

NOISY EATER RILES SKIPPER

Soup Drinker is Target For Knife of Trawler Master

ABERDEEN, Sept. 20.—Because one of his hands ate soup noisily, lit a cigarette when reproved and said, "You are always grumbling at people", the skipper of a Hull trawler threw a table knife at him. The knife pierced the man's right eye, the sight of which he has lost. The accident happened on May 20 last, when the trawler was 60 miles from Aberdeen, according to the Scotsman.

The skipper appeared before Sheriff Laing at Aberdeen, recently, admitted the offence, and was sent to prison for six months. It was explained on his behalf that he had just had to turn the ship for home because coal was running short, involving a financial loss for him, and that he was suffering from toothache at the time.

The accused was Walter Robinson (37), 20 Jackson Street, Hull, skipper of the Hull trawler, William Brady, and he admitted that he had assaulted Albert Allott, engineer's spare hand, by throwing a knife at him, striking him on the eye with it, and rendering the eye useless.

The fiscal (Mr. W. J. Robertson) stated that Allott was taking soup at the time, and accused became irritated at the noise he was making, and shouted to him, "You are eating like a pig". Allott stopped eating and lighted a cigarette, which apparently further irritated the accused, who shouted, "Put that cigarette out". Allott immediately obeyed and remarked, "You are always grumbling at people". At this accused picked up a table knife and with a swift movement threw it at Allott. The point of the knife struck him on the right eye and stuck in it. Allott at once fell to the floor and pulled the knife out of his eye.

Accused ran on deck and said to the mate, "Pull the ship round and let us get in somewhere. I think I have cut the spare hand's eye. Jump aft and see if you can do anything for him. The mate went aft and saw Allott with his eye lying out on his cheek. The mate placed a wet bandage over both eyes and carried the wounded man to his own berth.

The ship, Mr. Robertson said, was headed for Aberdeen, and was on its arrival the injured man was taken in an ambulance to the Royal Infirmary. It was found that both his eyelids were cut, and the right eyeball had collapsed, the liquid matter having been allowed to escape, involving total blindness in that eye.

Accused himself wrote an account of what had actually happened, and entered it in the log-book.

Sydney Duffus, solicitor for accused, said that the first misfortune that overtook the skipper on that ship was that when the engineer informed him that they were running short of coal. The result was that two or three days' fishing were lost, and accused saw his chance of making something out of the trip vanish. He turned the trawler for home and then came the meal at which the incident happened.

Unfortunately accused had another worry on top of that. He had been suffering from toothache and discovered he could only eat with one side of his mouth. The actual throwing of the knife was the result of a sudden loss of temper.

Sheriff Laing, addressing accused, said: "Apparently, to judge from the information placed before me and from the fact that you have been twice previously convicted of assault, you are a man of somewhat uncertain and violent temper, and one need hardly say that while one is bound to recognize that discipline must be maintained, it is quite unnecessary that bullying methods should be adopted."

EYE STRAIN

Round about middle age is a significant period of life when the dangers of eyestrain have to be kept in mind. Most normal people tend to develop some degree of presbyopia at the age of fifty or so and find the need to wear glasses for near work. The presbyopic can see quite well at a distance but, when reading, for example, the print must be held an abnormally long distance from the eyes. It is common, however, for some other optical defect which has been latent to become manifest about middle age and impair also the distant vision. Together these defects are likely to result in considerable eye-strain which for a man or woman at a relatively critical period of life may have serious consequences. No one can afford needlessly to waste energy during middle age—a time when responsibilities are generally high and when the balance of health is easily disturbed. It is often thought, notably among women, that "taking to glasses" is a sign of old age, and they suffer the discomforts and disabilities of eyestrain rather than consult the optician. This is most unwise and many a serious breakdown in general health could have been avoided by the timely correction of eye-strain by the use of glasses. A very great boon to those who suffer a combined optical defect is the bifocal lens. When near and distant vision are affected it is possible to combine the different corrections in one glass. This does away with the inconvenience of changing the glasses according to the needs of the eyes.

ROME, Italy, Sept. 21.—Italian soldiers were urged yesterday to refrain from blasphemy while engaged in conquering Ethiopia.

This exhortation features a booklet compiled by the National Anti-Blasphemy Committee, of which King Victor Emmanuel is supreme patron, and to be distributed by chaplains among all officers and men.

Profane language and cursing is "peculiar to men who live outside the civilized life", the soldiers are informed.

The booklet is approved by Premier Mussolini.

It pays to advertise in The Daily Mail.
