LAURIER AT TORONTO

Toronto the hot bed of Canadian Toryism, gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the great chieftain of the Liberal party a wonderful reception on Monday night when he addressed a mass meeting at the Arena on the political issues of the day. Long before the hour for speech making to begin the great building was crowded and thousands were turned away. The old chieftain, despite the splendid battle which he had been putting up for the people on the floors of parliament, was in great form and delivered a speech which will be perused with the keenest interest by the electors of every province of Canada. It was a speech worthy of the old man eloquent and worthy of the greatest statesman of Great Britain—a speech that will find a responsive chord all over the British Empire. The Old Chieftain dealt with the naval question in a masterly manner. He pointed out that the policy of the Liberal party today was the policy of both parties in March 1909, and that policy never would have been departed from but for the unholy alliance entered into between the Tories and the Nationalists. Sir Wilfrid placed the Naval issue squarely before the Canadian people; his speech had foundation, proportion, dome, and he marshalled his facts as skillfully as Caesar marshalled his forces on the field of war.

Toronto is recognized as the citadel of Toryism and it is most significant to see the people of that city turning out in thousands to greet the Liberal leader and at the same time manifest their contempt for the tactics of a government which has shown itself afraid to trust the people. The great demonstration in the Queen city means the handwriting on the wall for the Borden Government. The people are with the Liberal party in the great fight which they are putting up for the cause of freedom, and a party with the people behind them is bound to triumph.

WAGE EARNERS TAKE NOICE

In almost every trade the rate of wages has advanced within recent years from 25 to 50 per cent and in some cases even more. The mechanic finds that with the increased cost of living he must have more wages. The laborer who used to work ten or eleven hours and be glad to receive from one dollar to one dollar and a quarter now has no difficulty in obtaining $1.50 to $2.00 for nine or ten hours' work. The average rate is about $1.75.

When framing the road law the government did not recognize the increase in wages. They still maintain that a man who works on the roads is only worth twelve and a half cents an hour or $1.12½ cents for a nine hour day. They give a single team ten cents more than this per hour but he and his horse can only earn $2.05 in the same time. The double teams and competent teamster can only be allowed three dollars per day. These are the statute labor rates, and yet there are plenty who in their condemnation of statute labor say that the people loaf more than they work. The people who perform their statute labor are not foolish. They know the rate of wages and that the government is offering them less for their wages than any other employer.

Railway Contractors pay from four to five dollars per day for double teams and teamsters and good laborers get nearer two dollars than one and a half.

There is little wonder so long as the government is indifferent about their wages that the people are careless as to the work upon the highways.

The City Council has made generous provision for band concerts during the coming summer. As music hath charms to soothe the savage beast, it might be a good plan to arrange for a band concert on Phoenix Square on the evening of the first Tuesday of each month.

The rejoicing of Conservative newspapers over the opening of United States markets to Canadian goods by the lowering of duties through the proposed new tariff draws this comment from the New York Times:

"In other words trade with the Yankee is treason to England only when it is the result of a fair bargain. It is loyal to take profits on sales to the United States, but it would be disloyal to take profits on purchases from the United States."

It is expected now that the Borden naval bill will be put through the House of Commons this week by means of the closure. It will be turned over to the senate next week and the general opinion is that it will be killed by that body. It will then be up to the Borden government to submit the question to the people.

In addition to the report of Health Inspector McKay that the police station is unsanitary we have the testimony of Ald. Weddall that it is not fit for an animal. Patrons of the police station should heed this warning and keep sober until better accommodation is provided for them.

IN A NEW ROLE

A Vancouver Correspondent of the Standard writes:—The annual Vancouver Horse Show, declared this year to be the second largest in the world, was opened April 20 by Attorney-General Bowser, a native of Rexton, N. B. There were 178 classes of entries, in which were including the horses of many former New Brunswickers. Especial distinction was won by Miss Mabel French who rode her great grey hunter, "Sweetzer," to many honors in the ring. It will be remembered that Miss French was the first lady of New Brunswick to study for the bar and she is now practising among the British Columbian fraternity.
