The wedding guests were restricted to members of both families and immediate friends of the bride and bridegroom. Not more than seventy-five witnessed the ceremony. The ceremony was performed at 12.30 o'clock.

A stream of passengers bearing wedding presents from every part of the country poured through the grounds of Miss Gould's estate today. Gifts came from wealthy friends

ST. JOHN RIVER COMMISSION IN SESSION AT BANGOR

Bangor, Me., Jan. 21--The International St. John River Commission, appointed by the Dominion of Canada and the United States to consider the uses and conditions of the St. John River, was in session here today. The recent report submitted by the board of consulting engineers connected with the commission containing valuable data in regard to the conservation of water for log driving and power purposes on the St. John and the cost of such development was the chief matter before the board.

Hardy S. Ferguson of New York city one of the consulting engineers, was the only witness heard today. S. F. Chapeau of Ottawa, who is connected with the department of public works of the dominion government, the other member of the board, will arrive Wednesday and will be examined.

In connection with the report several matters of interest were brought out by counsel for both the dominion and the United States. In response to questions by A. J. Gregory, K.C., of Fredericton, counsel for the dominion, Mr. Ferguson stated that a development of the St. John river, equal to forty per cent of the present storage at high water mark together with necessary channel and reservoir improvements on the upper St. John above the Allagash River would be sufficient for all log driving purposes and would eliminate the difficulties that led to the appointment of the commission.

Asked if the maximum storage in a selected few of the reservoirs would not give the desired result at a less cost than a high water development in all reservoirs recommended in the report, he stated that it might be advisable for the commission to recommend developing in this manner.

THE TELOS CANAL

The question of the Telos canal which allows the waters of Chamberlain Lake to flow down the Penobscot in Maine and Chamberlain Lake itself was taken up. The lake and the canal furnish the basis of one of the most strongly contended points between the interests of the two countries represented in the controversy.

Engineer Ferguson furnished the commission with the information that Chamberlain Lake and its tributary represent nearly 50 per cent. of the available storage at high water mark of the St. John river above Fort Kent. It represents eight per cent. of the storage above Grand Falls. Its drainage area is about eighteen per cent. of that of the Allagash River, and a little over five per cent. of that of the St. John system above Fort Kent.

In relation to the Telos canal, he stated that in his opinion water flowed from Chamberlain Lake into the Penobscot river at certain stages of the water before the canal was built. No water can be conserved in Chamberlain Lake for the St. John canal as well as at the Allagash outlet. He said, without the Telos dam, a higher dam at the other outlet would force the water into the Penobscot. The commission will be here Wednesday for further consideration of the report.

M. G. Teed, K. C., of St. John, the new chairman of the commission; John Keefe, of St. John, the other member representing the Dominion of Canada; Hon. Geo. A. Murchie, of Calais, and Peter Charles Keegan, of Van Buren, the commissioners representing the United States, Harold A. Murchie, of Augusta, secretary of the commission, were all present.

In addition to these there were Hon. O. F. Fellows, of this city, who is counsel before the commission in behalf of the United States government; A. J. Gregory, K. C., of Fredericton, and W. P. Jones, K. C., of Woodstock, counsel in behalf of the dominion; Hardy S. Ferguson, of New York, former chief engineer of the Great Northern Paper Co., who is a member of the board of consulting engineers; Cecil Clay, of Portland, and S. Dow Simmons, of Fredericton, the official stenographer of the commission.

BANKING ACT UP IN HOUSE

Tory Members Register a Kick Against Some of Its Provisions

Mr. Carvell Says the Banking System is All Right, But It is not Fairly Administered

Ottawa, Jan. 21--The government sought the second reading for the Bank Bill today and in doing so disclosed troubles in its ranks. The Conservative members do not like the government's attitude toward the banks. They think that there should have been government inspection provided for the banks. They said so and protested against the second reading being given without thorough discussion.

It is understood that twenty of them declare the bill will not go through until the government has carried out its promise to make good the losses sustained by depositors and shareholders of the Farmers' Bank. Sam. Sharp, of North Ontario, spoke for them and said the bill could not become law until considerably modified and improved.

The announcement was badly received by Finance Minister White, who was disposed to be querulous. Mr. Sharp said the banking business of Canada had become a great trust and needed to be controlled and government inspection should be the beginning.

MANY INDICTED FOR ARSON IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 21--Competition has hurt the arson business in New York. The grand jury which already has indicted several property owners and insurance adjusters, alleged to be members of the so-called "arson trust" learned today that a large group of independent operators was responsible for nearly as many fires as the "trust" itself.

