

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

On Tuesday evening the Four Square Group of Canadian Girls in Training of St. Paul's United Church were hostesses at dinner in the Fraser Memorial Hall, when covers were laid for eighteen, the guests being the members of the Leaders' Council. The blue and white colors of the C. G. I. T. were carried out in the candles, place-cards and favors, while crystal bowls of genista were also used as table decorations, and cyclists were arranged about the room. The hostesses were, Louise Craig, Mary Jackson, Jean Kerr, Patty Morrison and Becky Watson. Following the dinner the leaders held their regular monthly meeting, the members from St. Andrew's Church being in charge of the worship service. Items of business were transacted, and then the leaders liked to "Beechmount," where Mrs. Nathan Squires proved a delightful hostess, giving a most instructive talk on birds and serving refreshments.

Doctor and Mrs. Philip Cox and Mrs. Adam Cameron were entertained at luncheon yesterday by His Honour the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Murray MacLaren at Acadia Grove.

Mrs. Murray Kierstead again entertained charmingly at bridge last night. Cards were played at five tables, with Mrs. Gordon Boyd, Mrs. G. Wilford Kitchen and Mrs. B. W. Fieger winning the prizes. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Fred I. Haviland, Mrs. Jack A. Lawlor, Mrs. Archie Williams and Mrs. W. A. Gibson.

The Ministering Circle of the King's

Daughters met yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. P. Crockett. The president, Mrs. C. C. Jones, was in the chair and led the devotional period. Many tributes were paid to the memory of the late Mrs. G. A. Taylor. The hospital committee reported the donating of flowers and the treasurer's report showed the giving of $5.00 to a needy family in Geary. Donations of knitting by Mrs. Amelia Moore were much appreciated. Ardent discussion on the deplorable conditions at the County Jail provoked a resolution that, whereas the men had failed in their responsibility and duty in this respect, the women will have to take hold of the situation.

Mrs. W. J. Osborne was hostess at a dinner bridge last night at her home in honor of Mrs. W. Albert Mott, of Campbellton. The table was most artistic, adorned in keeping with the season with shamrocks and green tapers in silver candelabra. The favors also were green shamrocks. The prize was won by Mrs. Alfred Wallace, of Vancouver. Those present were, Mrs. W. C. Crockett and her guest, Mrs. Mott, Mrs. W. J. Osborne, Mrs. Alfred Wallace, Mrs. H. F. McLeod, Mrs. B. C. Foster, Mrs. H. H. Gunter and Miss Miriam Colter.

In honor of the birthday of Mrs. Hill, wife of Brigadier-General F. W. Hill, a number of intimate friends called at her home last evening and presented her with flowers, accompanied by best wishes. Following the presentation and congratulations, bridge was enjoyed.

Miss Ruth Monteith, of Aroostook Junction is the guest of Rev. Mr. W. Steadman Smith and Mrs. Smith, of Marysville.

Mrs. S. J. Hallet spent Monday in Moncton, where she met Mrs. William MacLagan, of Blackville, who returned with Mrs. Hallet to Devon.

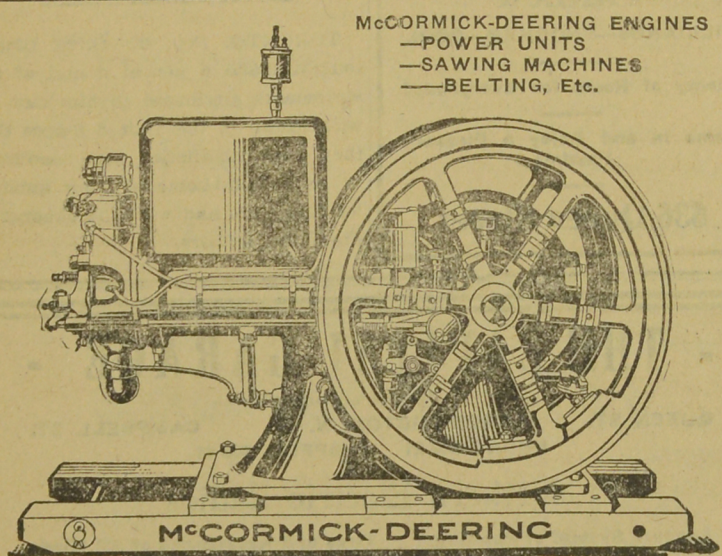

The Marysville branch of the Temperance Alliance met recently in the Reformed Baptist church, with Mrs. J. B. McInnis presiding. The committee on illegal sale of liquor in Marysville brought a report provoking considerable discussion and resulting in action being taken by the meeting. The new officers for the coming year are: President, William Moore; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harry Christie.

