

"I AM SATISFIED I COULD NOT LIVE"

If It Were Not For "Fruit-a-lives",
The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

FENAGHVALE, ONT., JAN. 29th, 1910
"For thirty five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation. No matter what remedy or physicians I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About 2 years ago, I read the testimonial of Hon. John Costigan regarding 'Fruit-a-lives' and I decided to give them a trial. I have used 'Fruit-a-lives' ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for 'Fruit-a-lives', I am satisfied I could not live." JAMES PROUDFOOT.
Mr. Proudfoot is one of the prominent farmers of Prescott County and has been Treasurer of Caledonia Township for years. "Fruit-a-lives" is sold at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50—trial size, 25c. by dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

TALE OF TRAGEDY IN THE DOMINION

London, July 12—"He is as great a hero as any man in the country. He has done things quite equal to anything that Captain Scott did," said an old man named May, giving evidence at the Old Bailey, yesterday, on behalf of John Dicks, 23, a typist.

Dicks pleaded guilty to causing grievous bodily harm to Robert Augustus Phillips with intent to murder him. According to the prosecution, he went to St. Katherine's School, Regents Park where he was once a pupil, and made an unprovoked attack upon Mr. Phillips, the butler, with a sashweight.

Prisoner said in evidence that some years ago he was sent to a reformatory, and afterwards found he was spurned by his friends. He tried to lead a straight life, and emigrated to Canada. After he had been there a year he had the misfortune to get lost in a blizzard, with the result that he lost both his feet and his right thumb. When he returned to this country the conditions were worse than when he left the reformatory, and he attempted suicide. He did not think he was in his right senses when he committed the assault on Mr. Phillips.

Mr. May then told the court what he knew of the accused. "He was the only one," said the witness, "out of a whole gang of men who volunteered to go 128 miles to get the mails. He was quite by himself, without any axe or matches to make a fire with. He had got some distance through the ice-water along the lake when he fell exhausted. He was nearly frozen to death. Some Indians carried him four miles to the missionary camp and the missionary resuscitated him. Then began an 80-mile journey on a sledge to Winnipeg and there he lost both his legs. He has made a great effort, poor fellow, but just as he was on the point of getting something this dreadful thing happened."

Witness was overcome with emotion in making the statement, tears rolling down his cheeks.

Dicks was found guilty of committing grievous bodily harm, the jury adding that he was insane at the time.

Mr. Justice Darling ordered him to be detained until H's Majesty's pleasure should be known, and said he would forward a report to the Home Secretary.

In 1912 the total number of strikes and lockouts in Canada was 148, according to official reports.

BAVARIANS TO CELEBRATE THEIR SAINTLY EMPEROR

In the calendar of the Catholic church today is the festival of St. Henry, Emperor. Bavarians in America as well as at home are planning to celebrate a year hence the 900th anniversary of the coronation of the Bavarian duke who was honored in life by his election as emperor and after death by canonization. According to tradition, Duke Henry of Bavaria was early a favorite with the saints and angels, who accompanied his army when he made war on the pagan Slavs, and annexed Poland, Moravia, Bohemia and Burgundy to his kingdom. Afterward he went to Rome and drove out Antipope Gregory. He returned Benedict VIII to the papal throne, and was crowned emperor by that pontiff in St. Peter's in the year 1014. Scores of cathedrals, monasteries and churches were built by Henry and ruins of some of them still remain. His wife, Cunegundes, the daughter of the first Count of Luxemburg, was also made a saint. She had by Henry's consent made a vow of virginity before her marriage. Many miraculous tales are told of her. It is recorded that on one occasion vile accusations were made against her, and the Emperor to disprove the scandal, walked over red-hot ploughshares and was unhurt. After Henry's death she put off the imperial robes and clothed herself in the habit of a poor religious, and in this she was buried.

GREATER BOSTON PLAYERS IN N. B.—MAINE LEAGUE

The Boston Globe has the following on the N.B. and Maine League:—
There are several Greater Boston boys of note in the Maine-New Brunswick League who are doing mighty well. Fred McKie, the Wakefield High boy is pitching for St. John N.B., and has been very successful.

Coleman Conley, formerly of Dorchester High and shortstop for Boston College last season is again with Fredericton which is managed by Bob Ganley the old Washington first baseman. Frank Connaughton is managing the Bangor team and is hunting for a few good pitchers, a catcher, one good infielder and an outfielder.

