SUFFRAGETTES TO HIKE TO THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Petticoat Brigade Under Command of General Gardiner Will Start From New York Tomorrow--Sympathizers Will Escort Them to Jersey City--Expect to Reach Washington in Time to Participate in Big Parade on Inauguration Day

New York, Feb. 11--Feverish activity prevailed today at the headquarters of the New York Woman's Suffrage Association. Hundreds of visitors had to be received and the telephone wires were kept hot answering questions of those who desired information concerning the details of tomorrow's great event, the start of the petticoat brigade under the command of "General" Rosalie Gardiner Jones, for the front, meaning Washington, D.C., where the national struggle for suffrage will be inaugurated with a monster demonstration on the day before inauguration day.

For many weeks the "hike" of the New York and New England contingent of the suffrage army from this city to Washington, D.C., formed the all-absorbing subject of conversation in suffrage circles. It was believed that in view of the success of the pilgrimage to Albany a short time ago, a large number of suffrage enthusiasts would feel encouraged to take part in the march to the national capital, but the enthusiasm of the suffragettes had evidently been over-estimated. Although the start

TORY POLITICIANS ARE OUT FOR SALARY GRABS

To the Editor of the Telegraph.

Sir,—Newspaper despatches from both Ottawa and Fredericton suggest that our representatives in both houses are thinking of raising their salaries. How convenient it is to be able to raise one's own salary! The high cost of living has affected them too and the cabinet ministers are playing poverty on $7,000 a year besides their sessional pay of $2,500 and their allowance of some hundreds for "typewriting" and their mileage which in the case of some members amounts to hundreds more, while every man of them can travel on any railway or steamboat line in all Canada without paying a cent. They are sent house of commons passes when elected and they or their friends use them with diligence, in session or out of session, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. Their wives can go along too if they want them and take the trouble to ask the railway companies for a pass.

Only a few years ago the federal representatives received $1,500 sessional pay, without any "typewriting" allowance, and the local members thought that the honor of being an M.P.P. and $300 were enough for them. They too had their pickings—traveling expenses, "postage allowance," "telegraphic assistance"—but they were kept within reasonable bounds. Today the M.P.'s at Ottawa get $2,500 and enough beside to make it well over $3000 for four or five months attendance while

TOM O'ROURKE THE NEW YORK PUGILIST

London, Feb. 11--Tom O'Rourke, the New York promoter of pugilistic and other sporting contests, was on hand today when his case of alleged libel against Boxing, a leading London sporting paper was called for trial. O'Rourke claims heavy damages from the paper as a result of statements it has printed from time to time charging him with discreditable practices in connection with various big boxing contests promoted or managed by him in the United States. In the Sharkey-Corbett match in New York, the Walcott-Lavigne bout in San Francisco and in a number of other big fights Boxing charges O'Rourke with having made money by sacrificing persons for whom he was acting and betting on the other side. The case is attracting considerable interest in sporting circles.

QUIETER IN MEXICO NOW

Negotiations For Peace are Said to be in Progress

General Diaz is Gradually Widening His Zone of Control--Many Rumors Afloat

Mexico City, Feb. 10--General Felix Diaz whose bold stroke Sunday almost overthrew the Madero administration, held his army in leash today. Nor did the scattered government forces dare to attack him in his fortified positions in and about the arsenal. Still hoping that he might attain complete control without further loss of life or destruction of property, General Diaz surprised the capital by refraining from turning his heavy guns upon the National Palace.

The general's position has not been materially altered since yesterday although of Blanquet's soldiers not more than 500 have arrived and a small detachment of rurales have fallen into the city.

The forces of General Diaz were got materially augmented either, but the proximity of Zapitasti and the promised early arrival of rebels from the state of Vera Cruz under Guadalupe de La Llave appear to have strengthened his hand.

Although almost incomprehensible, it has been impossible for the residents of the capital to ascertain the truth regarding the movement of a general whom the government expects to come to the aid of General Huerta, the newly appointed post commander. Officially it has been announced that Both General Blanquet and General Angeles are in the city but this is denied in quarters equally as trustworthy. No one has been found who has actually seen these generals and their failure to appear in public is taken by many as an indication that either they cannot get here or are unwilling to fight.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ON

That peace negotiations official and otherwise were in progress today became known early but owing to the secrecy enveloping them few outside the principals knew the details. Excellent order prevails throughout the city, despite the absence of police.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH AWAITED WITH INTEREST

New York, Feb. 11--Politicians of all parties are awaiting with keen interest the speech to be delivered by Colonel Roosevelt at the Lincoln birthday dinner to be given at the Hotel Astor tomorrow night under the auspices of the National Progressive Club. Colonel Roosevelt, it is understood, intends to make some stirring remarks that will be in the nature of a reply to President Taft's speech at the Republican rehabilitation banquet held recently in this city.

Other speakers at the banquet tomorrow night will be former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, ex-Congressman A. Bourke Cockran, and Oscar S. Straus, the Progressive candidate for governor of New York last fall. Women are to be admitted to the banquet on an equal footing with the men. They will be given seats at the festal board instead of being relegated to the gallery, as at most gatherings of the kind. Furthermore, there is to be a woman speaker on the program, Miss Mary Antin, the Russian Jewish author, whose recent book, "The Promised Land," created a sensation.

