FR. COUGHLIN AND HUEY LONG SHOW WIDENING CLEAVAGE

Priest's Slogan of "Roosevelt or Ruin" Differentiates Him Sharply From the Senator From Louisiana

WASHINGTON, March 15—A widening cleavage between Father Charles Coughlin and Senator Huey Long was seen in the latest renewal of the spectacular battle between them, on one side, and General Hugh S. Johnson on the other.

For some time there have been predictions that Long and Father Coughlin had so much in common in the matter of economic doctrines that they might team up in an onslaught on the New Deal. However, observers noted that, in his reply to Hugh S. Johnson's exhortation, Father Coughlin reaffirmed his 132 slogan: "Roosevelt or ruin". Long loses no opportunity to attack Roosevelt.

Huge Mail Influx Caused

A large part of the Capitol letter carriers' burdens are attributed to Administration policies. These communications, on the word of party leaders have provided a potent new element in legislating.

Various legislators have told their friends that, where last year their mail largely called for support of the New Deal in general, it now runs in large part to objections to this or that feature.

There was speculation without verification about whether the White House had been in touch with Father Coughlin since John's son first speech attacking him and Long, and it was pointed out the refinancing move announced at the Treasury over the week-end was in conformity with Father Coughlin's views.

Johnson, preparing to return to the attack in the immediate future "with plenty to say", went into ecstacy awaiting, as he said, a popular call to lead a nation-wide campaign to exterminate the influence of Long and Father Coughlin.

"Anti-Long" Bloc Forming

Formation of an "anti-Long" bloc in the House of Representatives in an effort to whittle down the power of the Kingfish either by direct attack or by ridicule was under way today.

The spearhead of the group is Representative P. L. Gassaway (D., Oklahoma). He and "12 or 15 others" are holding frequent consultations on the matter, Gassaway said. A wearer of the leather boots and string bow tie of the cow country, he added:

"We are the meanest scoundrels in Congress and we are tired of Huey's line of palaver. We are going to knock him over."

"See, that hand there?" the Congressman asked as he extended a tanned and gnarled fist. "See where those fingers were broken. I smashed my fist when I knocked out a fellow years ago back home when he slandered Teddy Roosevelt and Teddy was a Republican."

"We don't like for Long to keep attacking our President and I don't have a bodyguard either."

Absent Treatment Given To Speeches Of Long

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15—Senate Democrats have decided to try to discipline Long by walking out on every speech he makes.

They started yesterday. It is an old formula, known as the "absent treatment", and there is good reason for believing the Senators got the idea at the White House where Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader, and the new members were entertained this week.

Long jumped to his feet and began to talk during the debate on the work-relief bill. Democrats began moving toward the door immediately until only Carter Glass was seated on the Democratic side. He had to stay because he is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and therefore, is in charge of the work-relief bill. Only seven Senators were seated on the Republican side of the chamber. The galleries, however, were packed.

Coughlin Suggested "Third Party" Leader

OMAHA, Nebraska, March 15—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the radio priest, became the leading candidate for standard bearer of a united Third Party to be formed here next July as a result of his radio address this week, Roy M. Harrop, national chairman of the Farmer-Labor Party said.

Harrop has received many communications, demanding that Coughlin be drafted, if necessary, to lead the movement, he said. Before the priest delivered his answer to General Hugh Johnson, Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota was the favorite. Harrop has invited Father Coughlin, Senator Huey P. Long, Upton Sinclair, Norman Thomas and General Jacob Coxey to come here for the Third Party convention.

As a result of the debates between Coughlin, Johnson and Long the issue for the 136 campaign has been made clear, Harrop said.

Father Coughlin's priestly duties will probably not allow him to act as leader.

FIVE JUDGES CONSULT FIVE DICTIONARIES

MONTREAL, P. Q., March 17—Embezzlement, as defined in the statutes of England and the United States, is covered in Canadian codes by the broader term "theft" but a local interpretation caused the judges of the Appeal Court to pause awhile while five dictionaries were consulted.

