Saar Plebiscite Tomorrow May Mean Territory To Germany

League of Nations Appeal To Populace To Remain Calm During Voting on Sunday.

(Special to The Daily Mail)
GENEVA, Jan. 12—(B.U.P.)—The League of Nations Council today addressed an appeal to the Saar populace.

It was indicated that the council would decide next week on the disposition of the Saar and observers predicted that a majority in the plebiscite for Germany would result in the allotment of the entire territory to Germany.

The council voted to extend the life of its special Saar committee, whose chairman is Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy—so that the committee could arrange details of the Saar's disposition after the council decided on its fate.

WEEK OF PRAYER ENDS

The Week of Prayer was concluded in the Devon churches this week and was observed in conjunction with the universal Week of Prayer. Those who contributed by special messages in Devon churches during the week were Rev. Dr. Wightman, Rev. J. W. Bartlett, Rev. Mr. Horwood, Rev. A. V. Morash, Rev. William A. Burge, Rev. D. L. Kennedy, Mr. Rebman. The various messages centered around the theme "Man's Need for God" and the Gospel of Jesus Christ as a power capable of reaching man's need and raising him to a place of peaceful and respectful influence. The prayers were for quickening of the Christian zeal to bring the unchurched under the influence of the gospel. Each service was well attended and all were able to give expressions of the happy blessings received at the meetings.

Perfect Bridge Hand in Clubs

"Grand Slam in clubs", said the dealer, Walter Belyea, 100 Main Street as he sorted his cards in a hand of bridge. That seemed to clinch the situation. No one else would bid a grand slam and Mr. Belyea was allowed to make his bid. He did.

He had 13 clubs.
The game was being played at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scammel, Case, Kennedy Place, Saint John last night. The four players were Mr. and Mrs. Case, Miss Helen Harold and Mr. Belyea.

LAISSEZ FAIRE

Laissez faire is a French expression denoting literally let alone; let people do as they please; leave well enough alone. It is used especially in economics of a policy of non-interference by the government with competitive business methods, non-regulation of conditions of labor, manufacturing, transportation, or the like. In his electoral campaign over the air, the Right Honourable R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada, makes frequent use of the expression in reference to the economic situation in Canada. He uses the expression in comparison with his tentative programme of reforms which he proposes to bring about should he be returned to power at the coming election.

The Right Honourable R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada in his radio talks on the air uses the expression "laissez faire" quite frequently, and with the desired effect. It shows the clarity of the French language as a means of expressing certain shades of thought where other languages fail. We read that when German science students fail to understand subjects in their own language they turn to that of the French people and readily get what they want.

Many who have been listening to Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett speaking on the radio these nights did not know whether "Laissez faire" so often mentioned by Mr. Bennett was a girl's name or not. In one place the Prime Minister said that "Laissez faire" had thrived under the Liberals. Contrary to the delusion under which some listeners were laboring, "Laissez faire" is not a girl's name.

TIRED DODGING POLICE, FORGER GIVES SELF UP

Canadian Surrenders To Los Angeles Officials

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 12—Edward Buckle, 34, gave himself up here yesterday, declaring that he had been living by cashing forged Canadian Pacific Express money orders.

"This game of tag is getting tiresome," Police Capt. Jack Trainor quoted him as saying.

Buckle said he had lived lavishly in San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles since last November on the money from some sixty money orders he stole while employed by the Rolph, Clark & Stone Lithographing Company of Toronto, Capt. Trainor said.

The Canadian walked into a fashionable hotel here, told the credit manager he had narrowly escaped arrest in the last several weeks because of the cheques and asked that the police be called. The credit manager obliged.

TORONTO, Jan. 12—Edward Buckle alias E. Perrin, who gave himself up to authorities in Los Angeles yesterday, is wanted here on charges of uttering forged express money orders. Toronto police last night said that after leaving here last November in a drive-yourself-car he had cashed them in various cities he visited in the United States and Canada. His extradition, they said, has been sanctioned by the Department of the Attorney General of Ontario.

