vitamine, 2:00 1/2, each the fastest three-year-old trotter of its day, has a futurity prospect that will bear watching in the bay two-year-old filly. Ann Bradford's Polly, bred by the late Fred F. Field of Brockton, Mass, and now owned by his son of the same name. This little daughter of Hollywood Harkaway and Anna Bradfords Worthy, 2:11 1/4, by Guy Axworthy, was timed recently in 2:20 over the half-mile track at Harrington, Del., with the last half in 1:07 and the last quarter at a 2:06 clip. Her first engagement is at the Goshen meeting beginning June 15, and she is booked for a return engagement in the $2,500 Good Time Stake at the Grand Circuit meeting there in August. Caton's Hambletonian entry this year is the bay filly Chica, 2:09, by Peter Volo, 2:02, owned by Martin B. Dodd, of Norfolk, Conn., who last year owned Vitamine. She has done nothing significant as yet this spring, but she will have an airing in the race for three-year-olds this month at Goshen.
