FLORENCE FAIRBANKS ON FADS AND FASHION

New York, March 8.—The same variety of styles which may be found in sleeves, girdles and ashes, may also be found in neck arrangements at the present time. It is true that the high collar is much less popular than the open neck, even in gowns for the street, but in a few of the latest models there is a collar of uncompromising severity.

Open necks may be round, square or V-shaped. With them are wide, flat collars of embroidered linen covering the shoulders, high Medical collars of lace, narrow frilled ruffs, collars of Bulgarian embroidery, round collars of lace that lie in careless folds, or a collar which continues into a reverse, curving to and in a point at one side of the begins at the right side of the neck waist line. In one case the collar which is open in front, goes around the back, and hangs like a stole at the left side of the front.

Brocaded sleeves, different in both color and material from the rest of the costume, are shown in several models. A costume of silk brocade in the shade gown as mie de pan or bras crumb, has sleeves of silk cashmere of another brocade design in several tones of Oriental blue. In all cases these contrasting sleeves are loose. The material of the waist itself continues without a seam down a third of the way from the shoulder to the elbow, the brocade sleeve emerging from under this abortive beginning. A costume of soft tan cashmere has not only the sleeves but also a sort of vest, very loose and open, of crepe brocade in tan and dull green. Another gown, in case of white silk crepe has the sleeves of white foulard, with a printed pattern in Chinese blue.

The artificial flowers which have been so universally worn are now climbing to a higher position, being placed in many instances quite above the line of the bust. Another detail of change is found in the wrist frills which no longer wander up the of the sleeves.

On hearing a great deal of talk about the "Balkan colors," but the phrase seems to be used with a latitude which embraces almost any group of contrasting shades. The Balkan colors are really the primary red, green, blue and yellow. But they are not the most violent shades of those colors. In every case the tone is subdued on a characteristic fashion. The red is a sort of brick red, not an ugly rick but a soft warm shade. The blue and the green are dull ones, but, nevertheless, not lifeless. The yellow is the least modified, but, it too, has lost its edge. With these colors, black is almost always present more or less conspicuously.

A cotton stuff known as brocade is one of the newest wrinkles of fashion and will make attractive tailored suits for late spring models. The material is dainty and pretty, yet looks just what it is, cotton imitation. The brocade for winter, in spite of their softness of finish, have a complete success. However, this cotton counterfeit may look well in bright and warmer weather.

The newest cream white blouses are more plain than ever. The prettiest are tulle Valenciennes, or a kind of soft point d'esprit with figures like those in the valenciennes design. One blouse of this material fullness except in the back, where has not the slightest trimming or there is a tiny bit to cover the opening and make look like a narrow plait. The entire thing is made in one piece, the sole garnish being little button studs of black velvet rows at the throat, both back and front, and on the wrists. The neck is cut low and round, with cording of the lace in three rows. A noticeable feature of this blouse consists of the sleeves made all in one piece with no extensions whatever. It is as though the entire thing had been moulded together.

The idea of long lines and simplicity of decoration of skirts and blouses is repeated in hats and coiffures. Never were heads arranged more severely or more becomingly. And the little hats that pose themselves so prettily, only carry out the idea that beauty unadorned is most adorned.

Hats of dark colored straw are bound with braids of straw, silk or cotton in bright colors. One kind which will probably be much as the season advances is of fine straw in red, green and brown, woven in the form of vine-like stems with bright colored blossoms.

A new silk waist shows a long sleeve reaching well over the hand with a row of small glass buttons in the coloring of the silk reaching from hand up sleeve seam for three inches. Above this a frill of lace is fastened in the sleeve seam for another three inches. This arrangement had the advantage of keeping the frill out of harm.

A negligee of crepe de chine in oyster white made with a long point in back and two long points in front which reach almost to the hem of the petticoat is embroidered with big butterflies worked in gray, blue, tan, green and pink floss in lovely dull shades. The dreamy restfulness which this negligee suggests is refreshing.

Not very long ago it was said that the magpie effects—combinations in black and white—were not to continue in fashion; but the spring showing in shoes, panosols, neckwear, street suits, house frocks, shirt waists, blouses and even stockings contains more combinations of black and white than ever.

