YORK AND SUNBURY TO GET POWER

Extension Commissions System To Stanley and Fredericton Jct

Districts Around Gladstone and Burton Parishes in Sunbury and
Along the Nashwaak
Will Benefit.

The Provincial Government met here last night and the session was extended into the early hours of the morning.

Before adjourning the decision was reached to extend the Power Commission's System into two rural districts in York and Sunbury Counties and to put an addition to the Minto plant of the N. B. Electric Power Commission.

The commission system will be extended to residents of Taymouth, Stanley, Covered Bridge, Cross Creek Green Hill and Nashwaak Bridge in York county and from Harris Bridge on the Oromocto line to Waasis, Rusagomis Station, Fredericton Junction Tracey and Enniskillen and from Rusagomis to Owen's Bridge and from Oromocto to Burton, in Sunbury county, providing there are sufficient customers for each extension.

Premier Tilley, in making the announcement regarding the proposed addition to the Minto plant said that the power now being produced was practically all in use or applied for. The proposed addition, he said, would mean the installation of a new boiler room, engine-room and building with the necessary electrical equipment, comprising a turbo-generator and heaters.

No Estimate Given

While stating that tenders would be called, the premier did not disclose what had been submitted as the approximate estimate of the cost. He indicated that the work would be proceeded with shortly by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission.

Other matters of importance taken up included the award of hard-surface road contracts, totalling $1,083,695.35, covering 68.8 miles of highway.

The granting of a rebate of $1 per 1,000 feet in the softwood stumpage rate under certain conditions.

A decision to call for tenders for an issue of $2,100,000 provincial bonds.

In connection with the stumpage announcement Premier Tilley stated that on Sept. 26 last a delegation of licensees and lumbermen appeared before the government requesting a reduction in stumpage rates which had been fixed at $3. They were advised by the government, he said, that the rates would remain so fixed but that the government would rebate $1 per 1,000 feet stumpage on softwood long lumber, and all softwood products except pulpwood if the English price and market for Eastern Canadian lumber was left at what it was last year. The lumber operators would be advised before May 1 whether the rebate would be granted.

It was held to obtain opinion of fruit growers, who came under the scheme, whether they wished it to continue.

There were 1,463 votes cast in favor of the scheme, 51 against and 35 ballots spoiled. The total ballots cast represented more than 70 per cent of eligible growers.

Home Support Again

Speaking about our Home Owned Stores and the farmer's duty and advantage in patronizing our local merchants, The Daily Mail has received several complimentary bouquets on the articles regarding our merchants and trading at home published in yesterday's and in Thursday's issues. One farmer, however, complains that his boy took a commercial course and has not been able to get a job in any store in Fredericton. If the farmer who makes this complaint, and also his neighbors, would take a tumble to themselves and patronize the home merchant trade would increase, more money would be on hand and larger staffs would be required to handle the increased trade. Then there would be some chance for the local boy and the local girl to get a job. In the old days when there was no mail order business and when the farmer came to town, sold his crops and bought his provisions and all his household needs here, many a country boy came to the city and made good. One became sheriff of the county, another developed a large business which his son continues today. Others became leaders in different activities. We could name a score of them. But if the farmer wishes to progress and have his family progress with the aid of the town he will have to do his part and patronize the town, instead of sending his money, which comes from the home town, to mail order houses, from which there is no return.

There are also leading government and semi-government officials right here in town who are picking off public money and who are sending their money away. These people do not seem to care for any person but themselves. The local merchants are asked to pay taxes and to give hand-outs to institutions with which these officials are connected and they ignore the Home Owned Stores for the imported variety and the mail order routes.

Pelt Business Is Worth 2½ Millions

MONCTON, N. B., April 27—The pelt business, it is estimated was worth $2,500,000 to Prince Edward Island fox ranchers last year, stated B. Roy Holman, of Charlottetown, a well known fur buyer, on his return home this morning after a visit to Moncton. The fur production next year, he remarked, from reports he has received from ranches on the island, should be as high as last year when some 50,000 pelts were marketed.

INVESTIGATE SALE OF BUTTER UNDER WEIGHT

W. J. Davies of Ottawa and G. W. Parker, federal government inspectors of Dairy Products were, in the city today in connection with the enforcement of legal standards of butter weight. At the Phoenix Square market place this morning the inspectors found evidence of butter sold under weight and forbade its sale.

The federal inspectors investigate these matters every two months. Speaking with The Daily Mail today, Mr. Davies declared that he found some improvement since the last investigation in this area. He added that fines of from $10 to $50 can be imposed for infractions of the Weights and Measures regulations.

