NEW BRUNSWICK MAY SOON TRY TO RE-POPULATE ITS THOUSAND VACANT FARMS

The Montreal Standard publishes the following regarding our vacant farms:—

New Brunswick may soon embark upon a new scheme to re-populate its thousands of vacant farms and put an end to unemployment, if proposals laid before the Provincial Legislature are adopted.

The scheme, as outlined by Ewart C. Atkinson, chief Government whip, would be two-fold.

First, it would be a real back-to-the-land movement for New Brunswick people—the transplanting "of our own people from the cities to the farms, aiding them to become self-supporting. There was enough land, both public and private, he pointed out, adjacent to good roads already constructed to settle 100,000 families on the soil.

Secondly, Mr. Atkinson would bring from Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and other favored nations, people who had had farming experience and were willing to come to this country and establish themselves.

So far as British settlement was concerned, Mr. Atkinson declared that a tri-partite agreement should be made by New Brunswick, Canada and Great Britain on the basis of one third contribution each. There should be from $15,000,000.00 to $20,000,000.00 spent over the next five years by the Governments jointly in this colonization and unemployment proposition. If such a plan were energetically followed, he maintained, unemployment would be non-existent in five years.

The Government Whip foresaw New Brunswick as "The Denmark of Canada". The old plan of settling its purpose, he maintained, and now indiscriminate settlement should stop and a well defined plan be carried out. Under it the unemployment should be given employment in the clearing of land and construction of buildings. When it was considered that New Brunswick, with the exception of a very few products did not grow enough for the consumption of its own people, it should proceed to do so. The only factor lacking was men to work the lands.

"Today", declared the Sunbury County member, "we are importers instead of creators of wealth. If we produced for export, there is the port of Saint John open all year around. Instead here we sit waiting for some fairy godmother to come to our assistance, meanwhile arguing about deficits, gross debts, net debts, bickering over party politics, instead of devoting the time to real problems".

Vacant Farms Increase

Startling figures were handed. The Standard by F. M. Sclanders, commissioner of the Saint John Board of Trade, showing a four-fold increase in the number of vacant farms in New Brunswick from 1921 to 1931. The figures were compiled for the Local Board of Trade by Dr. R. H. Coates, Dominion statistician.

The total number of vacant farms in the province in 1921 was shown as 410 and 10 years later the total had mounted to 1,625.

Commissioner Sclanders saw this as a serious situation as agricultural buying power has depreciated, while at the same time New Brunswick is spending more money outside the province for the increased quantity of farm products it has been necessary to import.

"Deprive a province of its agricultural buying power", declared Commissioner Sclanders, "and communities must look elsewhere for farm products, local merchandising falls off and the communities as a whole suffer loss of business. Importation becomes necessary and another industrious farm country prospers."

"Until we have lifted agriculture from its present tragic position—a condition in which it has labored so long—I cannot discern any real hope of much brighter and happier conditions in New Brunswick. The seven to ten million dollars which we are paying for agricultural goods purchased from other provinces actually represents a loss in the purchasing power of our rural communities which normally should be available for expenditure with the business concerns of our cities and towns".

Legislature Prorogues After 7 Weeks' Session

retary of the Boston Advertising Club stated that no banquet had been held by that organization during the Sportsmen's Show. A telegram forwarded to D. Leo Dolan brought the reply that he could not come as he had other engagements. The chairman's reason for applying the closure to the Committee was that the House would prorogue today and there would be no time for a further investigation.

Mr. Anderson said that while the chairman of the Committee was very impartial much of the time he (Anderson) was not satisfied with the manner in which he had carried on. Members of the Committee were not allowed to question one of the witnesses, and the Attorney-General when asked to appear had merely sent a statement. Mr. Griffiths, Director of the Information Bureau, was before the Committee, but the chairman refused to allow him to answer certain questions. Mr. Griffiths was to appear a second time with certain information, but did not come.

Mr. Anderson, in conclusion, proposed that in view of the fact that liquor supplied contrary to law by the Liquor Control Board, had been shipped to the United States in January 1934 against the laws of that country, that a royal commission be appointed to conduct an investigation.

The House divided on the motion to adopt the report as follows:

YEAS: Hon. Messrs. Cockburn, Leeger, Tilley, Harrison, Stewart, Smith Taylor; Messrs. White, Fairweather, Atkinson, Brooks, Guptill, Siddall, Coffyn, Perry, Jewett, Dougan, Melville, Taylor, Evans, Moore, McAllister—22.

NAYS: Richard (Gloucester), Dy-sart, Doucet, Anderson, Richard (Kent), Savoie, Gill, Pirie, Tweedie, Colpitts, Downey—11.

