I KNOW

Is the thing I need but I can't take it on account of its horrible taste. Ever say that? If you did you had in mind the old blue bottle of cod liver oil and its taste and smell really were something to be dreaded.

of cod liver oil is a modern scientific remedy palatable and pleasant. You can take Nyal's Emulsion. Anybody can. And everybody should who feels the need of a body builder and strength-giver particularly those who have lung trouble or are in a run-down and weak condition.

STOMACH SOUR? GOT INDIGESTION ALSO?

"Pape's Diapepsin" Will Make Your
Disordered Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes. Time It!

What you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

HOUSING THE PIGS IN WINTER

Probably no farm animal is given so little consideration in housing and care in proportion to his profit making capacities as is the pig. We reproduce here a letter from W. K. Underwood, published in The Ottawa Valley Journal, in which he, as a practical farmer gives advice to his fellowmen on this point. The writer says in part that in order to make a profit from fall or winter pigs, comfortable quarters must be provided for them. This applies especially to the pigs and young hogs, but the older animals appreciate a comfortable sleeping place as well.

Every perfectly satisfactory piggery for winter use must be well lighted from the south, east or west. If from all three directions, so much the better. Direct sunlight, rather than diffused light, is what is required to insure health and aid in sanitation.

Warmth is another important feature. Walls such as are described below will, other conditions being favorable, prove sufficiently non-conductive. Warmth must never be secured at the expense of pure air. Pure air is more to be sought than a high temperature in winter quarters.

Freedom from moisture on the walls and ceiling is another important requirement. This may be insured by proper construction of the walls and ceiling, and by perfect ventilation. The walls and ceiling should be built with a dead air space. This space should have building paper on both sides of it; that is, a wall, starting from the outside, should consist of one-inch lumber, tar paper, studding, tar paper, one-inch lumber. A similar construction is called for in the ceiling.

Another factor affecting the freedom of piggery from moisture is the material used in the construction of the walls and floor. Wood, although not as durable as some other materials, is best suited for the walls. Cement blocks, or hollow cement walls, are very satisfactory. Wooden floors are a constant source of annoyance on account of the rapidity with which they wear out and the practical impossibility of keeping them clean. Cement floors are too damp, but a cement feeding floor, with a good, tight wood-floor or sleeping room, will prove satisfactory.

A sufficient and effective system of ventilation is another very important requirement. The air should be admitted in such a way as not to allow the cold air to come in direct contact with the pigs, and the foul air had better be removed from near the floor. The most practical system of ventilation in use is the King, and can be as well used in a properly constructed piggery as in the dairy barn or any other building.

Drainage is one of the prime necessities of a good piggery. The pen floors should be built to slope either to or from the passage; two inches in 12 feet will be found ample pitch. If it slopes in the passage, a small drain will be necessary down each side of the passage. If it slopes from the passage a drain all along the back of the pens and under the bed will be necessary. The better plan is usually, where it slopes to the passage and runs along it to some underground drain

Had Pimples on Face

And Back Was Literally Covered With Them.

Bad blood is the direct cause of pimples breaking out on the face and body, and it is impossible to get rid of them unless you cleanse the blood of all its impurities.

Burdock Blood Bitters is without a doubt, the very best medicine for this purpose.

This old and reliable remedy has been used for over thirty-five years, and has a reputation unequalled by any other for purifying the blood.

Mr. Peter La Pierre, Assistant Postmaster, Touchwood Hills, Sask., writes: "The fall before last, I was very much troubled with pimples on my face and back. My back was literally covered with them, and I could not lie on it at night, they were so painful. One day my sister advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly disappeared, and now I am completely cured."
