Quarter-Finals In N. B. Tourney

"Sid" Bartlett of this City and Garnet Raper Advance in Mens Singles — Toronto Pair Impressive in Doubles' Play — G. Johnston and Dot Rowan Advance in Mixed Doubles

"Sidney Bartlett of Fredericton and Garnet Raper of Grand Bay advanced to the quarter finals in the men's singles play of the New Brunswick Tennis Tournament which completed its third day here last evening. Bartlett defeated George McAvity, 6-3, 4-6, and 6-2, in a hard-driving match, while Raper had no trouble in ousting R. W. Ganong, of St. Stephen, 6-2, and 6-1.

In the ladies' singles Miss Isabel Matheson, of Edmundston, defending champion, also advanced to the quarter-finals by virtue of a victory over Miss J. O'Henley, 6-4, 7-9, and 6-4.

TORONTO PAIR WIN

In the men's doubles the Toronto pair of Ross Wilson and Allen Eaton defeated D. E. Keating and D. Robinson, 6-3, and 6-3. The playing of Wilson was an outstanding feature of the day's play.

Hauck and P. Webber defeated J. McKenna and W. Vinton, while R. Carter and V. Knight drubbed K. Bayley and G. Smith, scores being 6-0, and 6-1.

George Johnston and Miss Dot Rowan, last year's provincial champions defeated Miss Audrey Webb and Glen Love, 6-1, and 6-4 in the second round. The champions although not extended were scarcely up to the form that carried them through to the title last season.

Miss Muriel Crockett defeated Miss B. Burns, 4-6, 6-3, and 6-1 in the second round play of the Junior Ladies' Singles. Play was competitive.

Schmeling May Never Leave Home

NEW YORK, July 31—You could get even money along the place de la cauliflower today that Max Schmeling, despite all his dickering by cable, never will leave Germany to make another fight in the United States and that neither Madison Square Garden nor the Twentieth Century Sporting Club would have the former champion for September billing.

Until Joe Jacobs, his American manager, returned from Berlin on the S. S. Washington yesterday, the general feeling was that Schmeling would desert the beautiful Anny Ondra and his Black Forest estate and come to this country to engage either Max Bear for the Garden or Joe Louis for the Twentieth Century. But when Joe, a bit low in spirits, returned empty-handed, so to speak, with nothing more substantial than a promise from Max that he would condescend to consider American offers, a very serious doubt as to his willingness to desert Germany, set in.

CECIL PEAKE WINNER GOLF TROPHY AT HUB

MONCTON, July 31 — Mr. Cecil Peake was the winner of the Gyro Club golf championship and the Montgomery Trophy at the annual club tournament played at Lakeside Links over the week-end. About twenty-five members and guests competed in the play. The results were as follows: First division, Cecil Peake; Second division, Wally McAdam. Mr. Peake and Mr. McAdam played off in the finals and the former triumphed.

Following the serving of luncheon in the clubhouse by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton at the conclusion of play, a special executive meeting was held to complete arrangements for the Sixth District Convention of Gyro Clubs which will be held in Moncton on August 5, 6, and 7. Delegates will be in attendance from the clubs in the New England states and the Maritime Provinces. It is expected that the convention will be attended by about 200 Gyros. President B. E. Lockhart presided at the meeting. Music during the luncheon was furnished by Mr. George Belliveau.

Minto took first place in the York-Sunbury County baseball league, beating Devon in a sudden death game on the former's diamond last evening, 6 to 1. Minto protested the game, claiming that Wiley and Burgess were not eligible to play for Devon.

DOMINION IS COMPLIMENTED SKATE CONGRESS

MONTREAL, July 31—At the 19th Congress of the International Skating Union which was held at Stockholm, Ulrich Salchow of Sweden, retained the presidency, while G. W. A. Van Laer of Holland replaced H. J. Clarke of Great Britain, in the vice-presidency of the Union, according to official advice received by Champlain Provencher, hon.-sec. of the Canadian Union.

Proposals and enquiries put forward by Great Britain did not have the support of the majority of the members of the Union, and the result of the Congress may be considered to be satisfactory for those foreign associations who fail to appreciate Great Britain's understanding of amateur sport. The protest against six prominent European skaters for breaches of the amateur regulations of the I.S.U. while in America, was held to be out of order, according to the rules of the union. But the new council has been directed to call upon the National Skating Association of Great Britain to submit full proofs before August 15, 1935. Whatever is the outcome of the protest, closer attention will be paid by all countries to the enforcement of the amateur regulations for skating.

Canadian and United States skaters who shall be invited to take part in the British championships in the near future, will be able to skate in European events provided any time prior to the event they join some European club.

An important addition to the regulations of the I.S.U. which prohibits the anticipation by amateur skaters in exhibitions arranged by proprietary clubs and rinks was passed. And in the future the Council of the I.S.U. may announce the rinks on which the training of skaters is not permitted.

CHICAGO, July 31—Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic Committee, said today he knew of no racial or religious reasons why the United States should not be represented in the Olympic Games at Berlin in 1936.

