A HAPPY LAUGHING CHILD IN FEW HOURS

If Cross, or Feverish, Tongue Coated Or Sick, Give "Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means that the little one's stomach and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poisons and foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little waste-dogged bowels without nausea, griping or weakness and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Exlixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

"JAMES BOYS' LOOT" STARTS GOLD RUSH

Vinita, Okla., Feb. 10—Gold diggers are at work in all parts of North-eastern Oklahoma, following the report that George Hartsock, son of "Uncle Tom" Hartsock of Vinita, had unearthed $37,500, mostly in gold, while excavating for an oil pipe line, six miles south of the town of Nowata.

The money is said to be in a Nowata bank, pending the settlement of the dispute as to ownership. Under the laws of Oklahoma, the person on whose land buried treasure is found is the chief owner. Hartsock's share would be about $7,000.

The latest information about the "find" comes from Memphis, Tennessee, where a man calling himself "Kit" Dalton is allowed to tell what he knows about the matter.

Dalton is described as having long white hair, to be seventy-eight years old and to have lived in Memphis for the last ten years. Alabama was his home before the Civil War. Dalton is sure that the $37,500 is part of $70,000 taken by the James gang in Missouri Pacific train robbery, in 1881, near Moscreet, a town that has been abandoned.

"The robbery was made one night in October," said Dalton. "The gang was led by Jesse James and with him were Dick Little, Jim Cummings, Jim Collins and four others. Collins and Little boarded the blind at a water tank just west of Moscreet."

"When the train had passed the station they climbed over the water tender, pointed two revolvers at the engineer and fireman, compelled them to uncouple the engine from the train and halt it two hundred yards up the track."

"Jesse James and one other whose name I will not mention, for he is living, entered the express car, overpowered the messenger and compelled him to open the safe."

"They got nearly $70,000, most of it being $20 gold pieces, such as were found in the swag dug up in Oklahoma, considerable in silver and the balance in greenbacks. They escaped to a ravine, where the loot was to be divided. Deputies and a posse began pressing them so hard that they separated to meet at an Indian camp near Claremont, I.T. United States marshals got wind of their whereabouts and began to surround them."

"The silver and gold was so heavy it was troublesome and as all had to get away quick, Jesse James buried the money near a big tree. The balance was taken to a place on the bank of Little Blue River, Jackson County, Missouri. Some of the gang returned to Indian Territory after the swag but the markers had been removed and as it was not safe to dig around there much, they gave it up."

"Strange to say, that money hidden in Jackson County, Missouri, was also lost."

In car lots, 70c. to 75c., and Quebec grades at 65c. to 70c. per bag, and in a jobbing way at 90c. to $1 per bag.

MANY PERILS ATTACHED TO POLAR EXPLORATIONS

The following are the principal tragedies connected with Polar exploration:

After two attempts to discover a northeast passage, Henry Hudson undertook a third voyage in 1609 from Amsterdam, at the expense of the Dutch East India Company. Giving up all hope of finding a northeast passage, he sailed for Davis Strait, then steered southward in search of a passage, discovered the mouth of the river which bears his name and sailed up the water for 150 miles.

He sailed upon his last voyage in April, 1610, in the Discoverie, of 70 tons, and reached Greenland in June. Steering westward he discovered the strait, now known as Hudson Strait, and passed through it and entered the great bay, which has received the name of Hudson Bay.

The food fell short and the men, dissatisfied with Hudson's determination to continue the voyage, mutinied and cast him adrift in a shallop with eight others, on Midsummer Day, 1711. The real ring-leaders perished miserably in a scuffle with savages and the survivors, after great suffering, reached England.

Sir John Franklin commanded an expedition for the discovery of the northwest passage. The expedition, consisting of the Erebus and Terror, with 134 chosen officers and men, sailed from Greenhithe on May 19, 1845, and was last seen on the following July 26, by a whaler in Baffin Bay, in 74.48.