Isidor Stein, "Izzy the Painter," who has been the chief source of information regarding recent incendiaryism here, promised today to give the district attorney the names of the principal "independents." Abram Schlichter, one of these indicted entered a plea of guilty today. He begged for mercy and promised to tell the names of thirty persons not yet arrested who had allowed members of the "trust" to set fires in their buildings and received part of the proceeds.

Notwithstanding the quick justice, a large and excited crowd gathered in the streets near the jail after the trial was concluded and threats of lynching were heard.

Chief Dickey was killed when he with two other officers attempted to arrest Newkirk and another negro. Several citizens and officers later surrounded the building and captured Newkirk who confessed to the shooting.

SENATOR ROOT SPEAKS OUT

Former Secretary of State Denounces Attitude of the U. S.

Urges That the Panama Canal Question be Submitted to Arbitration

Washington, Jan. 21--"Shall we inform the world that the United States is false to its agreements, false to its pledged word? Shall we have it made known to the world, over that you must look out for the United States or it will get the advantage of you? That it is astute, cunning, slippery?"

With this vigorous denunciation of the attitude of this country in the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain, Senator Elihu Root closed a two hours speech in the senate today with an appeal for the submission of the Panama Canal question to arbitration or, the repeal of that section of the canal law that would give free passage to American coastwise ships. Speaking from the experience of a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, when the Panama canal zone was purchased and when over 25 arbitration treaties were made with foreign nations Senator Root delivered the most vigorous attack on the present attitude of the United States that has been heard since the Panama controversy arose.

PROSPECTS OF PEACE ARE GROWING BRIGHTER

Turkey is Now Willing to Surrender Adrianople to the Balkan Allies--The Question of Control of the Aegean Islands Will be Left to the Powers--Turkey Delaying Reply to Power's Note

London, Jan. 22--At last the announcement has been made that Turkey has definitely decided to surrender Adrianople to the Balkan States and leave the question of the Aegean Islands to the powers to settle. This will probably mean the early ratification of a treaty of peace.

Constantinople, Jan. 21--There has been a notable change in the tone of the press. The newspapers today almost unanimously declare that the Porte has no option but to bow to the wishes of Europe. They therefore advocate the immediate summoning of a national assembly to give moral support to the government in concluding peace under the best possible terms, as it would be a mistake to continue the war in opposition to the wishes of Europe.

It is said that the Turkish ambassador at St. Petersburg has notified the Porte that the Russian government is most urgent in advising Turkey to cede Adrianople and the Aegean Islands and that the Russian ambassador here has given similar counsel to Kismil Pasha, the grand vizier, adding that unless the Porte yielded Russia would be obliged to abandon her attitude of benevolent non-intervention.

CARVING OUT ALBANIA'S LIMITS

London, Jan. 22--The ambassadorial conference will begin today the discussion of the limits of the future Albania, one of the most difficult of the problems to be solved. The Serbian memorandum to the ambassadors lays claim to Scutari and Ipek for Montenegro and Pristina and Pilep for Serbia. Austria is expected to offer strong opposition to these claims.

TURKEY SPARS FOR MORE TIME

London, Jan. 21--Turkey, before presenting her reply to the joint note of the powers, wishes to obtain explanations concerning certain passages in the note. Instructions to this effect have been sent to the Turkish ambassadors accredited to the powers.

Techad Pasha, head of the Turkish peace plenipotentiaries, and Tewfik Pasha, ambassador to Great Britain, have been particularly enjoined to seek elucidation, as they are in London, where the note was prepared. Explanations are to be requested on the following points: The joint note says in the case of the prolongation of the war, the fate of Constantinople might be put in question. Does the note mean that the allies might be allowed to attack, conquer and remain in Constantinople, or does it mean that the powers themselves might control the government in the Ottoman capital.

The note speaks of "the moral, material and benevolent support of the powers." What must Turkey understand by that? How is this support to be extended, under what form and to what extent; what guarantee is there of fulfilment of this promise?

Similarly, what assurance do the powers offer for the settlement of the question of the Aegean Islands in such a manner as to exclude further menaces to the security of Turkey?

It is stated that the Turkish delegates, in endeavoring to obtain satisfactory answers to these questions, have made references to what they describe as "Europe's broken faith in failing to live up to the promise made four months ago that the status quo would not be changed, whatever the result of the war."

A distinguished diplomat, losing patience, has recommended them not to pretend to be more naive than they are, since the Turks know well that the statement of the European powers contemplated only a case in which the Ottoman arms were victorious, as in 1897, when Turkey defeated Greece, on which occasion Europe would not permit a change in the status quo.
