

WAS WEAK AND RUN DOWN. NOT ABLE TO DO HER WORK.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung. Day in and day out they have to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, etc. No wonder their work gets on the nerves and they become run down.

When a woman gets into this state there is only one thing for her to do, and that is, to get something that will build up her system.

For this purpose there is not an equal to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Their restorative action is felt on every organ and tissue of the body, and in a short time the weakness will give place to strength and vitality, and make life worth living.

Mrs. Henry McIntosh, Oliver, N.S., writes:—"I would recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to anyone who is weak and run down. I was not able to do my work, nor rest at night for four years. After taking seven boxes, I am entirely cured, and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart or nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box; 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LUMBER MARKET MAY BE TIGHT THIS SPRING

Philadelphia, February 24—It seems to be pretty generally realized that there is trouble ahead for the spring buyers of lumber, and many are getting their orders booked, and asking for deliveries earlier than usual. Manufacturers are becoming more independent, and during the last week many orders have been returned from the mills as unacceptable.

All the hardwoods are in good demand, buying is active, and dry stock is eagerly sought. Increased inquiry for ash is reported by some concerns. White pine is getting more scarce, prices are tight, but not increased, and low grade is very active. Cypress is active on firm prices. Spruce and hemlock are scarce, and increases in price are constantly threatened. Yellow pine orders are hard to place, especially in bill stock and flooring.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, Feb. 22—There may be some uncertainty concerning the silhouette and the cut of gowns which fashion may decree for the coming spring and summer seasons, but that much seems to be quite certain that the coming season will be one of bright colors and strange contrasts.

A fairly good idea may be obtained by an inspection of the materials shown by the importers. In the yellows there are mandarins, nasturtium, amber, chardon and sulphur.

Tobacco brown and pigskin are almost the only mild shades among the yellows. Labrador blue promises to be one of the most successful of all the new shades. It deserves to be well received for it combines beauty with distinction. The name comes from the mineral Labradorite and the color greatly resembles that of lapis lazuli. One of the new pinks is called cherry, but has only a faint kinship to what is called cerise. It is almost red, just like the new color "Nell rose" which is also called N711 pink.

The new materials are so rich in themselves that little attempt is made to introduce any trimming on spring suits and when it is employed it is used very sparingly. Lingerie collars and cuffs are particularly attractive on these rich fabrics. The new embroideries in silk and wool in the Bulgarian shades are seen occasionally on the collars, cuffs and revers, but as the colors are so very bright, they are used very sparingly. A few vestee effects are seen and they add much to the effectiveness of many of the spring suits. The square collar reaching only to the shoulder line is a favored style. Some suit coats have draped or narrow revers.

While the sleeves in suits in many instances are made full length, quite a number are cut with a slight flare at the wrist, giving something of a bell shape. A few extremely dressy suits have a three-quarter length sleeve, which is frequently cut in modified kimono shape. The long shoulder line is still used.

The cutaway coat is seen in many varieties, some starting several inches below the waist, others having a very sharp cutaway effect, giving the appearance of an Eton in front. The Russian blouse coat with elongated waist line is among the late ideas, but it is not becoming to the average woman. The Chinese coat on straight lines from shoulder to hem is particularly adapted to the small, slim woman.

On dark-hued waists there is always a touch of white at the neck, a frill or a yoke. The ground of the Scotch plaids used for some of these blouses is usually a blue, brown, green or black with the plaid picked out in vivid stripes of red, blue, green or yellow, taupe, purple, old gold and king's blue stripes appear in the newest plaids shown by the importers.

Suit skirts are equally as important as the coats. The new oriental draperies that are caught up in front and the sling and cross over draperies are seen in some of the dressier types. Simple draperies with only a slight fullness gathered into the front, sides or back are the most popular. Clusters of pleats, introduced at one or both sides, in the back or front, are frequently seen. The narrow effect around the ankles is as pronounced as ever. Some skirts are made so scant that they have to be slashed.

The combination of fabrics and colors is among the novelties. Plain fabrics combined with brocades are specially smart. White skirts with bright-colored coats will be worn when warm weather arrives. In the three-piece suits the coat may match the dress or may be another fabric. A few boleros are seen as an accompaniment to the three-piece suits.

Among strictly tailored waists, those mannish skirts with the soft turned over collars and cuffs are popular. Usually they are made of washable crepe de Chine, heavy China silk and Madras in white, with a colored stripe. Buttons of colored glass are very effective when they match the stripe of the silk.

In addition to the mannish silk waists that are worn with the strictly tailored suit the business woman will welcome those in challis flannel and albatross. Many of these are made in the usual mannish style, with the front opening, and soft collar and cuffs, but there are very attractive models, slightly more elaborate and more feminine, with bits of hand embroidery, and fancy collar and cuffs of satin. As a rule, flannel is used for the tailored waists, and pretty challis and colored albatross for the more elaborate models, but since all of them launder beautifully, the light tones need not be a bar to the usefulness of the blouse.

TORONTO PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Feb. 24—Further weakness has developed in the market for new-laid eggs at local wholesale houses. Merchants reduced the prices they are charging the trade one cent, yesterday, offering them at 28c. to 29c. per dozen. If the surplus of receipts continues they are likely to go lower still. Supplies have been heavy lately, liberal quantities coming in from country points. Very low rates in Chicago, under pressure of supplies, has been a factor in the local situation. Trade is only fair. Stocks of cold-storage and fresh eggs are heavy and the tendency of values is lower.

Trade in butter is flat. Supplies of winter products are plentiful, but demand is rather dull. The position of select grades is better. The market for cheese remains about steady locally, although foreign sales make the tone of eastern markets firmer. Stocks not being large, and demand pending from the Canadian west and from Europe makes the outlook firmer for cheese.

The following are the latest prices Toronto wholesale men are asking of the trade:

EGGS—Cold-storage eggs are quoted at 18c. to 20c. in case lots; fresh eggs are selling at 22c. to 23c. strictly new-laid at 28c. to 29c.

BUTTER—Latest butter quotations are:

Creamery prints 31c to 32c

Creamery solids 29c to 30c

Dairy prints 25c to 27c

PUGLIST JACK JOHNSON ARRAIGNED IN COURT

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25—After spending an amount estimated at $20,000 and carrying his case to the Supreme Court of the United States in a vain effort to have the indictments against him dismissed, Jack Johnson the negro champion puglist was arraigned in the United States District Court in this city today to stand trial on charges of violating the Mann White Slave Act.

Johnson's troubles originated in his open defiance of public sentiment following the death of his wife, a white woman, who committed suicide last summer. Within a few days after the burial of his wife the negro was reported to have lavished her diamonds and other jewelry on Lucille Cameron, a white girl, whose mother came from Minnesota and made futile efforts in and out of court to end her daughter's intimacy with the puglist.

The action of the negro in marrying the Cameron girl in open defiance of the pleadings of her mother aroused public sentiment in Chicago to a high pitch. Johnson's case license was revoked by the authorities and officers of the department of justice immediately took steps to prosecute the negro for alleged violations of the white-slave law. Johnson
