CALIFORNIA MILLIONAIRE FACES WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

Sensational Developments Promised at the Trial of George D. Bixby at Los Angeles Next Week---His Arrest and Indictment Came as the Result of a Police Raid on an Apartment House---Bixby was a Heavy Spender at the Resort

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19—Highly sensational stories concerning the alleged systematic pursuit of young girls by men of wealth and social prominence are promised at the trial of George H. Bixby, here next week. Bixby, a millionaire banker residing with his family in a palatial home at Long Beach, is to be tried on an indictment charging him with aiding the delinquency of two minor girls. Bixby's arrest came as a sequel to a police raid on "The Jonquil," an apartment house which the police declare was a resort of the worst character, despite its outward respectable appearance and the luxury of its interior furnishings. The place was run by Mrs. Josie Rosenberg, against whom two indictments were returned on charges of pandering. The raid on "The Jonquil," and the arrest of Mrs. Rosenberg led to a week's inquiry by the grand jury into allegations that wealthy men had an organized system of ensnaring young women and girls for immoral purposes. The indictment of Millionaire Bixby was the direct result of this inquiry. The evidence on which the indictments were based was furnished chiefly by Kitty Phillips, a youthful motion picture actress, and Marie Brown-Levy, a young woman still in her teens. According to the stories told by the girls Bixby was known at the apartments of Mrs. Rosenberg as "the Black Pearl." He is said to have been the heaviest spender at the resort, frequently distributing bills of large denomination among the young women whom he is said to have met there by introduction of Mrs. Rosenberg. Though Bixby is said to have been the best known patron of "The Jonquil," it is declared that he was only one of a large number of men of wealth and prominence in society who were frequent visitors at the place.

THE BALKAN SITUATION

Bulgaria Now Trying to Obtain Peace Terms From Roumania

Greek Troops Are Charged With Cannonading a Red Cross Hospital

London, July 18—Except for a report coming by way of Paris that a battle is progressing between the Roumanians and Bulgarians at Belogradchik, sixty-five miles northwest of Sofia, which was not mentioned today in direct despatches received from Bucharest, the general situation in the Balkans remains unchanged.

Bulgaria now is seeking, through Italy, to obtain peace terms from Roumania, but no progress appears to have been made toward peace negotiations, and all of the three of her enemies are closing in on Bulgaria with the apparent determination to dictate peace when their armies occupy Sofia.

Sofia, July 18—The general commanding the Bulgarian army operating against the Greeks officially charges the Greek troops with deliberately raking with their cannon fire the hospital at Demirhisar, in spite of the fact that the Red Cross was flying over the building.

A few of the hospital attendants fled, the general says, but the remainder of the nurses and all the patients were killed, a few of the sick and wounded who had managed to crawl out from the ruins being shot.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., July 19—With the exception of the proceedings in Congress, the week promises little of interest or importance in the field of politics and public affairs.

Some interest attaches to the special election to be held Tuesday in the Sixth New Jersey congressional district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Lewis J. Martin. The Republican, Democratic, Progressive and Prohibitionist parties have named candidates.

A State election will be held in Arkansas Wednesday to select a governor to succeed Governor Joseph T. Robinson, who resigned to accept election to the United States senate. The Democrats, Republicans and Progressives have named candidates. The election of the Democratic candidate, Judge George W. Hays, is generally conceded.

Pursuant to the call of Governor Cokquitt the Texas legislature will convene in special session Monday to consider and act upon various matters left over at the adjournment of the regular session. A proposition for biennial appropriations for the maintenance of the State government, an amendment to the law governing the operations of the State penitentiary system, and a law providing for the putting into effect of the constitutional amendment for the direct election of United States senators are among the subjects to receive attention.

His eminence James Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore will enter upon his eightieth year Wednesday. The birthday anniversary will be of interest not only to the people of Baltimore, but to those of the whole United States, in which he is the primate of the Roman Catholic Church.

Atlantic City will be a gathering place next week for many prominent labor leaders. Meetings will be held there by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and the heads of the several departments of the federation. There will be many questions to consider, not the least of which are the statements that have been made recently concerning the alleged activity of the labor organizations in lobbying at Washington.

Other meetings of the week will include the annual convention of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, at Milwaukee; the annual meeting of the Southern branch of the National Dental Association, at Old Point Comfort, and the first international convention of Gideons, or Christian commercial travelling men, which will be held at Toronto.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

The Fundamental Cause of Market Decline Has Been Discounted

Situation is Regarded as More Hopeful---United States Steel and Union Active

New York, July 19—While the financial situation contains many temporary factors of disturbance, such as the threatening railway strike and growing unsettlement in Mexico, it has been apparent for some time that the fundamental causes of the recent prolonged decline have been largely if not wholly discounted. These causes have not been wholly eliminated from the situation, for while improvement in banking conditions is perceptible, it has not progressed to a point which suggests an early accumulation of idle funds at the large centres, a development which is essential to a sustained recovery in stock prices. Financial readjustment of the kind now under way is a tedious process and very trying to holders of securities but standard issues are regarded as cheap by the best judges of values and it is only a question of time until this fact attains a wider recognition by investors.