FAIR-SIZED MARKET

Saturday's market at Phoenix Square today proved a fairly large one and though the weather was very cold there were a good many who arrived from the nearby country districts to take advantage of the closed market. The harder ones remained outside evidently with more of an eye to business than the frigid temperature. The prices were as follows: Butter 25 cents per pound; Chicken, 23 to 25 cents per pound; eggs, 35 to 40 cents per dozen; Beef 7 to 9 cents per pound; Pork, 10 to 13 cents per pound; potatoes, 80 cents per barrel; wood, $4 to $8 per load.

"BREACH" CASE AWARD IS UPHELD ON APPEAL

Plaintiff Now Fighting Deportation Order

Toronto, Jan. 12—The Ontario Court of Appeal yesterday found Charles Mitchell, Tisdale Township farmer, liable for payment of $2,000 damages to Katie Jackovitch of Schumacher, Ont., for breach of promise and a half-interest in property at Schumacher.

In the original action the woman brought against Mitchell Mr. Justice A. C. Kingstone delivered judgment in favor of Katie Jackovitch by default. Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton declined to set aside the default and Mitchell carried the case to the Court of Appeals.

The Appeal Court expedited its finding because Katie Jackovitch and her child are confronted with an order of the Department of Immigration and Colonization that they be deported to Yugoslavia. She is appealing against the order.

SCOUT ENTERTAINMENT

At the annual meeting of the Fredericton District Boy Scout Association this week a splendid program was carried out which included a knotting and first-aid display by the Devon Scout troop; lantern slides of the New Brunswick Scout and Cub camp shown by Commissioner Robert Pugh; camp fire by St. Anne's Cubs. Among other things the report of the toy shop showed that 386 families, comprising 1,400 children were supplied with toys during Christmas. Besides the officers as announced in yesterday's issue of the Daily Mail the following executive was named: His Grace the Archbishop of Fredericton, Very Rev. Dean J. H. A. Holmes, Ven. Archdeacon A. F. Bate, Rev. C. Leroy Moores, Rev. Father Daley, Rev. J. W. Bartlett, Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross, Mrs. A. E. Mathewson, Mrs. Leo F. Cain, Miss Martha O'Neill, Miss K. Stewart, Ald. Warren Maxwell, F. H. ## PRIEST TRAVELS 8,000 MILES IN FIELD OF DUTY

Dean McLaughlin Has Established Record for Missionary Service.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 12—With the closing of last year, Very Rev. Dean C. J. McLaughlin, Debec, has an unique record for missionary services, having spent twenty-seven years as a missionary priest in the diocese of Saint John. Only one other priest has surpassed this record, Rt. Rev. Msgr. O'Flaherty of the bishop's palace at Saint John, who spent thirty-five years in the missions.

Dean McLaughlin, in the discharge of his missionary duties during the year, which has just closed, has covered some 8,000 miles. Such a story reads like a page from the records of some far-flung northern missionary outpost and yet it is the account of the everyday life of a missionary in one of the mid-western New Brunswick parishes.

Entering on his duties as a parish priest some years ago in a section of a parish which was then scarcely known, by the founding of St. Francis of Assisi shrine at Skiff Lake he has made it become the shrine of Brother Andrew of Montreal, one of the most widely known and befriended parishes in America. Diagnosing present-day ills as due to the over-development of the material at the expense of the spiritual, he would restore equilibrium by a full return to the practice of the spiritual, the Gospel in action as exemplified in the life of the world's great reformer of seven centuries ago, St. Francis of Assisi.

His idea caught the imagination, and the thousands who have flocked annually to the Skiff Lake shrine have shown that he rightly sensed the world needs of the time.

Covers Same Territory

Dean McLaughlin today covers the same territory served by the early missionaries, Franciscans and Jesuits of 300 years ago, who had their headquarters at the old Meductic fort. It is a co-incidence that Rev. Father Loyard spent 25 years as a missionary, while Dean McLaughlin, 300 years later, has served 27 years in the same parish.

On the day after the ordination of late Bishop Casey in the Cathedral at Saint John, Dean McLaughlin entered on missionary work, and yet during all these active years in addition to his missionary duties he has been editor, author, lecturer and founder of a shrine. A fluent speaker, prolific writer and wide reader, he is a much-sought after platform speaker and has been heard in the principal towns and cities of the Maritimes from St. Croix to Sydney.