PATHS OF GLORY LEAD BUT TO THE GRAVE

Robert Scott Noted English Explorer and His Companions Perished From Hunger After a Triumphant Dash to the South Pole--Bodies Were Discovered in a Tent by a Searching Party--Scott's Last Message of a Most Pathetic Nature--Diary Shows He Was Gassed to the Last Christ Church, New Zealand, Feb. 10--The Terra Nova arrived at Cape Evans on Jan. 18 of this year and obtained the following information from a shore party there: Captain Scott reached the South Pole on Jan. 18, 1912. He found Amundson's tent and records. On the return journey the whole southern party perished.

Scott, Wilson and Bowers died from exposure during a blizzard about March 29, 1912. Their last camp was about eleven miles south of One Ton depot, or 155 miles from the hut at Cape Evans.

Oates died from exposure March 17.

Seaman Edgar Evans died from concussion of the brain Feb. 17.

The health of the remainder of the expedition is excellent including Lieut. Campbell's party who wintered at Terra Nova Bay. The history of the expedition is as follows:

Before the Terra Nova left for New Zealand last March, Surgeon Atkinson who had been left in charge of the western party until Scott's return, despatched Garrard and Demetri, with two dog teams to assist the southern party whose return to Hut Point was expected about March 10, 1912. Atkinson would have accompanied this party but was kept back in medical charge of Lieut. Evans, the second in command who it will be remembered nearly died of scurvy.

RELIEF PARTY FORCED TO RETURN.

This relief party reached One Ton depot March 3, but was compelled to return March 10 owing primarily to the dog food running short, also to the persistent bad weather and poor condition of the dogs after the strain of a hard season's work. The dog teams returned to Hut Point March 16. The poor animals were mostly frost-bitten and incapable of further work.

Garrard collapsed through an overstrained heart. His companion was also sick and it was impossible to communicate with Cape Evans, the ship having left March 4, and the open sea was lying between Atkinson and Keohane.

The only men left sledged out to the Corner Camp to render any help that might be wanted by the southern party. They fought their way out to the Corner Camp against the unusually severe weather and realizing they could be of no assistance, were forced to return to Hut Point after depositing one week's provisions.

In April when communication with Cape Evans was established, a gallant attempt to relieve Lieut. Campbell was made by Atkinson, Wright, Williamson and Keohane. This party reached Hut Point when they were stopped by open water. Their return was exciting and nearly ended in disaster owing to the sea ice breaking up.

A search party left Cape Evans after the winter on October 30 last. The party which was organized by Surgeon Atkinson consisted of two divisions, Atkinson taking the dog teams with Garrard and Demetri and Mr. Wright in charge of a party including Nelson, Gran, Lashley, Hooper, Williamson, Keohane and Green, with seven Indian mules. They were provisioned for three months as they expected an extended search. One Ton camp was found in order and all provisioned.

FOUND BODIES

Proceeding along the old southern route, on November 12, Wright's party sighted Scott's tent. Within it were found the bodies of Capt. R. Scott, Royal Navy; Dr. E. A. Wilson, chief of scientific staff, and Lieut. H. R. Bowers, Royal Indian Marine.

From their records the following information was gleaned: The first death was that of Seaman Edgar Evans, petty officer of the royal navy, official number 160,225, who died on Feb. 17 at the foot of the Beardmore glacier. His death was accelerated by concussion of the brain, sustained while traveling over rough ice some time before.

Captain L. E. G. Gates, 6th Enniskilling Dragoons, was the next lost. His feet and hands were badly frost bitten.

(1) The loss of the pony transport in March, 1911, obliged me to start later than I had intended and obliged the limits of stuff transported to be narrowed.

(2) The weather throughout the outward journey and especially the long gale in E degrees south, stopped us.

(3) The soft snow in the lower reaches of the glacier again reduced the pace. We fought these untoward events with a will and conquered, but it ate into our provisions reserve. Every detail of our food supplies, clothing and depots made on the interior ice-sheet and on that long stretch of 700 miles to the pole and back, worked out to perfection.

LOST THEIR MAIN STAY.

The advance party would have returned to the glacier in fine form with surplus of food but for the astonishing failure of the man whom we had least expected to fail. Seaman Edgar Evans was thought the strongest man of the party and Beardmore Glacier is not difficult in fine weather. But on our return we did not get a single complete fine day. This with a sick companion enormously increased our anxieties. I have said elsewhere we got into frightfully rough ice and Edgar Evans received a concussion of the brain. He died a natural death but left us a shaken party with the season unduly advanced.

"But all the facts above enumerated were as nothing to the surprise which awaited us on the barrier. I maintain that our arrangements for returning were quite adequate and that no one in the world would have expected the temperatures and surfaces which we encountered at this year. On the summit in latitude 85 degrees to 86 degrees, we had minus twenty to minus thirty. On the barrier in latitude 82 degrees, 10,000 feet lower, we had minus thirty in the day and minus forty-seven at
