MILK PRICES

A provincial exchange has the same idea as The Daily Mail in regard to controlled prices.

The late government in this province made a law last session regarding the control of milk prices. These prices do not benefit the farmer to any extent but at the same time the consumers are paying altogether too much for their milk. Scores of children who should have plenty of milk are as a result being deprived of the same. A few dealers are profiting at the expense of the public. If farmers get three cents a quart for milk, the dealers here get ten cents. The spread is too great. These price control boards should be looked into for abolished or hanged or something.

A PRISON FARM

Last year The Daily Mail in discussing jail conditions strongly advocated a prison farm, either for York county or a general provincial farm to which minor offenders doing short terms might be sent. In this farm they would not only be able in a way to pay for their board, but would have exercise and useful employment, and the time would not pass so slowly as it must do under present conditions.

It should be an easy matter for the York County Council to secure a farm cheaply. One suggestion might be that the present County Municipal Home at Nashwaaksis be converted into a prison farm and the pauper inmates of the Home be transferred to another place with less land. There are many suitable places not far away, and centrally located, which might be purchased at a moderate figure.

The present jail is out of date. It looks nice on the outside but you cannot judge a book by the cover. The jail was built a long number of years ago when, as one clergyman said yesterday, "the idea was punishment rather than reform." It has outlived its usefulness. Old fashioned people may think that the building is all right but it is not. There must be a change, in the interests of humanity, even though the matter is taken up with the highest authority in the land. A human public will not longer stand for present conditions.

It would be an easy matter to get rid of the present structure. Arrangements might be made to have the same purchased for use as a museum and a public library and a place where the several social societies and organizations of the city might have a centre.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

The Old Age Pensions office will be located on King Street in this city, thus carrying out Premier Dymally's policy of having all the government offices located in this city in so far as possible. In the vicinity of half a hundred officials, including inspectors will be employed. There is yet much spade work to be done before the ground will be ready, so that pensions will be distributed. Early next spring the envelopes should be passed around to the aged. Another Dymally promise is being carried out.

A N. B. BOY

The Windsor Star has it that Hon. Philippe Roy is about to retire as Canadian minister to France and his successor will be Mr. Justice Turgeon of Saskatchewan. This would be of interest to New Brunswick, of which Judge Turgeon is a native. There is no doubt that Mr. Roy will retire soon as he has already expressed his desire to do so. Judge Turgeon is a son of Hon. Senator Turgeon, Bathurst.

Judge Turgeon was for a time Attorney General of Saskatchewan and later on the Supreme Court Bench in that province. His brother was recently elected to the Federal House from British Columbia.

Who puts the street lights out too early in the mornings?

Sell the Jail for a museum, library and social society centre for Fredericton and take the York Municipal Home for a prison farm. Move the County Home somewhere else. How is that for a line-up.

The public demands a change in jail conditions.

A curfew law seems to be needed for parents who go to the second show and turn the children out on the streets.

A result of publicity in The Daily Mail the House of Iniquity has divided against itself. Some of the inmates have gone to a more secluded spot. It is understood that the booze supply department is still located at the base of supply.

See Rome now, before the alterations. If Mussolini comes out of this war on top, all the balconies will have to be rebuilt, higher and wider, to accommodate him.

"New periscope lets doctors explore inside of body"—headline. One by one, the last citadels of privacy fall.

Leave it to old Quebec to extend to a new Governor-General the warm welcome to Canada he should have, and which Lord Tweedsmuir seemed to appreciate.

When the sanctions are clamped on in all their rigor, it looks as if Italy and Ethiopia would have to borrow from one another to keep a war alive.

Evangelistic Services A Real Success

Rev. John E. Brown, ex-Policeman and Missionary of New York City, assisted by Mrs. Sadie McAlpine Brown, well known Canadian Gospel singer, has been conducting special services at the Kingsley appointment of Gibson Memorial Church, South Devon.

REV. JOHN E. BROWN

Increasingly these services have been inspirational, filling the building to capacity. The subject for this evening will be "A Hold-Up". Next week these services are being continued at the Nashwaaksis appointment, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the theme being "20th Century Love", and on Monday evening "When You Pray for Rain, Carry an Umbrella."