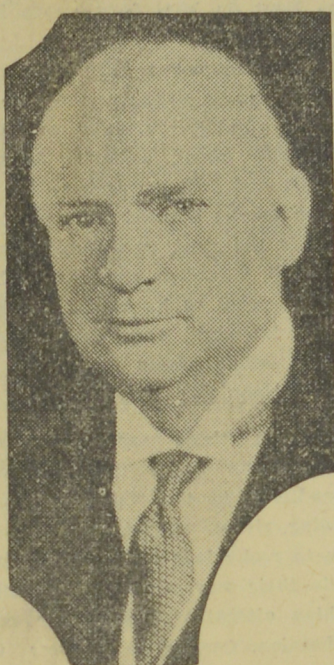

Butter has been sold in the local market at fourteen ounces to the pound, although the legal weight is sixteen ounces. Mr. Davies pointed out that legal standards require that there be 80 per cent butter fat to the pound of butter, and not more than 16 per cent of moisture.

Regulations in respect to the sale of butter has been posted at Phoenix Square this week giving complete details for the sale of dairy products. Within recent months it has been found that butter has often been sold at from two to four ounces under weight. Oftentimes the farmer has not deliberately offended because he brings his produce to market without weighing it, and in the bustle of the market doesn't find time to weigh it properly.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

There was slight change today in the condition of Mrs. Frank Horncastle, well known Fredericton woman, who has been confined in the hospital here following an accident which she suffered some weeks ago.

Operetta, Vocal Selections and Folk Dancing Drew Favorable Comments from Large Audience.

The evening's entertainment last night at the Normal School Auditorium was a decided success. The presentation was sponsored by the Home and School Association, under the convener'ship of Mrs. W. M. Todd and proved enjoyable as well as conducive to the aims and objects of the Association. The entire presentation was furnished by the children of our city schools significant of the fact of our local talent and the pleasure that was given to a large audience of parents and interested friends.

The opening number, "Let's Go Travelling," was an operetta presented by a group of fifty children from all the schools of the city under the direction of Mrs. R. P. Gorham and Mrs. B. B. Barnes, with Mrs. J. E. Sewell pianist. The story of this operetta is grouped around a number of children who are greatly disappointed because a pouring rain prevents them from having a long-planned picnic. At a loss for something to do to pass the time, they appeal to the mother of one of the girls to teach them a new game. All played their roles most acceptably, sustaining the interest of the audience throughout.

He Had Previously Shot Corporal Moriarity-- C. M. P. Crushed Mur- derer Against Barn With His Car.

CALGARY, April 27—The short-lived shooting career of David Knox, recluse farmer, was brought to an end yesterday afternoon, when Constable R. C. Fenn of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police drove a speeding automobile towards the farmer and crushed him to death against a granary.

This new method of getting their man was devised by police as Knox, a pensioner who lost part of his left leg in the war, threatened police officers attempting to arrest him after he had shot and killed Corporal Michael Moriarity, 48-year old R.C.M.P. veteran who went to Knox's farm near Drumbeller, Alta., to serve a summons. Knox was armed with a rifle.

Trapped behind a granary on a neighboring farm after he had battled a police and farmers' posse for two hours, Knox, with blood flowing from a pistol wound, was struck by the police car as he prepared to fire at Constable Fenn. The latter had surprised the farmer by shooting the car suddenly from behind a straw pile.

Killed on Driveway

Earlier the farmer, at gun point, had chased a sheriff-bailiff from the farm when he attempted to serve an eviction warrant. Corporal Moriarity, a member of the R.C.M.P. for almost two decades, accompanied by Constable Roy Allen, went to the farm with a summons charging Knox with unlawful use of firearms. Moriarity was killed as he walked up the farm drive.

The same bullet from Knox's rifle that killed Corporal Moriarity grazed Constable Roy Allen and inflicted a flesh wound.

Knox shot all the glass out of the police car as Allen, advancing against the farmer's fire, attempted to reach Moriarity's body. Driven back, he returned to Drumbeller for assistance and the farmer escaped to the fields.

Corporal Moriarity, a veteran of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, killed by a crazed Drumbeller district farmer today, was one of the officers who played a prominent part in the hunt and capture of Emil Piccarillo, "Kings" or the Crow's Nest Pass liquor runners in 1922.

Known as "Emperor" Pic, Piccarillo shot and killed Constable Steven O. Lawson, of the Alberta Provincial Police at Coleman Sept. 24, 1922.

In the mountainous country to the west of Blairmore, he sought refuge, and after one of Alberta's greatest man hunts he was captured, along with his 25 year old daughter, Mrs. Charles Lassandreg.

It was a 24-hour hunt and Corporal Moriarity was in "on the capture" after following the trail under the leadership of Inspector E. W. Bavin, now in charge of the Calgary district, R.C.M.P.

"Emperor Pic" and his young daughter died on the gallows at Lethbridge jail, both convicted of the provincial policeman's death, with Piccarillo named the actual slayer.

The social event of the Jubilee celebration will be the formal Ball given in the Legislative Assembly Chamber. Plan to attend. Tickets, 75 cents. Help the Cancer Fund.