Frank Leonard is managing St. John and the team is doing well. The Calais-St. Stephen nine is now under the supervision of a local manager and is trying to strengthen the team.

RUBE GRAM PITCHING

WILL FOR NEWPORT, N. H.

(Boston Globe)

If Gram, the Brown University boy, can continue pitching so effectively. It will not be long before Newport, N.H. is close to the Keene nine for honors in the Twin State League. Ralph Hunt the captain-elect of Everett High for next fall is heading off the betting list for Newport and is playing right field. Durgin of Brown who was ineligible last season is at first base. Hoban of Dartmouth fame is in center field and Anderson the Bates player is on third.

Chicago, July 13—Olaf Henriksen, who was operated on at 10 o'clock last night was resting easily this evening. The doctor thinks he will be able to leave for Boston by next Saturday but the chances are that he will not play ball again this year.

CONCRETE ROADWAYS ARE A SUCCESS IN MICHIGAN

(Hamilton Spectator)

If any of the sixteen men accompanied officials of the Canada Cement company, of Montreal, on an inspection trip of public roads in and around the city of Detroit, Wednesday last, had any doubts concerning the relative merits of the various kinds of roadways, these doubts were certainly dispelled in favor of the concrete variety before they returned to their homes on Thursday.

The party left Hamilton Tuesday evening, via G.T.R. Detroit express, arriving in the city of the Straits about midnight, where as the guests of the Canada Cement people, they were entertained at the Hotel Point-Chartrain, one of the finest hostleries in the city. Wednesday morning automobiles were provided, and the party started on a full day's tour of inspection of public highways in the city and adjoining counties, through which miles and miles of all kinds of roads have been laid, none of which show the same good and lasting results as those constructed of concrete, or stone and concrete mixed.

VARIOUS KINDS OF ROADS

A run of ten miles from Detroit out to Dearborn over highways constructed of macadam, asphalt macadam and concrete, was the first trip of the day. Here it was found an easy matter while riding over the concrete roads which had been in use for three and four years, to make pencil notes or read a paper while riding in automobiles going at a speed often as high as forty miles an hour, because of the smoothness of the road, while the trip over macadam, or asphalt macadam which had not been in service half the time, was so rough that even at greatly reduced speed, instead of finding it possible to sit comfortably while making pencil notes, one had to forget everything else in order to hang on to the automobile seat to prevent being pitched overboard. In the Dearborn district gangs of workmen were engaged in laying continuation concrete roads, which already extend for many miles in that direction, and are being adopted exclusively as being the very best possible kind and as costing less money than the other varieties less satisfactory.

ANOTHER COMPARISON

Perhaps the best illustration of the relative values of macadam and concrete roads was found in the twelve-mile spin out Woodward avenue to what is known as the Log Cabin Inn. Over the first section of about half the trip, a new piece of macadam laid less than one year ago at a cost exceeding considerably that of concrete was in such a condition of ruin that one at a time felt that he was riding over and ordinary rough country road, while the latter half, which was constructed of small stone and concrete four years ago, was pronounced by all who rode over and inspected it, to be the best piece of roadway they had ever seen. Along this particular piece of concrete roadway, and extending to its terminus, is the real estate survey of G. Hendrie, of Hamilton. A representative of the Hendrie firm informed a Spectator reporter that there was not a better road in Michigan than this particular piece of concrete and stone, which had been laid four years previously, and today has not a crack or single rough spot in it, and, in fact, seems to be getting better the older it gets.

LAYING CONCRETE ROADWAYS

A very interesting feature of the trip was the privilege of watching workmen laying concrete roadways. Under the system now in use, the roadway is laid in sections which are divided by thin steel strips in depth the same as the concrete, and in width sufficient to reach across the Listless, Backward Children Made Bright and Active by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

He Needs Wise Care —Not Scolding.

Many a growing boy or girl is set down as constitutionally slow, stupid or lazy when it is really a question of inactive bowels, lazy liver or sluggish kidneys. The growing child, with a hearty appetite, certainly cannot long remain healthy and bright if the bowels and the kidneys, are choked up with impurities that should be thrown off promptly.

The muddled complexion, dragging limbs and dislike for mental or physical effort show plainly that the child needs Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills to stir up the liver and kidneys and regulate the bowels. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills do this most effectively, cleansing the whole system, purifying the blood, aiding the digestion and giving plenty of life and activity. As upon the education obtained may depend the success in life of your boy or girl—see to it that the general health of the child is such that study is pleasure and not a hardship.