Along the shores, where mosses creep
Toward the edge, where waters sweep,
And by the banks where barges glide
By peasant hands on sluggish tide;
Near many a quiet village inn,
And in the reach of city's din,
They lie, in silent, peaceful rest,
Our boys, earth's bravest and her best.

On lonely waste where unkempt mound
Scarce ever knows a move or sound
Save when the wind awakes a sigh,
Or song bird sings his song on high;
Where rifles with their helmets stood
To mark the place for cross of wood;
Neath mangled earth, and where 'tis fair,
There lie our comrades over there.

If silent all, or feet should tread,
What matter to those noble dead?
A toll well done, itself the end
For them, what need have they of friend

Or things as poor as fame or show,
Or anything earth might bestow,
Save that to know the fight begun
Was carried till the cause was won?

Oh, what meant all men's praise or blame?

The land is honored with their fame,
For in the rush of war's grim flood
They paid the price—the price of blood.

We see not all, our eyes are dim,
But lo, beyond time's western rim,
Where ages all their meaning hold,
Their names are writ with purest gold.

OUR MAIL BAG

THE COOKING CONTEST

Editor Daily Mail,
City,
Dear Sir:

Your contest is rather confusing in that there are so many kinds of exhibits together. How can the judges pick out three winners each week. I would suggest there be a certain class of goods each week, say, bread one week, chocolate cake another, and so on. This gives every one a chance. I am one of the many and have tried three weeks. I buy your Mail from a store or on the street. Do you have to be a subscriber before gaining anything?

CONTESTANT.

November 8th, 1935.

Dear Contestant:

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Daily Mail to win a prize in our cooking contest. Our reason for not classifying the exhibits as suggested in the above letter was to give every lady in the community a chance to win. For instance, many women are good pastry cooks but poor bread makers. The latter would be shut out, so to speak, in any such contest. As each exhibit comes in, the names are taken off and replaced by numbers so that the judges do not know who the exhibitors are. After judging is completed the twelve numbers are handed into the Editor of the Woman's Page of The Daily Mail who then announces the names to the judges. Exhibits are selected as outstanding in flavor, texture and general appearance. We congratulate you on your good cooking, dear contestant, your exhibit was excellent. Do try again, and ask your friends to enter. Incidentally, I might add that by being a subscriber you would have the advantage of being certain of not missing any of the winning recipes that are being published daily in our paper.

CONTEST EDITOR.

Urges College Courses For Prison Heads

Coupled with Mrs. La Du's own recommendation to expand prison industries in the rehabilitation of convicts was a statement today from her associates here pointing to a "permanent impression" from her work in Minnesota.

Ever since Minnesota's Legislature 14 years ago made room for a woman on the State Board of Control, Mrs. La Du has held the post and exerted, associates said, a "feminine influence" of acknowledged value.

The State Board of Control, which she headed many times credited her with introducing occupational therapy, dietetics on a broad scale hygienic improvements, and greater facilities to handicapped children in state institutions.

Besides, the board characterized Mrs. La Du, widowed mother of two children since 1921, as a "homemaker." A son, Joe, works and a daughter, one, is at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., "coed."

Remembrance Day Hymn

Hear now, O Lord, as we our tribute pay

To those we loved, and who have passed that way,
The way of sacrifice and death,
That others yet to be,
Might never know war's blighting breath,
And live their lives for Thee.

Eternal God, our faith sustain,
That their great sacrifice be not in vain.
That their great sacrifice be not in vain."

Failure

To bake a cake was her intent,
So to the store for flavoring sent.
The grocer sent some very cheap—
The bottle large—the label neat;
But when the cake was neatly cooked
Her husband sampled it, and shook
His head and said, "The flavor's bad,
Much better EXTRACT can be had."

Success

She took a tip, and asked her friends
What brand they used to please their men.
She found out that they all agreed—
They used one brand for every need.
"What brand is that?" she quickly cried.
"IMPERIAL PURE," they all replied.
And now friend husband recommends
Her cakes and cookies to his friends.