Company of Representative Canadian Business Men Have Leased The Grand Central Palace for the Last Two Weeks in January---How the Stock Market Game is Worked---OldCountry Financier Had a Long Wait of It

New York, July 19—New York City now has under way in subway system construction work of the value of $81,000,000. Twenty-seven miles of this underground railway are under construction, and as nearly all of it will have four tracks, this means that about 100 miles of single track is being built. The work is being done by fourteen different contracting firms who are employing on the average daily about 6,000 men.

Here are some more figures concerning the big city. Last year New York paved a little more than 244 miles of street. In addition to the actual placing of the roadways on a permanent basis the municipal engineers have had to consider the problems connected with regulating, grading, and laying the sidewalks and curbs on streets in the newly developed sections of the city. Thus in Brooklyn alone forty miles of street were improved in this way last year. Within the city limits there are now 1,600 miles of paved thoroughfares.

A company composed of representative Canadian business men have leased the Grand Central Palace for the last two weeks of next January for the purpose of holding an All Canadian Exhibition. It is planned to have the first floor during the exhibition devoted entirely to the displays of the products of the soil and mineral wealth of the Dominion while on the second floor the business interests and various sub-divisions will have attractive booths. This is the first attempt that Canada has made to bring itself in personal contact with the New York public by ocular demonstration.

HIS FIRST LOVE

After waiting twenty-two years for word that her fiancé in America was ready to marry her, Miss Be Mann of London, England, is expected to arrive here at the end of next week, in time to be married on Aug. 3 to James Russell Ross of Islip, L. I. In the twenty-two years that Miss Mann had been waiting the word from him he married another woman, who died some time ago. Ross, while little more than a boy, living in London, became engaged to Miss Mann. Then he decided to come to America. Five years later he married a New York woman. Mrs. Ross died last January and her husband left alone, communicated with his forgotten love in London. She had never married. The long postponed wedding will take place in St. Mark's Church at Islip.

No matter how big or how bulky the tag on a hotel key is it seems impossible to prevent some persons from forgetting to leave it behind. One finds numerous instances of this every day at the hotels in New York, where in some instances a locksmith is kept busy turning out keys to replace those which patrons take away. Some of the guests are thoughtful enough to return keys to the hotel by mail, but the vast majority of those that are carried away are forever lost. Naturally one must wonder at the capacity or the architecture of a pocket which, besides a key, will hold a flat slab nearly seven inches long and an inch and a half wide so comfortably that its owner will never think of the key when he pays his bill.

TRAGEDY RECALLED

A famous tragedy of fifty years ago was brought to the minds of some old New Yorkers recently by a court proceeding involving the estate of a man who made a large fortune in the tobacco business here. The tobaccoist was employer of Mary Rogers, a beautiful girl who was killed in Sibyl Cove, near the Elysian Fields, in Hoboken. In those days "the fields" was a resort similar to Coney Island except that it was much smaller. The one hotel of the place, "The Shades," a capacious colonial mansion, is said to have been in its earlier days "the summer home of the first Astor. One night a man living near the place saw three men carrying a woman from "The Shades" over toward the Cove. The next day there was much excitement when it became known that Mary Rogers had been murdered

The police never caught the men responsible for the girl's death. The crime is likely never to be forgotten since it forms the basis of one of Edgar A. Poe's best romances.

THE STOCK GAME

Trading in stocks is an open game. Every person is privileged to sit in if he has the price. If every brokerage house in the country were to decide against accepting a certain man's account it would still be the easiest thing in the world for him to deal with the Stock Exchange. He might be an active customer for years without ever appearing at a broker's office. It is only necessary for anyone desirous of buying or selling stocks to employ an intermediary to hide his connection with the account. A man who figured very largely in some of the market movements in recent years would not be recognized if he were to enter the customers' rooms of the houses through which he has been buying and selling. A young man in his employ is down on the books as an active customer, but most of the orders are placed over the telephone by the principal, who gives his employee a name. A brokerage house became convinced some time ago that it was handling business for a prosperous bucketshop, and it started a quiet investigation. Its suspicions were partly confirmed, but the man in whose name the account stood, and who placed the orders was a reputable lawyer with a good practice and no grounds could be found for declining his business, even if the house had been anxious to on such grounds.

Two of the men who have figured most prominently in the story of David Lamar and the lobby investigation at Washington stand at the top of the list of New York lawyers who have become famous as the legal pilots of great railroad, financial industrial and other corporations. They are Lewis Cass Ledyard and Edward Lauterbach. Mr. Ledyard, as the first two-thirds of his name would indicate, is a native of Michigan. He came to New York many years ago and began the practice of law. He was successful in forming connection with some of the gigantic corporations that have been formed in the past twenty years and has found these connections very profitable. He has been a director of the Northern Pacific, "Big Four," Lake Shore, Michigan Central and nearly a score of other railroads, and has served as an official or director of the big telephone companies, the express companies and numerous banks. Mr. Lauterbach is better known as a lawyer than a financier, though he has large financial interests in many big corporations. In his law practice he has made a specialty of railroad and maritime cases and for many years he has been vice president and counsel of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.