In Webster's, embezzle means to appropriate fraudulently; the same in the University; the Oxford says that it means to divert to one's own use, and the King's English, to filch. The importance of the word cropped up while the appeal of the Canadian Surety Company from an adverse decision in an action taken by the Quebec Insurance Agencies, Limited, was being argued.

The Quebec Insurance Agencies took out a policy with the surety company against "any pecuniary losses by larceny or embezzlement".

Two years later their sub-agency, the Independent Insurance Agencies, Limited, claimed a loss of $18,000 through embezzlement. A complaint was taken in the criminal court at Iberville but the accused was never apprehended.

The surety company claimed there was no lien between the Independent and Quebec Insurance Agencies. It also argued against the proof of any embezzlement being made. There was no proof of this the appellants claimed.

The Bench was composed of Justices St. Germain, Bond, Dorion, Bernier, McDougall.

The case was taken under advisement.

Shock of Mother's Death Kills Son, 58

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 17—Mrs. Helen Hayes, 81, died on Monday.

Her son, Charles, 58, a retired letter carrier, was so stricken by grief and shock that the care of a doctor was needed.

Last night Hayes went for a walk. He met Patrolman John Holden, a friend, told him of the death of his mother, and said "I just don't care to live anymore".

Then he returned home. Friends prevailed on him to lie down. He remained in his room so long they became alarmed.

They found him dead, a victim of his grief, they said.

IRELAND'S SAINT HONORED IN THE CHURCHES SUNDAY

St. Patrick's Day Featured Special Sermons On the Life of the Saint and Wearin' of the Green.

The churches of the city and vicinity held special services on Sunday featuring remarks by the various ministers on St. Patrick, Ireland's patron saint. Sunday was St. Patrick's day, and there was the usual flying of flags and the wearing of the green. k

The churches of the city and vicinity which had special St. Patrick's day addresses were St. Dunstan's, where Rt. Rev. Mgr. Carney delivered a special address on the Irish saint, also at the Devon Baptist church, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, St. Paul's United church, and Wilmut United church.

At St. Andrew's church, the minister, Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross spoke on "Repentance the way of Renewal" in the morning and in the evening his subject was "Saint Patrick, the winning Irish Skip". The evening service was the annual one for the Fredericton Curling Club and many attended.

At St. Paul's United church the pastor, Rev. George Tellord spoke on "Repentance the Way of Revival" in the morning and on "Saints of Yesterday and Today" in the morning. "The Way of Renewal" was Rev. J. W. Bartlett's theme in the morning and "The Old and the New—St. Patrick and Prof. Huxley" was the evening theme, asking the question: Can Science Displace God? The Brotherhood class was held in the Pythian Hall, as usual, in the afternoon.

At Christchurch Parish in the afternoon at three o'clock there was a confirmation class. Rev. A. T. Buckland of Kingsclear, spoke in the morning and the rector in the evening.

Rev. G. W. Guioy spoke at all services at the Brunswick Street Baptist church. The theme for the day was "Repentance the Way of Renewal; our part in the Canada-wide Campaign."

At Devon Baptist church morning prayer was held at 10.30 o'clock. Worship at 11 a.m. "The Spirit in Repentance." Church school and Brotherhood class at 12.15 p.m. Evening worship at 7 p.m. "The Faith of St. Patrick." There was a sacred concert at three o'clock. David L. Kennedy, B. Th., officiated at all services.

At Gibson Memorial United church, South Devon, service at 11 a.m., with the theme "Forgiveness," the first word from the Cross. In the evening at 7 p.m. the pastor spoke on the last of the series on biblical characters—Joseph. Service was held at Nash waakiss at three o'clock. The services were in charge of Rev. W. A. Burge, minister.

At United Baptist church, Marysville, W. Steadman Smith spoke. Worship at 11 a.m., Canada St. Church. Sermon subject, "What the Filling with the Holy Spirit Does." At 7 p.m. in the Olivet church the sermon subject was "Where the Thirsty May Find Drink."

