SHARE THE WEALTH

There is nothing new about the share-the-wealth plan.

In the sixth century there lived at Nishapur, Persia, a priest named Mazdak. He taught, among other things, that all men are equal, and that the nobles of Persia ought to give up their luxury and divide their wealth with the rest of the citizens. He would not even allow anyone to retain $4,000,000.

Going still farther, he taught free love. King Kobad, who was having trouble with the nobility, the big magnates, encouraged Mazdak for political purposes. So the nobles and the priests of Zoroaster organized a revolution, forced Kobad off the throne, and refused to allow him to return to it until he had promised to have nothing more to do with Mazdak and his doctrines.

Kobad was a good politician, and he saw that he had overplayed his hand. He climbed back on the throne, and in the year 528 the crown prince, Chosroes, an orthodox Zoroastrian, led out the army and massacred Mazdak and his followers. Thus the Persian share-the-wealth-and-the-women plan ended sadly.

THE OLD EGG OR CHICKEN STORY

Leon Trotsky is in Denmark suffering from a nervous breakdown. He was about to renew his efforts for a world revolution.

The two go together.

It can be well understood how a man, sincerely troubled by the ills of mankind, could work himself into a nervous breakdown. But the question arises as to whether this is Trotsky's condition.

It is possible that a person naturally nervous could work himself into a state of mind which demands world revolution.

In other words, have Trotsky's nerves broken down because there is need for a world revolution, or does Trotsky feel that a world revolution is necessary because he is that sort of nervous person?

We don't know. We wish we did. But we do know that a person who is physically or mentally ill, or both, can become quite excited about something that otherwise he would view more calmly. Not that human suffering should be viewed calmly, but there should be calm, strong, sane steps taken to correct the evils.

Revolution, violent revolution, is justifiable only when no other course is open. In Germany or Italy or Russia, where freedom is throttled, armed revolution might be necessary. In this country, where orderly legal process is wide open to the people to make their country what the majority wills it to be, revolution would be a silly process, were it not so tragic.

Timid souls who fear revolution here should cast away their fears. Russia rebounded from Tsarism, Germany will rebound from Hitlerism. In a democracy the rebound can never be very far. But the progress can be steady—and sure.

IN THE BEST TRADITION

Le Droit, Ottawa: In the next Parliament the disappearance of these two men (Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Ralston) will be a loss which will be felt. It is not that they are superior intelligences, transcendental, glittering. But they incarnate a type of political man which, thanks to tireless methodical labour, an ordered life, and good human qualities, may attain the highest posts. One cannot help regretting the premature retirement of these excellent debaters, who made a redoubtable weapon out of their amiability. There will perhaps remain speakers more powerful and more brilliant but less agreeable to hear and less polite toward their adversaries. On the Conservative side no one can say who may replace Mr. Rhodes; and on the Liberal side, who can succeed Mr. Ralston?

SNAPSHOTS

Both Mr. Hubbard and the Conservative Committee and Messrs. Dickson Belyea and the ladies on the Liberal Committee worked hard. They deserve credit from their parties for the energy time and ability which they put into the campaign.

Premier Tilley took his defeat like a good sport and a gentleman and wired his personal friend Hon. Allison Dysart congratulations after the election was over.

John B. McNair will be remembered in York County as the man who killed narrow religious canvasses in York and Sunbury County. We have been cursed with this long enough.

We should not neglect to mention the lady campaign workers on both sides. They were wonderful workers for their respective sides and did much to encourage the men.

One old lady over the river, when asked whom she voted for said — "Oh voted for Mr. McEvoy, who is giving us the new road in Devon."

Did you hear about the election?

Didn't it beat hell.

York County goes back Grit after twenty seven years.

We hope the distinguished ladies and others not so distinguished will cease making uncharitable and unchristian door to door city canvasses at future elections. They hurt their party and lost votes by the score.

LATE FLASHES

Arvidsjaur, Sweden, June 28. — A worktrain collided with two runaway horses today, killing seven persons and injuring at least 15. A woman cook on the train was among the dead.

Zurich, Switzerland, June 28. — A severe earthquake shook Zurich late today. A second shock came shortly after the first. Both were so strong that the apparatus at the Basle Meteorological Institute was thrown out of commission. Houses at Basle and Zurich were shaken and furniture dislodged.