World Wide Guild of the United Baptist church, Marysville, met last evening at the home of Miss Nan Manzer, with Miss Verna Akerly in the chair. Routine business included a plan for a banquet supper and making of another quilt. A lesson story on tragedy, rescue and salvation was given by Mrs. W. Steadman Smith. Dainty refreshments were served.

FOUR MEN TO BE COMMITTED FOR ASSAULT

DALHOUSIE, February 28—Four men charged with assaulting and injuring J. T. Owens, Montreal evangelist, here on February 8, were committed for trial before Judge J. L. Ryan at the March sitting of the Restigouche County Court. The accused are Howard Morrow, Herman Morin, Leo Pitrie and Robert C. Carter. Eight others, charged with creating a disturbance, during the alleged assault, are to have preliminary hearings before Magistrate William MacNeill on March 4.

Witnesses called were R. C. M. P. Constable J. B. Springer, Chief of Police Alexis LeBlanc, Dr. W. W. Fleck, who first attended Mr. Owens, Benoit Nadeau, Dr. J. J. MacPherson, Leo Caron, Gerald Walsh and Gus Carter.

Dr. Fleck was followed on the stand by Benoit Nadeau, Dalhousie who gave the most extensive evidence of any of the witnesses. Mr. Nadeau was on the scene when the trouble occurred and he said he saw Howard Morrow and Herman Morin taking part in the alleged assault. Before he was cross-examined, counsel for the Crown requested that he be dismissed temporarily in order that Dr. J. J. MacPherson, Campbell, be called.

Dr. MacPherson gave an account of Mr. Owens' present condition, stating that it was not serious, but that the man complained of occasional headaches. Following his evidence, Mr. Nadeau was recalled.

The accused were represented by J. Ludger Bernard, Dalhousie. J. Allen LeBlanc, Campbellton, clerk of the peace, appeared for the prosecution, and G. W. McDonald, Campbellton, represented the Pentecostals.

REPORTED MISSING FROM HUB HOUSE SINCE SUNDAY

Search Begun at Moncton For Edward Casey, 58.

MONCTON, Feb. 28—Edward Casey 56, has been missing from his home on Duke Street here since Sunday afternoon last, city police were told tonight. Working on meagre details, they learned that he was last seen Sunday afternoon going toward the wharf track and the fear was expressed that he might have fallen into the Petitcodiac River.

When Casey did not return home today, the matter was reported to the police, as he was not in the habit of being absent for any lengthy period. As far as could be learned tonight, Casey has no relatives here.

ARCHBISHOP'S WIDOW LIVED IN A SOD HOUSE

Mrs. Isaac Stringer Was a Stenographer in New York—Had Interesting Life.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 28—Writing of Mrs. Isaac Stringer, widow of Archbishop Stringer, Lillian Gibbons says in The Tribune:

"As a young girl she was a stenographer in New York City; as a bride she went to Herschel Island to live in a sod house; as a grandmother, she walked over the Rocky Mountains. In between times she has slept on the Arctic Ocean—in a deer skin robe and a blanket, with seven feet of the ocean's ice beneath her—dined at Lambeth palace with the King and the Queen, stayed at York in the regime of three different archbishops.

"In that first sod house, on an island where no white woman had lived before, were pretty things that spelled home—pictures, a melodeon, or folding organ, a sewing machine, and an eight-day clock, given as a wedding present, which has ticked its way through the Arctic and back into Rupert's Land for 40 years.

"The camera had recorded scenes unique in history—the first white woman's home, the first white children born on the rim of Arctic ocean. Yes, they did their own photographic developing, too; they learned to do most things for themselves, this courageous family. Operations were performed by the young missionary with his little store of medical knowledge, mostly theoretical, helped by his wife, who had taken a nurse's training course at Grace's Hospital, Toronto, after she had become engaged to Isaac O. Stringer, whom she married in March, 1896. Eskimos were taught, in the schoolroom that was a curtained-off partition from their own living-room and Mrs. Stringer who had also taken a little deaconess instruction in Toronto in readiness for these scenes, took the meetings and taught the Eskimo children simple hymns.