MEDICO REPORTS THAT CANCER CAN BE HALTED

SACRAMENTO, California, March 16—Cancer, even in its advanced stages is an arrestable disease, Dr. Charles A. Dukes of Oakland, President of the American College of Surgeons, said yesterday in a bulletin published by the State Health Department.

Dr. Dukes said, however, there were but three reliable ways to treat the malignant disease—by X-Ray, by radium or by the knife.

HER NINTH POUND LOST SHE BARS FREAK DIETS

(New York Sun)

Mrs. Winks, who is so practical and sensible that her friend, Mrs. Jinks, wondered that she ever had allowed herself to get overweight, was discussing her reduction in poundage. "Yes, indeed", she said. "I'm losing my ninth pound today, I hope".

"How grand", exclaimed Mrs. Jinks. "What diet are you using, bananas and milk, lamb chops and pineapple or proteins and starches?"

"None of them. No freak diets for me. I refuse to ruin my constitution that way. I've worked out a system for myself, and it doesn't seem difficult, once you get into the swing of it. I count my calories, of course, and just take black coffee and grapefruit for breakfast. Then we never have starches any more—potatoes, rice, spaghetti or white bread, and I avoid all fats and bulky foods".

"Lots of salads, eh?" inquired her friend.

"Oh, yes, but no dressing, no salad dressing ever, and I've eliminated all sweets and cut down on the amount of food. That's very important. But it's worth it, almost nine pounds in a month is certainly encouraging. I'll soon be down where I want, then I'll have to watch my diet right along, otherwise my weight will begin to increase."

As Jinks and his wife walked home from their visit with the Winks, Mrs. Jinks said, "Maybe I ought to start reducing. It wouldn't hurt me to lose a few pounds".

"Well, maybe it would not, but just find some other way of getting rid of them", said Jinks emphatically.

"Winks has the look of a starving man; in no time he'll be undernourished. He's probably had to double his lunch money to get enough food to sustain life from one noon to the next. I'm not coming home to any dinner of cow food, black coffee and grape fruit with no sugar. Besides you'd always be hungry, and you know how cranky you get when you don't have enough to eat. No, indeed, you just stay off diets and get your weight down some other way".

Toronto Weekly Star

When a publication shows the remarkable increase in circulation made by the Toronto Star Weekly during the past few years, it is evident that it must be a paper of exceptionally high merit.

The Star Weekly now has the highest circulation in its history and the largest circulation of any paper in Canada. During the last twelve months, its circulation has increased by 18,000 copies a week, showing that Canadians, whether times be good or bad, regard first class reading matter as a necessity.

In The Star Weekly, Canadians find news and features in which they are keenly interested, written from a Canadian viewpoint. The Star Weekly is produced in Canada, by Canadians, for Canadians. Both its reading matter and its pictures interest every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest. It is a cheery, youthful publication, stimulating and vigorous.

The Star Weekly in fact is five newspapers in one.

The Rotogravure section presents the world in pictures, including not only photographs but paintings of Canadian subjects done specially for The Star Weekly by leading Canadian artists.

Its sixteen full-size pages of carefully selected coloured comics and cut-outs is a feature in which the younger members of the family find unending pleasure, shared by adults.

There are also two magazine sections, crowded with articles, fiction and departments where the principal aim is to make the paper interesting and entertaining as well as informative. The fiction, by well known writers both of Canada and the world, is spirited and inspiring, with none of the slowness and morbidness which are distasteful to so many people. The movies and the radio have special departments to themselves, with the latest news and pictures of these two most popular arts. The Star Weekly Kitchen is an authoritative presentation of cooking for the homemaker and Star Weekly fashions are up-to-date and practical.

Besides all this, there is a complete section of news, including both Canadian and foreign events, with special emphasis also on sports.

Looking over The Star Weekly, one cannot fail to be impressed by the tremendous money's worth found in it, a week-end's entertainment for the whole family at ten cents.

They're missing Gus Haenachen in the New York radio studios this week. He's vacationing in Florida with Mrs. Haenachen after ten years on the air without a vacation. Dan Lieberfeldt, chief arranger for Haenachen, is directing Showboat and the American Musical Revue while the boss catches fish,
