Was Troubled With His Heart.

HAD TO GIVE UP WORK.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitates and throbs, skips beats, and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mr. Alfred Male, Elmda, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my heart for two or three years. I thought sometimes that I would die. I went to the doctor, and he said he could not do anything for me. I had to give up work. My wife persuaded me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. The first box relieved me, so I kept on until I had taken seven boxes, and they cured me. I would not be without them on any account, as they are worth their weight in gold. I advise my friends and neighbours who are troubled with heart or nerve trouble to try them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents a box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto Ont.

STRAY TOPICS FROM LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

(Special Correspondence)

New York, April 5.—Another wave of reform has struck and completely engulfed New York City and nowhere its effect is more keenly felt than in the Tenderloin district. By order of the Mayor the licenses which permitted a large number of places where liquor is sold to keep open all night, have been revoked and the police have received strict order to see to it that all places be closed upon the stroke of one in the morning. Just what prompted the Mayor to issue this order is not known, but it is believed that he was driven to it by the numerous complaints he received concerning the vile character of certain cabaret shows. We came to the conclusion that the only way he could stop these performances without showing partiality was to treat all alike and compel all drinking places to close at one in the morning.

The case of Henry J. Klotz, who was arrested a few days ago upon the charge of having killed a woman known in the Tenderloin district as Helen Taylor, by means of a bomb which he sent to her apartment on February 3, 1912, presents an interesting psychological problem. It seems to be another case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Klotz is a draughtsman and for seventeen years he has held a position in the Topographical Bureau of the city, enjoying the absolute confidence of his superiors and friends. He was a skillful worker and faithful in attending to his duties. An investigation by the detectives is said to have established the fact that this side of Klotz's nature formed a strong contrast with the individuality he presented outside of office hours. After leaving the office Klotz was in the habit of returning to his father's home in the Bronx. There he secluded himself in an electrically guarded room, where he spent his time manufacturing bombs and infernal machines, or he slipped out of the house unseen to drink and carouse with the dissolute women of the White Light district. There he was known as "Crazy Henry" and had a large circle of acquaintances among the men and women of the under-world.

While at work in his well guarded room about a week ago a bomb with which he was experimenting, exploded and Klotz was seriously injured. He was taken to the Fordham hospital and the police began to investigate the cause of the accident. The detectives found certain evidence which made them suspect that Klotz had been responsible not only for the explosion which killed Helen Taylor, but for a number of other bomb explosions which resulted in the death or injury of several persons. Klotz was arrested at the hospital and will be carefully guarded there until he shall be able to leave that institution to go to jail.

At last the Board of Aldermen has seen fit to modify by the passage of an ordinance one of the most objectionable features of the stupid Sullivan law. The ordinance permits any reputable householder or storekeeper to keep a loaded revolver in his home or store, provided he obtain a permit to that effect from a magistrate, the police commissioner, an inspector or lieutenant. The fee for each permit is $1 and the money shall go to the Police Fund.

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch is one of the leading suffrage workers in this part of the country and has always been extremely active in agitating and proselyting for "the cause." It is a rather interesting and somewhat peculiar fact that Mrs. Blatch is a British subject. She was born from American parents at Seneca, N.Y., but married an Englishman, who is engaged in the brokerage business on Wall Street. By her marriage she became a British subject. Some time ago Mrs. Blatch applied for admission to American citizenship, but the Federal District Court decided that she could not be admitted because she is married to a British subject. So long as her husband remains true to his British allegiance Mrs. Blatch cannot recover her native citizenship. It is not expected, however, that this decision of the court will interfere with Mrs. Blatch's activity in the suffrage cause.

Justice Jaycox of the Queens County Supreme Court, evidently thinks that there is a great deal in a name. The other day an organization recently formed in Long Island City under the name of "Silent Twelve" applied for incorporation. The articles of the organization stated that it was intended to promote social intercourse and entertainment for its members. Justice Jaycox refused to grant the application upon the ground that the name of the organization "indicated some necessity for secrecy in the carrying out of its aims for promoting social intercourse and providing its members with entertainment."

The credulity and gullibility of some persons is almost beyond belief. The other day a man named Brinkman of Newark, N.J., called at police headquarters and asked for the arrest of Arthur M. Taylor, who became Brinkman's son-in-law about six months ago. It seems that Taylor, who is only twenty-three years old, has been posing as a lawyer, although, as a matter of fact his name is not to be found in any bar directory. A short time ago Taylor asked his father-in-law for a loan of $400. He explained that he intended to go to Washington to meet the "head judge" and buy a judgeship in New Jersey with the money. Brinkman hesitated at first, but finally gave up the money, after Taylor had given to him as "collateral security" for the loan a document, purporting to be Taylor's will and in which Taylor devised to his wife a ranch of 950 acres in Apache County, Arizona, and an alleged deposit of $5000 in the First National Bank of Apache Township. With the $400 in his pocket Taylor departed and has not been seen since then. The deal for the judgeship has probably not yet been closed.

A woman residing in Montclair, N. J., sent a letter to Mayor Hineck of that town, to issue an order requiring all the cats in the town to be muzzled. The writer of the letter stated that the nightly serenades by the cats in her vicinity were extremely annoying and interfered with her sleep. She did not state how the muzzling should be done so as to interfere with the vocal efforts of the cats. Mayor Hineck does not consider the scheme suggested by the writer of the letter practical unless some inventor should come forward with a muzzle having a sort of Maxim silencer attached to it.
