

BOY GIVEN UP AS DEAD BROUGHT BACK TO LIFE

James Hector a Toronto Youth Took Cramps While Bathing and Sank in Lake---Rescued by Heroic Companions and Resuscitated by Doctor and Nurses After Three Hours of Patient Work---Boy was a Member of a Sunday Excursion Party

Toronto, June 28---It seemed almost miraculous --- a return of the dead to life. Believed for some three hours to be dead, Jim Hector, a Toronto boy, living at 5 VanKoughnet street unexpectedly revived on the steamer Turbina, which was bringing him back to Toronto last night was taken home and at midnight was reported to be practically entirely recovered.

The lad owes his life twice over to the heroic young comrades who, at the risk of his own life, finally rescued him from under the water at Grimby Beach, where he had remained cramp-tied and unconscious for several minutes, and to Dr. Fairfield of Beansville, who with the assistance of two trained nurses, continued unceasingly to work over his body in efforts for resuscitation for three hours after it was believed life was extinct.

WHEN ON CHURCH PICNIC

Young Hector accompanied the excursion of the western Congregational church yesterday to Grimby Beach. Shortly before 2 o'clock in the afternoon while departing himself at bathing, he dived from a raft at a point where the water is believed to be about ten feet deep.

For several moments his young comrades waited, but the boy did not come to the surface. Then Gordon Blenkarn, a plucky youth, residing at 324 Queen street west, who is an expert swimmer, dived to the rescue. Once Blenkarn came to the surface, and immediately dived again, but nothing was yet seen of young Hector. Finally, after what the anxious watchers declare was nearly three minutes, Blenkarn again came to the surface, much exhausted, and this time clutching the inert body of Hector. Helping hands secured both youths and hurried him ashore.

Blenkarn, beyond exhaustion, was soon himself again, but no sign of life could be developed in Hector. He was carried to the auditorium at the Beach, and the services of Dr. Fairfield, who was fortunately in the vicinity, were hurriedly requisitioned. Giving directions for the sending to Hamilton for a pulmotor and trained assistance, the physician set diligently to work upon the apparently lifeless body of the lad.

Hour after hour the doctor worked, his efforts augmented by the arrival of the pulmotor and two trained nurses, but seemed to attain no result.

Although life by this time believed to be hopelessly extinct, physician and nurses continued their efforts. The boy was taken on board the steamer Turbina, leaving at 7.30 in the evening, accompanied by the indefatigable workers. On the vessel some three hours after he had been given up as the dead the first indications of revival startled and gladdened those who were still working and hoping against hope. Then progress was rapid, and ere the vessel reached Toronto consciousness had been restored. Although extremely weak, the boy's revival was assured. There were some 1500 passengers on the Turbina, but few knew the grim battle which had been waged with death. On arrival in Toronto the Elkos ambulance, which had been summoned by long-distance message to meet and remove what was expected to be a dead body received a rapidly reviving young patient in charge of a physician, two nurses and two maids and took him direct to his home on VanKoughnet street.

The Hector lad, whose remarkable experience has perhaps never before been paralleled, had his leg broken some time ago, and when he dived under the water a sudden cramp set in which tied his limbs and made him powerless. For a few moments he struggled helplessly under the water, and then lost consciousness. He never rose to the surface, and remained at the bottom till the heroic efforts of young Blenkarn located him. Blenkarn had a hard struggle to raise the unconscious youth to the surface, and was much exhausted.

The Hector boy is a son of a widow, Hector, who lives at 5 VanKoughnet street with two younger sons. When interviewed at her home at 1 o'clock this morning she stated that the boy was resting quietly and Dr. Eby, the family physician, is in attendance. The pastor and Sunday School teacher, of the lad followed to him to his home and spent a portion of the night with him. The boy who was the only member of the family at the picnic, was sleeping when the Globe representative went to his room to see him. Although still weak he it apparently now quite out of danger.

CHIEF McCOLLUM HOME FROM HALIFAX

Says That Chief Constables Convention Was Very Interesting and Instructive

Chief of Police McCollum returned this morning from the Police Chief Constables' Convention at Halifax, and reported a highly interesting session. Over sixty officers from all over the Dominion were present and the Dominion Government has considered this meeting of police officers of such merit as to donate $500 towards defraying expenses, and is making an annual grant. An exhibit of the police alarm and telegraph system was made by the Gamwell Co. of New York and Inspector Foster of the Dominion Identification Bureau gave an interesting and helpful lecture on the manner of identifying wrong-doers by way of finger-prints. Inspector Foster claimed the Canadian system far surpassed that of the United States as ours was a national concern while the efforts along the line in the United States was local and confined to the different police stations.

The proper manner of handling juvenile offenders and the suppression of the white slave traffic came in for considerable discussion.

The Chief Constable's Association purpose issuing a quarterly paper and if it is found to be a success a monthly issue will be attempted. The adverse criticism of the press in many instances was remarked on and an Ontario case cited where the incidents recently complained of were found on being thoroughly investigated to be fourteen years old and greatly exaggerated.

The Chief bore his own expenses to the convention but reports the trip the information gleaned from his talks with other police officers well worth the outlay. The next convention will be held in Winnipeg in June, 1914.