Hon. Mr. Reilly and Messrs. Groom and Niles announced that they were paired and did not vote.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor entered the Chamber at 11:55 P. M., and after assenting to sixty-five bills was pleased to prorogue the Session with the following speech:

In bringing this Session to a close, I wish to thank you for the earnest attention which you have given to the general business of the Session, as well as to the many important matters which were submitted to you.

In addition to the Acts of a private character which have been passed, you have been asked to consider important legislation and measures for the prosperity and good government of the Province. Included in these are amendments to the following Acts: "The Schools Act"; "The Election Act"; "The Provincial Hospital Act"; "The Rates and Taxes Act"; and "The Public Utilities Act".

The mercantile world will be pleased to have this Province in line with other Provinces in the adoption of "An Act for the Prevention of Frauds in Connection with the Sale of Securities"; "An Act to Amend the Bills of Sales Act"; "An Act to Consolidate the Life Insurance Act"; "An Act to Provide for the Licensing and Taxing of the Sale of Gasoline"; and "An Act to Amend the Succession Duty Act".

The producer-suppliers of the Dairy products will find better protection than heretofore in the provisions of the new "Dairy Products Act".

The Amendments to "The New Brunswick Marketing Act", and "The New Brunswick Forest Operation Commission", will give greater benefits to the farmers and to those working in the woods.

I am pleased to direct your attention to the amendments to: "The Game Act"; "The Motor Vehicle Act", and "The Forest Fires Act".

Important Acts affecting the social welfare of the people of the Province have also been passed. I am pleased to note in particular an Act "Respecting Women's Institute", and an Act "To Provide for the Establishment of Housing Commissions in Municipalities in the Province".

Since the Session opened, the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Financial Arrangements between the Dominion and the Maritime Provinces have been submitted to the Dominion Parliament. I am glad to note that there is an increasing spirit of co-operation between the Maritime Province with reference to many matters of interest to themselves.

With the knowledge that much useful legislation has been presented for my concurrence, and that ample provisions have been made for the continuance of the public services, in relieving you from further attendance upon your legislative duties, I desire, not only to express my appreciation for diligent attention to the public services, but to extend to you all, my earnest wishes for your individual prosperity and happiness. I wish also, to all our people, success in their efforts toward moral, intellectual and material progress, and trust that the blessing of God may be bestowed upon them.

George F. Bidlake, Esq., Clerk of the House, then announced that by His Honour's command the Legislature would stand prorogued until Thursday, May 16th next.

BISHOP PREFERS SNOWS OF ALASKA

Rt. Rev. Peter Trimble Rowe, D.D., Episcopal Bishop of Alaska, likes reviving in conversation the old Klondyke days when "Soapy Smith", Tex Rickard, Jack London and he engaged in real old four-square arguments.

Bishop Rowe is nearly 80, but looks 20 years younger. He was born at Meadowvale, Ontario. As a young man he brought religion to Algoma's scattered white and Indian population, then went west and climbed the deadly Chilcot Pass—"So steep, as he puts it, "that it fairly leaned backward".

On the way to the Klondyke when the first northern river held up the party, the bishop got out his axe. He whipsawed a dozen logs into rough timbers, spiked them together and with help from the others, built a raft. Later on he opened a complete case of carpenter's tools and built a string of cabins, many of which still stand.

Early in the northern evangelical work, Bishop Rowe became intimate with Amundsen and Stefansson. Like the two explorers he knows the value of a dog team; but unlike them, he can boast of never having lost a single husky during the thousands of miles he has trekked along the edge of the Arctic.

Bishop Rowe is an old-timer with new ideas, being one of the first churchmen to adopt aeroplanes in visiting his diocese. Once, while flying, he lost his bearings and flew as low as possible until he spotted a band of Eskimos whom he signalled for directions. The natives replied with arrows in the snow, and to the bishop's astonishment, they spelled the name of the place he wanted to find. They were former pupils of a mission he had conducted some time earlier.

In 1930 Bishop Rowe visited London, England, as the senior member of a delegation of 60 bishops representing the American Episcopal church. In the same year he visited his birthplace at Meadowvale, among other things, "to see the mill pond where I went swimming and skating as a boy". Before and since that trip he has been offered a change of diocese but his words are always the same, "I will stick by Alaska".

Imagine Tom Curtin's surprise when he turned the dial of his radio and heard a drama which he wrote last July. It was a program featuring Dr. Royal S. Copeland which did not take the air until recently. Curtin is now authoring the Black Chamber spy stories in collaboration with Major Herbert C. Yardley.

DO YOU USE MAPLE SYRUP IN KITCHEN?

(By Marjorie Mills)

Last week our yearly visitor, carrying a basket of just-tapped maple syrup and freshly-made maple sugar, made his appearance.