NEW SCHOOL OF MANAGERS EXEMPLIFIED IN DYKES, COCHRANE

Omit Mackian Sauvity but Deal Frankly, Quietly with Players Works Better.

DETROIT, July 31—Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Dykes learned their base ball at the knees of Mr. Connie Mack, but they learned their theory of managership somewhere else. Maybe it came to them in dreams. Anyway, these two gentlemen are as unlike Mr. Mack as they could possibly be in their method or directing, guiding, inspiring, and advertising a ball club.

Mr. Mack is a cautious cove. Mr. Dykes and Mr. Cochrane are a couple of outspoken red-hots with never a care for the feelings of the enemy. Mr. Mack is an intellectual manager of the old scorecard, or dugout, or school, (also known as the school of inside stuff). Mr. Dykes and Mr. Cochrane are hustling, barking, meddlesome young men with hair trigger tempers and bruised shins. Mr. Mack is quiet and dignified. Mr. Dykes and Mr. Cochrane are anything but.

The other day, Mr. Dykes, dissatisfied with the way his team was performing against Mr. Mack's team, proceeded to steal home off Mr. Mack's young southpaw, Vernon Wilshire. It was not a dignified thing to do. It was a breach of managerial etiquette. Mr. Mack shook his head sadly when he saw it.

"C'est magnifique," mused Mr. Mack, "mais ce n'est pas la base ball."

A couple of months ago, Mr. Mickey Cochrane, on duty behind the plate, became annoyed by a coarse vulgar stream of running patter from a former colleague of his, Mule Haas. Mr. Haas was scoffing at Mr. Cochrane from the bench. Mr. Cochrane finally forgot his dignity and gave answer.

"You may not know it," he yelled, "but you have just talked yourself out of a job with me."

This, too, was a violation of the old Mackian code, which calls for poise, grace and majesty in the most embarrassing situations. If Mr. Mack heard of it, he must have wondered where his old pupils picked up their rough-house conversation and gashouse manners. That sort of thing is all right for ball players, but for managers—well, a little old world polish is practically requisite.

If you want to split hairs, you might justify Mr. Cochrane and Mr. Dykes by pointing out that their clubs are in second and third places, respectively, while Mr. Mack, with a club just as good in most respects, is anguishing in sixth place. You might also say that the conversation of Dykes and Cochrane, while extremely crude, is a great relief to the writers who have to quote them for publication.

Shrink From Frankness

Most managers are born fence walkers. They wince at the very sound of a bald statement. Mr. Joe McCarthy, despite his base ball talent, is an example of this group. Mr. Mack is not far behind him. Rogers Hornsby, the one and only product of the Hornsby school with his gospel of say-what-you-think is the Bolshevik leader of the opposite group.

Somewhat other, Dykes and Cochrane have fallen under the Hornsby influence. It's hard to understand, but the boys have no tact nor polish whatsoever. Thus, Mr. Cochrane predicts that his club will coast home with the pennant.

"There's nothing to it," he told your correspondent in rough, un-Mackian fashion. "We'll win in a gallop. We've got too much power for the rest of these clubs and we've got too much fight."

Then Mr. Dykes recently assured me that his unorthodox team would continue to rock and stagger the league.

"Ever since the first of May," said

TO MATCH JAPS AT BASEBALL

MONTREAL, July 31—The first of the two games to be played between the touring Japanese nine from Hawaii, under the former International Leaguer Buck Lai, and Sorel, leader of the Provincial International League, takes place tomorrow night at the Royals Stadium and the second game at Sorel tomorrow night. Cummings is the likely pitcher for the Sorel nine in tonight's game.

An exhibition between Sorel and the House of David nine, featuring Elmer Dean, brother of Paul and Dizzy Dean, has also been arranged and will be played at Sorel on August 11.

GOLF PROWESS

MONCTON, July 31—Mr. George Belliveau, Lewisville, who on June 30th made a hole in one while approaching the third on Lakeside Links during a golf match, has received a handsomely embossed certificate of golf prowess, qualifying him for enrollment in the Canada Dry Hole in One Club. The certificate also bears a gold seal and is signed by Mr. D. M. Corker, secretary of the Hole-in-One Club.

Mr. Dykes, "they've been saying that we'll collapse and go back to the second division where we belong. Don't let 'em kid you. Our club is just as good as the records show. And furthermore," added Mr. Dykes rambunctiously, "this league is a soft touch and we've got a chance to win the pennant ourselves. Don't forget it."

Speak Their Minds

From certain points of view it is better to have managers who speak their minds, however caudally, than managers who don't speak their minds.

It gives you an idea of what's what in the national pastime. But you can't blame Mr. Connie Mack, the Metternich of base ball, for regretting the social treachery of his two pupils. They were brought up in an atmosphere of dignity and good breeding. They were surrounded with refinement and culture. And look what happened to them when they went out in the great world and mingled with the tough guys like Hornsby. It's discouraging, that's what is.