LOANS MUST BE CUT DOWN

Everything Unfavorable in Market Situation Has Been Discounted

Restoration of Normal Ratio Between Loans and Deposits Must be Accomplished--C.P.R. Week Today

New York, June 30---Last week's stock market acted in a manner to suggest that the general list was in a position to respond moderately either way to any fresh developments in the situation at large. The current events of values appears to have discounted everything unfavorable in the immediate situation and outlook, and there have been plentiful evidences that liquidation has been thorough. On the other hand banking conditions both at home and abroad have shown little or no improvement as the result of this liquidation and it is clear that permanent relief must come through other and broader channels. In other words the restoration of a normal ratio of loans to deposits must be accomplished at the expense of business contraction and this process in the past has been a rather tedious one. The settlement of the Union Pacific merger tangle and the impending enactment of a currency bill which whatever its defects, is a big improvement, over present methods have helped the situation immensely but the banks are in no position to finance a sustained upward movement in stocks, and the investment demand for stocks is still below normal. The current case of call money signifies when the time for accommodation is considered. The new currency act will allay all fear of a money panic this fall, but this act provides for emergencies only and business and financial readjustment must follow natural lines.

VETERANS AT GETTYSBURG

Program of Celebration Opened Today on Famous Battlefield

Representatives of the Blue and Grey Exchange Greetings---Thousands of Visitors on Hand

Gettysburg, Pa., June 30---This was the opening day of the preparation for the more important events to come later in the week. The formal program of the day confined to the welcome of the veterans and the exchange of greetings between the North and the South. The chief participants in the exercises were Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, Gen. Alfred B. Beers of Connecticut, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Gen. Bennett H. Young of Kentucky, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

The great army of peace is now in full possession of Gettysburg and all the surrounding country. The panorama of war is to be seen on the battlefield, but the implements of death and destruction are not there for the purpose that brought them here fifty years ago. Nevertheless, they are reminders of those bitter days when thousands of the youth of the North and the South gave up their lives for what they thought right.

Special trains arrived at intervals of every half-hour or so today and added thousands of visitors to the thousands already here. The old soldiers who had arrived Saturday and Sunday were up bright and early this morning. At daybreak almost the crowd began to move toward the battlefield. All sorts of vehicles were pressed into service to carry the visitors. The day's program included numerous events of interest, but for the most part the old soldiers preferred to wander about the battlefield, inspecting the memorials and locations of stirring incidents in which they participated half a century ago.

LARRY CONLEY JOINS THE BANGOR TEAMS

Larry Conley, outfielder, with Fredericton last year, arrived in Bangor Sunday, and joined the Bangor team replacing Lamourey who has been released. Larry batted for 322 last year and led the outfielders in fielding. Perley is out of condition and has left the Bangor Club while Mayo has been released.

There promises to be trouble over the signing of Stone by Manager Ganley as Bangor claims to have received him by the draft of last years players. J. G. Utterback and J. F. Frawley of the Bangor board of directors will come to Fredericton to take up the matter with the league executive Monday. Stone they claim was communicated with early in the season but salary arrangements could not be concluded and that he was signed by Manager Ganley of the Pets for first baseman and change catcher without any negotiations with the Bangor management.

The corporation which takes over the Wallace show is composed of capitalists in Chicago, Kansas City, Indiana, St. Paul and Davenport, Ia. At the head of the corporation is John C. Talbott, formerly a newsboy in Indianapolis and now a millionaire. Alleged Bribery Trials in Detroit.....

ALDERMANIC BOODLE CASES

Trial of Alleged Bribers Scheduled to Begin This Week

Glinnan, the Boss of the Boodlers Will Be the First to Face the Court

Detroit, Mich., June 30---Trials in the so-called aldermanic boodle cases in which nine members of the Detroit board of aldermen are under indictment, are scheduled to begin this week. The cases have been pending since last July, when the accused aldermen were indicted and arrested on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to accept a bribe for their votes and influence in the passing of a measure affecting city property transferred to the Wabash railroad.

Rumors of graft among the aldermen had been in circulation for a long time before the exposure came. As a result of these rumors Mayor William B. Thompson sought the services of detectives and Andrew H. Green, a prominent manufacturer, agreed to finance the problem. After the investigation was begun, the Wabash railroad applied for the closing of a street on the grounds that it wanted to erect a warehouse and otherwise increase its shipping facilities. The application was held up in council for a time. Then suddenly the council granted the application by vote of several members who had previously opposed the measure.

Meanwhile a Burns detective, who represented himself to be land agent for the railroad, had been at work. He had entered, according to the charges, into negotiations with the secretary of the common council committee. Eventually it was decided, it is alleged, that several who had been opposing the street measure would withdraw their opposition for $100 each. Some of the aldermen, however, are said to have held out for more.

The first of the accused aldermen to be placed on trial is Thomas Glinnan, president of the council and alleged to be the boss of the boodlers. Glinnan is known as "Honest Tom." He has long been prominent in Detroit politics and at the time the charges were made against him he was mentioned as a possible candidate for mayor.
