THE ADDRESS WAS PASSED

Hon. Mr. Flemming introduced a bill to provide a sinking fund for the redemption of the public debt. In explanation, he said, that the Bill provided that in future the proceeds of sales of Crown Lands or utilities should be deposited in a special fund which would be known as the Crown Land Sinking Fund. In the past, he said, that the proceeds from the sources named had been turned into the current revenue and the Province had been dissipating its capital without liquidating its assets to the same extent. The Bill also provided that the receipts last year from the sale of the Grand Falls power privilege amounting to $60,000 and from the sale of Crown Lands for the right of way of the National Transcontinental Railway amounting to $22,000, should be the first amount will conclude the ceremonies at the Capitol and the President and the Vice-President, accompanied by their military escorts, will return to the White House, where they will occupy seats upon the reviewing stand to review the inauguration parade.

The parade, in which, it is expected, more than thirty thousand persons will take part, including regulars from Fort McPherson, Ga., a regiment of Coast Artillery, the corps of cadets from West Point, the midshipmen from Annapolis, two companies of bluejackets, militia organizations from various states and civic organizations from practically every state in the Union. The parade will be divided into eight divisions, each commanded by an army officer. It will be formed in the streets near the Capitol and will march down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House, where it will pass in review before the President, and Vice-President and the other distinguished officials and dignitaries occupying the grandstand in the "Court of Honor."

GOOD LOOKS AND GOOD TEMPER

A CHAT WITH OUR LADY READERS.

Have you ever noticed how miserable and unhappy the little pains and aches make one? A stinging cut, badly chapped hands, a nasty burn, a sore foot, a poisoned finger—none of them wounds or ailments ever likely to cause serious trouble, but had enough to put an edge on one's temper and give one a "grouch."

Take this advice. When in pain from any of these everyday evils, just use Zam-Buk. As soon as you put it on to a sore, a cut, a burn, or any skin injury, it stops the pain and the smarting and starts up healing. Don't think that because Zam-Buk is so widely used by medical men, by nurses and for serious skin diseases and accidents it is only for serious cases. Keep it handy in the kitchen, the workroom and use it immediately you get some injury or have some sore.

Mrs. Chas. H. Barrett, Harmony Road, Truro, N.S., says: "I had an ingrowing toe nail, which caused me acute agony. Sometimes the pain was so severe I could not sleep. It became so bad, that I feared blood-poisoning had set in. I was advised to try Zam-Buk and bound up the sore toe with it. In a few days it was much easier and I continued the treatment. The result is that today the toe is sound and I have no more trouble with it. I strongly recommend Zam-Buk to every housewife." Zam-Buk is just the thing, too, for the children. Pure in its composition, and herbal in nature, it is suitable for the most delicate skin. It cures piles, eczema, varicose ulcers, cold sores, abscesses, blood-poisoning, ring-worm and all similar skin diseases. Sold everywhere at 50c. a box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

House Numbering

Attention is directed to the following section of the City By-law to regulate the Numbering of the Entrances to Buildings:

"The owner or owners of every building having an entrance, or entrances, leading to any street shall place or caused to be placed the proper and correct number upon or over the street entrance, or entrances, to every such building." The owners of buildings not already numbered are asked to comply with the above law in order to facilitate the free mail delivery about to be established within the City. The proper number of any building may be had on application at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall.

By order of the City Council.

City Clerk.

included in the fund, and these these amounts he said were now placed in a special fund marked "Crown Land Sinking Fund."

MR. TILLEY

Mr. Tilley, in moving the address in reply to the speech said that reference had been made in the speech from the Throne to the large number of members who were entering for the first time on their Legislative duties. While such was the fact, it might also be noted that so many of them were supporters of the present administration, that they were with two exceptions sharing the seats on the side of the chamber usually occupied by members of the opposition.

