"The old boom days are evidently on the way back. The New Brunswick Telephone Company are issuing new capital shares and you see such advertisements in the newspapers as "N. B. Telephone rights bought and sold."

"I thought that idea of buying and selling rights had perished early in the Depression, but here it bobs up again like a bad penny. Personally, I would like to see a Royal Commission appointed to investigate thoroughly the financing of the New Brunswick Telephone Company. I would like to know, who owns the stock of this company and who profits by the 'rights.' If the telephone company is a public utility, then it seems reasonable that the public, which pays high rates for poor service, should know how the company is operated, who receives the big fat salaries and where the money from the present financing will go. Possibly everything can be clearly explained but there are many things, which I along with the users of the telephone, would like to know. Since interest rates are down what right has the New Brunswick Telephone Company to earn eight per cent on its capital stock? It is time that the people were given a fair deal."—The Sackville Tribune.

It is a wonder that some one besides Brother Avard has not dug this up before now. The Daily Mail was just about to ask the same question. The public has continued to pay through the nose for its none too efficient telephone service all through the depression, when other concerns were cutting down rates.

Men who are leaders on both sides of politics have for the last thirty years or more been placed on the board of directors and have guided the Company's work or were supposed to do so. It is probable that the business is fairly and squarely conducted but it looks as though the Company is earning too much money. Eight per cent on capital stock is too much at the present time.

GETTING WORSE

Radio reception, so far as this city is concerned, seems to be getting worse instead of better. The Mail registered a complaint against it a few days ago, and it is a matter for regret that it has to be repeated. Last night Prime Minister Bennett delivered a radio talk of a very important nature, but static was so strong during the course of his speech that he was heard with great difficulty. But for the fact that Fredericton possesses a high power broadcasting station scarcely a word of his stirring address would have been understood.

The Prime Minister is booked to speak again on Monday evening, and it is to be hoped that in the meantime the Radio Commission will buck up and endeavor to eliminate the static nuisance, so that his message can be distinctly heard.

STRAIGHTEN OUT THE CHILD MIND

Dean Willard C. Rappleye, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, in his annual report pleads for more intensive study of mental and nervous disorders.

"Mental and nervous disorders," says Dr. Rappleye, "cause more incapacity, distress and economic burden than any other form of illness."

The report of the dean had to do primarily with the training of physicians. But the problem he mentions is of much wider application.

Perhaps we shall learn some day that teaching children in the rudiments of mental control so that they will learn the evils of self-pity, self-dramatization and other bad mental habits, is good pedagogy and good insurance for society against crime, incapacity, social cowardice and many other irregularities of conduct.

Genuine disease is a problem for the physician, but back of much human distress, failure and even ill health are bad mental habits that might be cured by early education.

SNAPSHOTS

The people in the upper sections of the city are doing some tall swearing at the rotten radio service. It is apparently the fault of some local condition in the neighborhood between Smythe and Westmorland Street. It's up to some one to look into the situation.

No one should have the face to collect radio licenses unless general conditions are better. The station at CFNB is O.K. and the officials there are doing their part. Papers in St. Stephen, Hartland and other places praise CFNB but kick at the general conditions.

Some good west-end Tories and Grits also—were mad last night because they could not hear the Prime Minister.

On a day like this one appreciates our nice June weather.

The Sackville Tribune has the right idea about the New Brunswick Telephone Company. For a Company which is a public utility the public know little about it. When it comes to taking eight per cent in depression times however, there must be some money in the business.

Minister of Trade and Commerce Entertained

ests of Saint John, should honor the new minister of trade and commerce. The Saint John Board of Trade, established 114 years ago, and one of the oldest in the British Empire, is particularly pleased that the new minister from New Brunswick should hold the portfolio of trade and commerce.

Mr. Oland spoke of Mr. Hanson's varied experience with leading industries of the province, as well as his experience as chairman of the House of Commons railway committee. The latter, he said, gave the minister of trade and commerce a grasp of transportation, one of the most vital problems of city and province.