No tidings of the expedition having reached England, as many as fifteen expeditions were despatched between 1848 and 1851 by England and America with the object of rescuing or at least finding traces of the missing explorers.

An addendum in the handwriting of Captain Fitzjames, dated April 25, 1848, briefly narrated that the Erebus and Terror were deserted on April 22, and that the officers and crews, 105 souls, under Captain Crozier, landed in 69 deg. 37 min., and that Sir J. Franklin died June 11, 1846. Although many relics of the ships were found in the possession of the Eskimo, the crews were never heard from.

Charles Francis Hall made two Arctic search expeditions, in 1860-62, 1864-79, living alone among the Eskimos and bringing back some relics, and the bones of one of Franklin's company. In 1871 he sailed in command of the government ship Polar in an expedition to the north pole.

He took his vessel for two hundred and fifty miles up the channel, leading from Smith's Sound, and on the 29th of August was in latitude 82.16 north, at that date the highest northern latitude ever reached; then turning southward, he went into winter quarters at Thank God Harbor, Greenland. Here, on his return from a sledge expedition to the north, he was taken suddenly ill and died November 8, 1871.

Sir John Ross made his first expedition to the Arctic region in 1818 to explore Baffin Bay and attempt a northwest passage. In May, 1829, Ross commanded another expedition to the Arctic region and discovered the peninsula of Boothia Felix. Ross made another voyage to the Polar regions—an unsuccessful attempt to find Sir John Franklin, in 1850.

Sir Robert John Le Mesurier McClure served in Bock's Arctic expedition in 1836, and Ross's Franklin expedition in 1848. As commander of another Franklin expedition, 1850-54, he passed in a sled from Barrow Strait, where his ship, the Investigator, lay, to Melville Sound, connecting with the Arctic Ocean to the west. He was rescued by another expedition.

Adolphus Washington Greely was selected to conduct the American expedition to the head of Smith Sound in 1881. Greely and the survivors of his party were rescued in June, 1883, when at the point of perishing from starvation, after spending their winters in the Arctic north.

Their sufferings were so extreme that some of the party had even been reduced to eating the bodies of the dead.

EXPEDITION SUB-DIVIDED INTO PARTIES OF FOUR.

London, Feb. 10—Captain Scott's main travelling party was to consist of sixteen men besides himself, while batches of four men each were to return at different stages of the journey, leaving Scott four others to complete the final dash to the pole. This would indicate that some of the members of the party who had been left at the various bases were not included among the victims of the disaster, and that it was they who communicated to the world the fate of the expedition.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE SOUTH POLE.

The south pole is situated on an antarctic continent larger than the United States and with an area of 5,000,000 miles.

The pole is on a tableland about 10,000 feet above sea level.

The great ice barrier is a glacier 700 miles wide and hundreds of miles broad in places, it varies from 100 to 300 feet in height.

The breaking off of portions of this ice barrier each summer produces the greatest crop of icebergs in the world.

NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR A SOUR STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Stops Fermentation and Makes Your Upset Stomach Feel Fine In Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

lava within the circle of eternal ice. It is probable that the south pole itself is buried under ice 5,000 feet thick.

Vegetation in the antarctic continent consists entirely of moss; the land animal is limited to a species of wingless insect very primitive in form.

The only human beings in the antarctic continent are explorers, no traces of native inhabitants have ever been discovered.

Penguins, great, awkward birds, exist along the coast in some parts. There is little snow on the lower plateau, necessitating explorers carrying tents; the surface is smooth ice.

Deep crevices in the Beardmore glacier render travel up it perilous. Scientists claim that centuries ago the south pole was a tropical region filled with plant and animal life.

They also maintain that the pole is never at the same place for two consecutive years, that the earth wobbles around considerable each twelve months.

CAPT. AMUNDSEN'S TRIBUTE.

Captain Amundsen, who led in the race to the pole against Captain Scott and other competitors, paid a glowing tribute to Captain Scott in the address he recently made here before the National Geographic Society. (Continued on page two.)