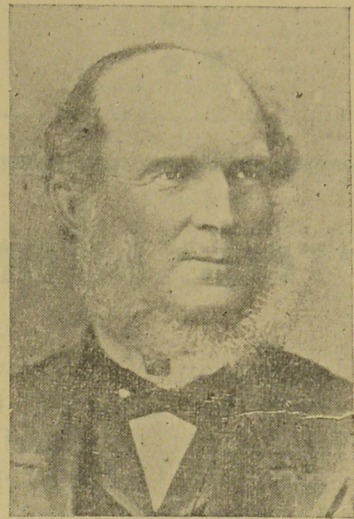

"In reply to a question about the story of the bishop eating his boots, Mrs. Stringer said the soles of the footwear were whaleskin, the uppers sealskin, both untanned and producing, when boiled a taste somewhat like bacon rind. Tanned leather shoes or ordinary moccasins would produce no sustenance whatever."

LATE TERENCE A. HUGHES

The funeral of the late Terence Alan Hughes, 15 year-old son of Sergeant William J. Hughes, of the city police force, and Mrs. Hughes took place this morning from the late home in Devon with High Mass of Requiem at St. Anthony's Church, Devon, conducted by Rev. Father Donahoe. Many attended as the young man was popular with everybody and his death has been sincerely regretted. Many school chums attended the service beside sorrowful parents. Interment was made at the Hermitage.

HAZARD, Kentucky, Feb. 28—Three men with pistols seized a mail pouch believed to contain $15,000 from Government truck near Tribbey yesterday. They escaped in a small car.

Old Times Recalled

HON. L. A. WILMOT

First Attorney General after Responsible Government, Supreme Court Judge, First Native Governor of the Province.

The name of Wilmot is an old and honored one in New Brunswick. Before the Loyalists came here it was honored in New England back in Pilgrim Days.

Lemuel Allan Wilmot studied law and entered public life by being elected to the Legislature for York. He took a leading part in the struggle for responsible government and may be called one of the fathers of that movement. He should have a monument in Parliament Square but no government has so far seen fit to give him one. He was the first Attorney General after Responsible Government. He was also on the Supreme Court Bench, having been appointed to that position in 1851. In 1868 he retired from the bench to become Lieutenant Governor—the first after Confederation. Although his father had been a Baptist and one of the founders of the Brunswick Street Baptist Church in this city, L. A. Wilmot was an ardent Methodist. Wilmot Church is named in memory of his ardent work and support to its cause.

It is related that L. A. Wilmot's father, William M. Wilmot was a teacher and lay preacher in the Baptist year to prevent the "wanton and unlawful slaughter of deer and other game," was urged.

Church. He was elected to the House of Assembly but as there was a law against descending clergymen holding seats in that body the assembly voted against him being allowed to take his seat. York County elected him again and again he was refused his seat standing by the clerk's desk. Mr. Wilmot said to the Speaker of the House pointing to his (Wilmot's) little five year old boy by his side: Sir, the time will come when this little boy, Allan, will on the floors of this Legislature vindicate my memory by helping to make it possible for all classes in the community to be represented in this House. His shows that this prophecy was fulfilled. The little boy, Allan Wilmot is the subject.

When Hon. L. A. Wilmot was appointed Lieutenant Governor a hearty tribute was paid to him by stating that he was one of the most eloquent speakers in America. The brilliance and fever of his eloquence could not then be surpassed. He was probably the most eloquent speaker ever to occupy a seat on the floor of the Legislature.

It is to be hoped that when times improve that a monument to Wilmot and Fisher will be placed in Parliament Square—perhaps in place of that German junk, which might be removed to a more appropriate place, say in the Armory or to the Legion Grounds.

We should honor our men like Wilmot, Fisher, Tilley and others who led the movements for Responsible Government, and for Confederation. Although the Confederation did not produce results right here, it was the best move for the country. But these men are the heroes. If there were more about these men in the school books and less about the Generals, who ordered men to shoot each others' heads off it would be better.