While still in the prime of life, he has rounded out a record of which any clergyman might well be proud, and his hosts of friends of all classes and creeds will join in congratulating him on a record which is as unique as it is outstanding.

CHURCH PROPERTY TAX DISCUSSED IN PROVINCE QUEBEC

City Seeks New Revenues To Balance Budget

Quebec, Jan. 12—The City of Quebec is searching hither and yon for sources of revenue to help balance the city's budget.

The charter amendments committee, now preparing the Quebec City Bill for presentation to the Legislature at its present session have been considering various suggestions, among them the levying of a tax on non-residents working in the city.

It is also stated that the question of taxing radios and telephone apparatus was mooted, but that this was found to be illogical. The latest report has it the city fathers may ask Parliament to be permitted to tax the property of religious communities and Dominion and Provincial Governmental property in the city. Religious buildings and buildings of both governments in Quebec City have an estimated value of $70,000,000 and it is pointed out that a tax of one-half per cent on these would bring to the municipal treasury an annual revenue of $350,000.

Six Radio Talks Cost R. B. $11,000 From Own Pocket

Ottawa, Jan. 12—That time-worn expression, "Talk is cheap", does not stand when the talker chooses the whole of Canada for his audience by means of radio broadcasts. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's series of six half-hour addresses, which will be concluded next Tuesday night, will cost him about $10,000, it was learned today. In addition he spent about $1,000 advertising the talks in the newspapers. Mr. Bennett personally bore the expense of his broadcasts.

Premier Bennett Defines Issue of the Campaign and Compares His Plans With the Liberal Attitude.

Ottawa, Jan. 12—Declaring that there was "no place for Fascism in Canada," and branding the Liberal party as lacking any policy except one of opposition, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett launched out on the political phase of his series of radio broadcasts tonight. Throughout the depression, he said, the Liberal party had "sat silently by and counted on hard times to defeat a government which has given its heart's blood in your service."

The prime minister, told his listeners his policy of reform "will force, inevitably, a political realignment because this policy of reform comprises the great issue before the people. And never since Confederation has that issue been raised in this way. Do you want reform or do you not want reform? If you do not want it, back the Liberal party. If you do want it back my party."

In opposition a party had little opportunity to implement its policies but it was its duty to "either support the government in its constructive measures or propose constructive measures of its own." The Liberal policy had been "to oppose the government in its forward, constructive measures."

Mr. Bennett referred particularly to the Liberal opposition to the legislation affecting the Ottawa conference agreements, and the Marketing Act, and wondered if it would continue, or if the Liberal leader would find they had been good measures and decide to support the policy of reform.

Committed to Stand

"As a matter of fact" Mr. Bennett said, "I do not expect the leader of the opposition will change his mind. I say this frankly and in fairness to him. He is a believer in the doctrine of laissez faire—to do nothing. He is condemned for all time to stand on the sidelines and cheer when his country prospers, and weep and hide his face when it falls into adversity."

Raising the possibility that the Liberal party might be willing to let capitalism run it, Mr. Bennett suggested this might be the reason for its "mysterious silence." He warned the people to be careful in their judgment. "For when capitalism controlled the modern state," he declared "the result was Fascism. And there is no place for Fascism in Canada."

Mr. Bennett defined Liberalism as "Toryism in the reactionary sense of the term, just as the present day Conservatism is progressive in the best and most constructive sense of the term."

The Issue

"What is the likelihood that, if this (Liberal) party has the chance again, it will do anything to help you out of the depression? Will it say to capitalism, the system is faulty? Will it say, the system must be reformed, because the people are the victims of the inequalities and the injustices and the hardships which its defective operation perpetuates and increases? Fellow citizens, that is the question and the only question before you. You are entitled to an answer....."

Some reform measures had been inaugurated. Others they would comprise a scheme more comprehensive and far-reaching than any reform move Canada had ever known. "It will mean a new relationship between government and business," he said. "The government will have a new function to perform in the economic system."

The government, under his plan, would be "a permanent guide and regulator with the right and power of correction" with the duty of maintaining in the industrial and capitalist system a more equitable distribution of its benefits.