"The Saint John Board of Trade," said Mr. Oland, "is ready to do everything which it can to assist in any constructive way the department of trade and commerce in matters affecting city, province or the country as a whole."

Lieutenant-Governor

Lieutenant-Governor McLean said that he had known Mr. Hanson for a great many years and could assure the people of Saint John that the minister of trade and commerce is "an energetic, plucky gentleman who has succeeded in all he has taken up."

The governor told of Mr. Hanson's career, both in private business and public life.

"We expect great things of our guest of honor," he declared, "and he will not fail us."

Premier Tilley

"It is a great privilege," said Premier Tilley, "to give you the toast to our distinguished guest, especially at this time when no department administered from Ottawa, is of greater importance to Canada than the department of the minister of trade and commerce. It is an honor to this, our province, that we should have at the head of that department one of our native sons—a gentleman who, I am sure we will all agree, regardless of political party, is a man of energy and ability—a man who first, last and all the time has the interests of his province at heart."

Premier Tilley continued that conditions are brighter all over the province, but that the improvement is less marked in Saint John, where a considerable unemployment problem still exists.

Premier Tilley concluded that he thought in Mr. Hanson's appointment "the Dominion government made an exceptionally good choice."

As Mr. Hanson rose to give his address, he was greeted with the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

NO DISSENSION IN THE CABINET OVER PROGRAM

Ottawa, Jan. 5—Following a well-attended cabinet council yesterday Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told a questioner he knew nothing of any dissension among his colleagues over his proposed reform policies, apart from what he had read in a newspaper. Council sat for nearly two hours, reviewing a capital case and dealing with some routine orders.

It was believed the series of speeches being delivered by the prime minister respecting his reform policy were informally discussed but not at any length.

It was the first session of cabinet since the prime minister launched his series of addresses, Wednesday night, announcing in a general way the policies of reform of the economic system which he proposes to place before the people in the general election.

UNEMPLOYMENT—YORK COUNTY 1935

Dear Mr. Editor:—

I am afraid that there will be a lot of people loafing around in York County this year especially this coming Summer and I will be one of the hundreds unless something unforeseen happens, and why I should suffer for the sins of others is beyond my control—I notice in all the big government jobs under construction in 1934-35 that while the work was apportioned to help out the different districts that in most cases the money went outside the district—I mention the McAdam Post Office—the Dormitory at the Experimental Station here and now the Armoury building—Personally I think it a disgrace and I know I am voicing the expressions of hundreds of my fellow laborers in the County of York that it is not right to bring in material for the construction of these buildings from an outside district when the very best can be had right here in York County. I heard that cement blocks have been brought in from the Province of Quebec for the Relief Project or the Range as you call it—I see by the papers that the contract for the Plumbing and heating also the Electric work has gone to Firms in St. John and now I heard this morning on the street that the Armoury Building is to be built of building tile which must come from another Province or an outside district—I noticed while I was at the Experimental Station the other day I saw carload after carload of brick unloaded into this job — this brick was brought in from another district. Now Mr. Editor when you watch the thousands of dollars worth of material coming into this district and see the sub-contracts going to St. John and other places it makes one wonder who is to blame for all these mistakes, especially when the material and trade is right here. Of course there must be an agent here to bring in all this material—this agent no doubt must fight to get in this business because the rakeoff or the commission must be very great, and it is a disgrace to think that this agent would rather see hundreds of men loaf in this district rather than give up the rakeoff. I stand for fair-play, but when I see my "Bread-and-Butter" slipping away from me I do not think it fair that I should be made to suffer for the sins of others and I would suggest to all the working men of this district that they keep a close eye on those higher up that are not playing a square game—the mistakes made on the above jobs will tell heavily this coming Summer and I will have more for the public next week, I remain

Yours Faithfully,
SAMUEL B. CURRIE.