Washington, June 28. — The United States navy today awarded a $445,000 contract for a huge experimental aval patrol plane.

Los Angeles, June 28 — Dr. Lee de Forest, noted inventor, said yesterday the application of radio waves to the use of healing various diseases in physical medicine since the work of Roentgen in the X-ray.

"This heat produces remarkable therapeutic values, far differing from any externally applied, such as sun rays, electric lamps, or hot water," he added.

De Forest declared that the radio short waves literally incinerate the germs of a number of diseases without affecting the human body.

Sliven, Bulgaria, June 28. — One convict was killed and three critically injured when guards fired on mutinous prisoners yesterday a moment before a hanging was to take place in the prison yard.

By a pre-arranged signal the convicts smashed their windows with furniture and a number charged from their cells to break up the condemned man's march to the gallows. After the uprising was squelched the hanging proceeded.

At the same time a Communist agitator was hanged at the central prison in Sofia.

Radicals 'Greet' U. S. Envoy To Dublin

DUBLIN, June 28 — Communists throwing leaflets demanding the release of Tom Mooney, tried to rush the automobile of Alvin M. Owsley, new United States Minister, today.

The car was approaching the entrance to Dublin Castle, bearing Owsley to present his credentials to President Eamon de Valera.

Police beat back the Communists and forced them down a side street. Owsley presented his credentials and left without further incident.

OUR MAIL BAG

CONGRATULATIONS

To Editor of the Daily Mail.

Fredericton, N. B.

To the People of N. B.

As I have been a supporter of the Conservative Party for 22 years and the Liberal Party Victory which was the greatest in years I say to every member of the said Party I trust they stand true to their word in respect to the filling and implementing every plank they had in their platform Campaign Issue, seventeen in all, with the first important one work and wages to all Congratulatory to Hon. A. A. Dysart and members elected for the Legislature of New Brunswick.

and county committees and mentioned that the election was "a victory for the young men who are voting for the first time." He declared that the victory was the result of the hard work done by committees of the party during the past two years. Ald. Gunter was today the recipient of over fifty telegrams of congratulations, some of which came from Quebec and Nova Scotia.

The past campaign in York county was marked by untiring efforts on the part of workers on both sides, and W. W. Hubbard and his corps of assistants, as well as Abner B. Belyea and his assistants worked unceasingly on behalf of their respective parties. During yesterday and through the past week returning Officer Sheriff Roy W. Smith and the deputy returning officers worked hard. Yesterday they did not even stop for meals, and meals were served to them at the Court house and city hall polls.

Tilley Govt. Goes Down to Worst Defeat

Hon. A. A. Dysart, K.C., premier-designate of the province, in a statement issued last night soon after the results of the balloting became known, sincerely thanked those whose loyal support resulted in victory for his party and pledged himself and his colleagues to faithfully adhere to the program outlined in the course of the campaign.

The statement follows:

"In the main the issues were fairly well defined. Although collateral issues for a time seemed to dominate the situation, sound second thought prevailed and a verdict, we might say has been rendered on essentials.

Inspired Hope

"The record of the government was always an issue. The policies of the opposition party, as outlined in our platform, constituted an appeal which far outweighed the so-called achievements of the past. Through the broad vista of the future, our program inspired hope and it shall be the aim of the new government, soon to take over, to give effect to that program.

"My thanks go out in a very special manner to those who have given so generously of their time and energy, on behalf of this great cause—to the end always that democracy shall not fail.

"The problems awaiting solution are many and the task shall not be easy, but that fact in itself will incite those accepting responsibility to strive with renewed energy to the complete fulfilment of our program, which will it is confidently hoped, bring to this province that degree of prosperity and that measure of happiness which ought to be ours.

"Within the wide range of this Confederation, we shall endeavor to bring full justice to this province along constitutional lines, and shall ever strive to make the government truly democratic and ever responsive to the ideals of government of the people, for the people, and by the people."

Premier's Defeat

The personal defeat of Premier Tilley at Saint John is regretted by many Liberals as well as by Conservatives. Premier Tilley had a hard road to hoe as he received the leadership of the government after others had succeeded in practically killing it. Premier Tilley acted as a gentleman throughout the campaign. In fact