He felt strongly that never in the history of the Province was there a more buoyant and hopeful feeling in every constituency as to the future prosperity of this our native Province. It seemed to be the general consensus of opinion that the year just closed was the best business year on record, while 1913 had entered with every assurance of being a more successful year than the past one.

Since last session the citizens of New Brunswick have had the honor of extending to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, as loyal and hearty a welcome as tendered from any Province of the Dominion. He was sure he voiced the opinion of this House and the citizens generally in expressing the wish that His Royal Highness may remain to complete his full term of office as Governor-General, and another term if such an arrangement should be consummated.

An advance policy along the lines of encouragement to agriculture had certainly been adopted and put into effect by this government during the last twelve months. Reference had been made to the two schools of instruction to be erected, one in Woodstock and one in Sussex. The province had to thank the late Mr. Fisher for the establishment of the school at Woodstock as not one cent of expenditure was entailed by the province. It is indeed gratifying to note that our farmers were going in for the raising of well-bred poultry more than ever before. As an illustration of that fact, during the last year, for the first time in the history of the province, the farmers of this province were able to supply two of the largest steamship lines sailing from the port of St. John with poultry. Prior to last year it had been impossible to secure the contracts for poultry from these steamship companies, because our poultry stock had been inferior. These purchases had been made by the provincial poultry inspector and it was surprising to learn that New Brunswick was unable to fill the entire order, the balance of the order being purchased in Prince Edward Island. This fact should serve to have our farmers realize that there was a large market for poultry awaiting them.

Construction work on the St. John Valley Railway was progressing favorably. Between Centreville and Gagetown the work was being pushed along rapidly; the contractors at present had at work between these points, 12 steam shovels, 125 teams and 1,200 men. During the month of December last over 126,000 yards of material had been moved, 36,000 yards of which had been rock while sufficient track material for 60 miles of the road was now on hand.

One of the most important matters referred to in the Speech from the Throne was the reference made to the action taken by this government in conjunction with the governments of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, in requesting that the Dominion government to either convey to the Maritime Provinces territory of the Dominion equivalent to the lands given to the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Quebec or otherwise to pay to each of the said Maritime Provinces an amount equivalent in cash to such territory. The claims of New Brunswick had been forcibly presented by his hon. friend, the attorney general.

He believed that not only among the young men of New Brunswick, but the middle aged and old men there was a feeling that out province had entered on a great upward movement; all lines of business were advancing, money was flowing more readily and conditions generally were far ahead of those prevalent three or four years ago. New Brunswick will continue to go forward with a feeling of hope and confidence for the future. It was not necessary for any of our young men to leave their homes, because they could do better here than in any other part of the Dominion of Canada. New Brunswick had entered an era of great prosperity, and the next few years would doubtless see her attain her just position among the provinces of the Dominion.

bers of this House would dispose them to exercise some degree of indulgence toward human frailty. As a member he could assure them that it was with a feeling of reluctance that he accepted the invitation of his hon. friend the Premier to assume the position that he now occupied. He might be permitted to state at the outset that the well known and intellectual qualities of the mover of the address had made it easy for him to treat in a very comprehensive manner the different subjects referred to in the speech from the Throne. This duty he had performed with an eloquence as gratifying as it was pleasing. And while he admired the happy style with which he (Tilley) had treated those subjects, he very deeply regretted that he (Hachey) was unable to show an equal ability in the presentation of his ideas. He, however, sincerely wished that the future political career of his hon. friend from the City of St. John might prove as brilliant and successful as that of his distinguished father.

It had been pleasing to learn that through the benevolent nature of the late L. P. Fisher of Woodstock, an agricultural school was to be erected in that town and placed at the disposal of the government without one cent of cost to the province. It was also gratifying to note that legislation would be introduced providing for an agricultural school at Sussex, where the government already had a fair school. He honestly believed that the establishment of these schools would meet with the general approval of the people of this province, and he only hoped that the government would extend its policy so that in the near future another
