BORDEN'S ALLIES

Here is what Mr. Bourassa says in LeDevoir, over his own signature, of the role played in 1911 by such supporters of Mr. Borden as L. P. Pelletier, Blondin, Lesperance, Bergeron, Levalley, Lamarche, Rainville, etc:

"Needless to add that in all the electoral divisions left by the Conservatives to Mr. Monk and to the autonomist party, the candidates accepted the program and the order of the day. Some of them styled themselves 'autonomists,' others 'independents,' hardly one giving himself out as a Nationalist and not one as a Conservative.

"And all loudly called for speeches from Laverne or from me in their divisions.

"Not satisfied with the splendid meeting at Grand Mere in 1910 and the inauguration of the campaign at Three Rivers in May, 1911, he urgently asked me to hold another meeting in his county.

"Mr. Lesperance, who was benefiting by all Laverne's popularity, made it a reproach to me as a quasi desertion of the impossibility of my going to Montmagny to speak in his favor, he, the first of the Nationalists.

"Mr. Nantel solicited a letter over my own signature, attesting his sincerity and his independence.

"Mr. Bergeron wrote, assuring me that he entirely shared my views on the naval question.

"Young Lavallee, previously a Liberal, wrote me that the Nationalist seed sown in Bellechasse in 1905, was beginning to rise and that he undertook to gather the crop.

"In Bagot and Nicolet, the organizers of the autonomist party set aside the candidature of one of the most honorable Conservatives of the province, Hon. T. O. Casgrain, to make way for the Nationalist nominations of Mr. T. Marcil and Mr. P. E. Lamarche.

"But the proceedings and professions of faith of Messrs. Rainville and L. P. Pelletier were the most touching of all.

"I had already made a speech at Vercheres in favor of Rainville, who, meeting Laverne later in Le Devoir office, besought him with tears in his eyes to hold another meeting there, telling him that he was the only sincere member of the gang and that it was vital to have him elected and in the House to prevent them from betraying them all.

"Mr. Pelletier, the candidate 'independent of both parties,' but looking to Laverne as his leader, called with desperate cries through the telephone: 'Tell Bourassa that it is on my knees that I supplicate him to come and speak in my favor at Charlesbourg.' Yes, on his knees!"

Three of the men whom Mr. Bourassa assisted in electing in Quebec were given portfolios in the Borden cabinet and another was made deputy speaker of the House of Commons. They all cast their votes in favor of gag rule when the Naval Bill was before the House.

SOMETHING NEW

The following from the Montreal Witness will no doubt be read with considerable interest in this section:

"During the reciprocity campaign we were told with the utmost confidence by the opponents to reciprocity that Canada should reject it, and then the United States would better the conditions by giving Canada all the free entry that she would get from the acceptance of reciprocity without Canada giving to the United States anything in the way of free entry in return. To them such a one-sided arrangement seemed greatly preferable, though those who believe in the destruction of the artificial trade barrier between the two countries could not agree with them. The latest despatches from the United States indicate that the hope of the Conservatives was ungrounded. It is now said to be the intention of the Senate to write the United States side of the reciprocity agreement on agricultural products into their new tariff bill, and leave it open to Canada to at any time accept or reject any part of it or the whole. The proposal, as at present formulated, and that in future Canada can procure free entry for her grain into the United States by simply taking the duty off grain entering Canada that she can procure free entry of meat entering the United States by taking the duty off meat entering Canada, or that she can secure the free entry of other farm products by taking off the duty on the same entering our country. Should this new suggestion meet with favor, and be embodied in the bill, as enacted, reciprocity will again will be a prominent issue in our next election."

We are told by the Tory press that Hon. George E. Foster is doing great work in promoting closer trade relations with the Australian Colonies. During the Federal Campaign of two years ago Tory barnstormers went about the county of York urging the people to vote against reciprocity on the ground that the "home market" would be swamped with Australian mutton and butter. Now we have Mr. Foster in the anti-podes endeavoring to arrange for the admission of Australian farm produce into Canada on reciprocal terms. With the Tories it is anything to humbug the people.

The Flemming government's ready-made farm policy is likely to prove a good thing for Fredericton. Already it has enabled several York County farmers to sell their farms at higher prices than they ever expected to get and take up their residence in the city. These men will probably be heard from at the next civic election.

Had Mr. O. S. Crocket, M. P. been taken into the cabinet two years ago we might not have got the new post office, and we certainly would not have landed that new iron fence now being erected on the military property.

Hon. George Wyndham, secretary for Ireland in the Balfour Cabinet, is dead at the age of fifty years. He was the handsomest man in the public life of the old country and was one of the greatest orators of the Conservative party.

Mr. O. S. Crocket, M. P., does not appear to be in the running for a judgeship just now. But then he has become accustomed to being turned down.

The Tories have not been in power at Ottawa two years, but already the country is suffering from financial depression.

Has the Flemming immigration policy made you rich?

J. K. PINDER

Mr. Pinder's dwelling and barns and also his new saw-mill, which is some distance from the old structure escaped destruction, although the dwelling was on fire several times. Some two and a half million feet of lumber in the stream escaped damage. Both of the burned mills were well equipped with machinery, all of which will be a total loss. The fire loss is partially covered by insurance.

A report was in circulation that the fire had been set by a locomotive on the Southampton Railway, but this is denied.

IN GOOD COMPANY

Some local parties who have been badly stung in the stock market during the past few weeks, especially holders of C.P.R. stock will find some consolation in the fact that His Majesty King George is in the same box. He is reported to have lost $100,000 on C.P.R. He purchased the stock contrary to the advice of his financial adviser. A local professional man, who does business on Queen dropped the price of an automobile on stocks during the past fortnight.

MR. CARVELL HERE

Mr. F. B. Carvell, the sturdy Liberal representative for Carleton in the House of Commons is in the city attending the supreme court. He is looking exceedingly well and is receiving hearty congratulations on the magnificent fight he put up in Parliament last session for the rights of the people. Mr. Carleton was in the firing line during the entire session and gave the enemy no quarter and asked for none. Speaking of the naval bill he says that the Liberals would like very much to have an election on that issue, but are not very hopeful just now of having their wishes gratified.

Mr. Reuben Hoben, a well known farmer of Burton, is in the city today.

DISTRESS BEFORE MEALS

Was Seldom Free From That Weary
Droopy, Half Dead
Feeling

Now Cured and Gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic
Tendencies

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour and always after eating there was pain and fulness and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do and I can say that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butter-nut. 25c. per box or five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from the Catarthozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.
