GOVERNMENT DETERMINED TO STIFLE FREEDOM OF SPEECH

house that there is absolutely no desire or intention of doing anything of the kind."

BORDEN REVERSES HIMSELF

One week later, this afternoon when Hon. Mr. Oliver introduced under "motions" his resolution calling for the censure of Hon. Robert Rogers and a review of the latter's conduct and operations in connection with the Prince Albert homestead scandal Premier Borden objected that it was not in order, and that he must withhold his resolution and move it after the government had passed on the government's motion to go into supply.

It was also significant that while Speaker Sproule ruled that it was unnecessary that a full two days' notice should be given, as required by Rule 40 of the Borden-Rogers closure resolution and the Hazen resolution that "the question be now put," his honor ruled Mr. Oliver's motion censuring Mr. Rogers for granting to Arthur Donaldson on April 16 last homestead property in Prince Albert in contravention of the rules of immigration department, was out of order because this two days' notice had not been given.

"The motion should be moved when the house is moved into committee of supply," ruled the speaker when Mr. Oliver presented it, after calling attention to the lack of notice under Rule 40.

CLOSURE WOULD SAVE ROGERS

Dr. Pugsley pointed out that it would be impossible to bring the matter up at all under closure except by the consent of the majority of the house. "This is a matter of grave public importance," continued Dr. Pugsley, "and distinct assurances were given by the premier."

"I have ruled it out of order!" interrupted the speaker.

"Will you permit no discussion of that ruling?" asked Dr. Pugsley.

"The speaker must rule according to his judgment."

"The matter is one of enormous importance to the good name of Canada and its government," persisted Dr. Pugsley. "Are we to understand that it cannot be brought into review by parliament, that its investigation is to be debarred of the majority so choose?"

Premier Borden stated that as soon as the present debate on closure was closed the motion could be presented on motion to go into supply. There were three days of the week when such a motion could be moved, and he would undertake to see that the opportunity was given.

"Tomorrow?" queried Sir Wilfrid. "After this closure debate is concluded, retorted Mr. Borden.

Mr. Oliver preferred to take the matter up while the right of freedom of speech was still a right and not a matter of government favor.

Dr. Pugsley pointed out that the matter could not be brought up after closure was put in force under the consent clause of the Borden-Rogers gag.

The speaker said he understood consent to mean unanimous consent.

GOVERNMENT IN A PANIC

"The government is in a panic," announced Mr. McCraney, who then rose to resume the closure debate. "It is afraid to go to the people and is attempting to put through this closure, in order that it may not have to face the electors. While the government may delay the day of reckoning by various discreditable expedients, there is no doubt that when the consent does take place, public opinion outraged by the premier's policy and the general conduct of his government will pass condemnation in an emphatic manner."

Hon. Mr. Oliver then moved an adjournment of the house in order to discuss the charges against Hon. Mr. Rogers in connection with the Prince Albert deal.

Again the government forces led by Messrs Borden and Rogers sought to fight off the investigation. Mr. Meighen rose to protest that Mr. Oliver's motion was out of order since he had already spoken on the main motion.

Speaker Sproule ruled that Mr. Meighen's point was well taken and Mr. Oliver was out of order.

Fred Pardee then moved the adjournment of the house.

Speaker Sproule ruled Mr. Pardee out of order. The chief Liberal whip had moved the adjournment of the debate the previous night.

"Since you refuse to accept an adjournment motion from the member for West Lambton," said Dr. Beland, rising, "I will submit such a motion."

Dr. Beland had not heretofore contributed in any way to the closure debate, and the point of order raised against Messrs Oliver and Pardee accordingly had no avail in his case. Speaking to his motion the eloquent young Liberal from Beauce told the house that the conduct of the government was arousing public opinion from one end of the country to the other, as well as in Britain. "Supported by the majority of the Canadian people," said he, "Liberalism in parliament is offering a strenuous resistance to the government's course."

"Let me remind the premier," said Dr. Beland, "of the words of a great British statesman Edmund Burke, who said: 'A British subject is the least fitted person on earth to argue another British subject into slavery.' Not alone did the government propose to use this power to close off debate on the naval issue but to prevent the ventilation of matters which it feared and the investigation of the conduct of ministers of the crown directly charged with misconduct."

APPEAL ARGUED

so for the amount of a guarantee signed by Clark for the Bank agreeing to redeem bonds to the value of $35,000 at 80 per cent.

Clark's dealings with the plaintiffs was through his speculation in cotton and other lines. He offered the bonds as security and that not being considered sufficient by Mackintosh & Co the guarantee was given. Some time afterward the plaintiffs pressed him for payment of the $10,000 loaned and he arranged to certify the cheque of an American named Collins Clark left St. John shortly afterward being in financial difficulties and some weeks later the cheque was presented to the bank.

The Bank of New Brunswick refused payment on the ground that the plaintiffs must have known that Clark was using the Bank's funds in his speculation and that the true state of affairs could have been learned by making inquiry.

J. C. Mackintosh & Co., argue that the bank is liable through Clark's acts and also because general manager of the Bank, Mr. R. B. Kesson ratified those acts.

The case of Rideout vs Houlett is also before the Court this afternoon. Judgments are to be given tomorrow.

SITUATION IN BELGIUM

place the total number of men on strike tonight at 310,000, and the newspaper Vingtieme Siecle, the organ of the young clericals, gives an estimate of 291,406.

When the chamber convened today after recess the galleries were crowded and 10,000 strikers assembled outside the building, but took part in no demonstrations.

The premier, in answer to the Socialist and Liberal attacks, reiterated that the government could not yield to threats. When a Liberal deputy proposed a national referendum on constitutional revision, the premier said:

"When quiet is restored the government will be at your disposal to study out the question."

The strikers continue to maintain perfect discipline in Brussels. Six hundred paraded through the streets this afternoon without police interference. Gendarmes are keeping a close watch in the suburbs, it having been reported that the strikers have purchased wire nippers and rubber gloves.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 17—The market opening was moderately active and featureless, stocks making no response to the announcement of a reduction in the Bank of England rate, possibly for the reason that such action was anticipated on Wednesday. Traders said that all good news was being availed of for the sale of stocks. The fact that Union Pacific dissolution plan will be presented to court at St. Paul on Monday the traders affected to regard as bearish as they asserted that the attorney general's attitude would be unfavorable and that the court would probably disallow the company's request.

THE GRAIN MARKET

Wheat opened steady to unchanged; Corn unchanged to shade lower. Little doing; Oats unchanged, very little doing.