None of us could resist buying several bottles of the delicious looking syrup and several bars of the sugar.

Evidently our man has been calling on some of you readers, for there have been several requests for recipes using maple syrup.

The story and romance of maple syrup has been told so many times that we're sure you're all familiar with it. But perhaps you're not familiar with its many uses, especially for cooking.

For the child who does not like cereals, use maple syrup instead of sugar. It adds the flavor that children cannot resist.

For the child who does not like milk, add one or more tablespoons of maple syrup to his milk. It's good for him and he will drink his milk eagerly.

Serve maple syrup as a sauce on rice, bread pudding, cottage pudding, rice pudding, Indian pudding, French toast, and serve it on pancakes and waffles.

MAPLE DROP COOKIES

1 egg
1 teaspoon melted butter.
Half cup maple syrup
1 cup all-purpose flour.
1 1-4 teaspoons baking powder
Pinch of salt
Half cup nut meats, cut fine
Whole nut meats.
Beat egg well in mixing bowl. Add the melted butter, maple syrup and flour sifted with baking powder. Then the salt and fine nut meats. Beat well and drop by small spoonfuls on a buttered baking sheet. Place a whole nut meat on top of each cookie and bake in a quick oven about 400 degrees F.

MAPLESCOTCH PIE

4 tablespoons sugar
Half cup cornstarch
Half teaspoon salt
1 1-4 cups milk
1 1-4 cups maple syrup
4 tablespoons butter
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 baked 9-inch pie shell.
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar
Sift sugar, cornstarch and salt together and add quarter cup milk. Scald remaining milk in double boiler, add cornstarch mixture and cook until it begins to thicken, stirring constantly. Add syrup and butter and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes longer, stirring constantly. Pour small amount of syrup mixture over egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened. Remove from fire; add vanilla. Cook. Pour into pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and beat until mixture thickens again. Pile lightly on filling. Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees F. 20 minutes, or until slightly browned.

MAPLE FUDGE

2 cups maple syrup
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
3-4 cup thin cream
3-4 cup walnut meats, coarsely chopped.

Combine maple syrup, corn syrup and cream and place over low flame. Stir constantly until mixture begins to boil. Continue cooking, without stirring, until a small amount forms a soft ball in cold water, 236 degrees F. Remove from fire. Cool to lukewarm, 110 degrees F. Beat until mixture thickens and loses its gloss. Add nuts and pour at once into greased pan. When cold, cut in squares.

CHILDREN LIKE DISCIPLINE

Parents, teachers and others in authority over children, sometimes do not make the children do as they are told because they wish to be liked. Yet children like and respect those who require a reasonable discipline. Look back over your teachers and it is not the teacher who let you do as you liked that you like best. The growing generation are no different. I was talking to a young lad who is a Cub. He was telling me that they had a new Cub Master. I knew that he liked the former Cub Master so I asked him about the new one. He said, "I like him. I like him better than the last one. He makes us do what he tells us."

PREPAREDNESS

We hear a good deal about preparedness these days and the home is a good place to start. The mother is the lubricating oil which keeps family life running smoothly and she can do even better work if she is prepared. Of course, the rest of the family may do their share too. You know how cross you are apt to be when you are tired, or when you are not feeling well. Learn to recognize these symptoms in yourself and be prepared for the fact that you are likely to be cross. When you know it is just a by-product possibly you will be able to prevent it by being forewarned. When you know these symptoms in yourself, learn to recognize them in others and when you know what is causing them, do not let it annoy you as it otherwise would. Very often you can do something about eliminating the cause. Tiredness and loss of sleep is one of the most frequent causes of family crossness. Try to build up reserves of sleep, to draw on when necessary. Instead of catching up lost sleep. If you cannot avoid the things which have caused irritation, you can do a good deal to lessen its effect by ignoring it. You will feel so superior by recognizing the cause behind that you will have no difficulty in ignoring the irritated.

BAKING TESTS

A cake is cooked if.
1. It springs back if the surface is touched.
2. It shrinks from the pan.
3. It stops singing.

HEAVENLY FOOD

2 eggs, 2-3 cup sugar, half teaspoon vanilla, scant half cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup dates, 1 cup walnuts.

Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, add sugar gradually and continue beating. Add sifted flour baking powder, vanilla, dates and nuts, cut in pieces. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a buttered pan 8 inches square, in a slow oven of 275 degrees for an hour and a quarter. Cut in squares while hot. The only poor thing about this recipe is its name. However, I did not name it so you are at liberty to change it. The slow oven is essential for its success. If you prefer fewer nuts, increase the quantity of dates.

Ruth Carhart, most recent recruit to Roxy's radio gang, sings equally well in French, German, Italian and Spanish. She can also handle Russian lyrics and has little trouble expressing herself in English.