An effective use of the two colors is made in a collar, vest and cuff set of chiffon. The chiffon is arranged in bias folds, first a fold of white, then one of black, crossing each other diagonally in the middle of the vest, at the back of the collar and at the side of the cuff. The result is a striped effect, but the black stripes are softened by the edge of white stripes which extends under them and the white stripes are made less startling by the black under them.

Black and white gloves seem to have established their claim to consideration. Black gloves stitched, buttoned and cuffed with white, and black pippings, stitchings, buttons and cuffs on white gloves are found in all the shops.

Black and white combinations, although extensively seen, must yet be used with care. Black worn by itself and white worn alone are not giddy, but the combination is always striking, sometimes appallingly so, and it must be made in nice proportion to be in good taste.

Cut brocade velvet and heavy silk plush with silver filigree fastenings made handsome bags for the middle-aged woman. They are capacious enough to holdkerchief, eyeglasses or coin purse and other small articles.

Silk and plush purses, something like the reticules carried by women a generation or two ago, purses about ten inches long and three inches wide, with a clasp at each end and a steel ring in the center to slip over the finger, are especially convenient to carry in the muff.

Leather bags frequently have handles of silk cords and velvet and chenille cords. A new handle is made of black taffeta silk shirred over heavy cord.

STRENGTH

WITHOUT OVERLOADING THE STOMACH

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand. He can't be alert, with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Western business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.

He writes: "For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing, indigestion and kindred ailments."

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts."

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet."

"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, is delicious as the cereal part of the morning meal, and invigorates me for the day's work." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

LAWYER WASN'T A DENTIST

One dull day in a law office in a small Kansas town the lawyer and his assistants were much surprised to see entering the door a man with a badly swollen face tied up in a big handkerchief. Before saying anything he sank wearily into a chair. Scenting an assault and battery case and perhaps a damage suit, the lawyer briskly inquired what he could do for the weary one and the answer he received was:

"Say, is this the place where you pull teeth?"

"No," replied the lawyer. "We sometimes help people to cut their teeth but we never pull them."—Kansas City Star.

WANT RECEIVER FOR PAPER BAG CO

Trenton, N. J., March 8.—The petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Union Bag and Paper Company, a New Jersey corporation capitalized at $27,000,000 and having branches in various parts of the United States and Canada, came up for hearing today in the Court of Chancery. The application was made by several stockholders and is based upon allegations of mismanagement on the part of the present officers and directors of the concern.

There are several organizations of church people in this city who make spasmodic efforts from time to time to stop all Sunday entertainments at the theatres. Every time one of these societies has one of these periodic attacks of Sabbatarianism, the police authorities respond by closing up some of the vaudeville houses. Lately there has been a tacit understanding that all singing and talking acts provided the performers did their act in ordinary costume, would be permitted and only costume plays, dancing and acrobatics would be barred on Sundays. It is not quite clear upon what reasonable ground this distinction is made, but it is made and the various vaudeville houses are finding it quite difficult to find enough singing performers for their regular Sunday bills.

I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove That You Are Curable

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to go to the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will not send you a so-called "sample, proof or test treatment," nor will I send you a package of medicine and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is intended, as it is not a "cure-all," and I give herewith some of the leading symptoms of kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles. If you notice one or more of these symptoms you need this medicine, and I will be glad to send you some of it if you will write me the numbers of the symptoms you have, give your age, and your name and address. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 40 Franklin Building, Toronto, Ont. You promise me nothing; you pay me nothing for it. All I ask, so there shall be no mistake, is that you send me the numbers of your symptoms or a description in your own words, and that you take the medicine according to the directions I send you. It is my way of getting publicity for my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they work in harmony with the bladder. It strengthens the bladder so that frequent desire to urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatic aches and pains immediately. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints quickly straighten out. It reconstructs the blood and nerves so that you soon feel healthier and more vigorous, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout the day. It does all this, and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely vouched for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider no expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All any fair-minded afflicted person wants to know is if a certain thing will cure HIM or HER, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or important loss of time. THESE FEW DAYS may be the turning point in your life.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who will send medicine to anyone free of charge

All who are interested enough to write me for the free medicine will also receive a copy of my large illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write you a letter of diagnosis and medical advice that should be of great help to you; but in order to do this I must know that you need my medicine. Write me the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promises. Show an inclination to be cured and you will be.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1—Pain in the back.
- 2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
- 4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
