Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and keep sweeter work and keep better with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

DAN McDONALD GOT TWO FALLS IN FORTY EIGHT MINUTES

Young Gotch Made the Cape Bretoner Work Hard However--Small Crowd saw Match in Marysville Orange Hall.

Dan McDonald, of Cape Breton last night did what he guaranteed to do, got two falls out of young Gotch, of Philadelphia, within one hour. Dan took the same time for each fall, twenty-four minutes, making forty-eight minutes of fairly good wrestling for the small crowd which attended the match. McDonald got the first fall with a hammerlock and hitch-scissors, the second with a hitch-scissors. Mike Murphy acted as referee. Some near-experts in the wrestling game attempted to tell the referee what he ought to do, but were settled by him. The would-be judges did not take kindly to the second fall. The referee called Young Gotch to the front of the stage, and the latter did not make any protest against the decision, saying that he could not tell if both his shoulders had been on the mat at one time, but thought that if they had, it was for a very short time. Young Gotch finished his little speech by saying that McDonald was the best man he had ever gone up against and that he hoped he could get a return match.

There seemed to be a big difference in the might of the men, McDonald looking much the burlier. He is supposed to have an advantage of about fifteen pounds, but the general opinion was that he had more than that.

The match took place under difficult conditions. The Orange Hall at Marysville, in which the match took place, is not suited for wrestling. The stage was too small, the men banging against the walls and being kept "on the Brussels" as Referee Murphy put it, with difficulty. The distance from Fredericton to the scene of the bout prevented many from attending who would have had the event taken place in the city. The general opinion of the spectators was that the bout was classy enough to have taken place in the City Opera House. As it was, the crowd was small, the majority being from Fredericton.

BOUT BEGAN LATE.

The bout began later than the hour announced, the carriage in which Young Gotch and some supporters were driving from Fredericton to Marysville breaking down on the road. There was also some delay in securing a referee, but Mike Murphy was finally secured and H. M. Blair and Herb Morgan appointed timers. Time was called at 8.41, and McDonald at once went after his man. The Philadelphiaer was shifty and clever, however, and it took the husky Cape Bretoner about three minutes to get a hold. On the mat Gotch was as slippery as he was on his feet. McDonald tested his opponent with two or three different holds and after a couple of minutes of this, Gotch slipped away from him and took the offensive. After ten minutes the two were on their feet. McDonald again got his smaller opponent on the mat. He tried a scissors but lost it. Dan then bounced Gotch around on his head a few times but without getting farther ahead. Gotch was thrown off the stage. He went back and McDonald got him on the mat again. Fifteen minutes from the beginning of the bout, Gotch was again able to take the offensive. Dan got away and tried another scissors. At the end of twenty minutes wrestling he was working hard. McDonald tried a crotch-hold and a toe-hold without any success, but almost immediately took a hammerlock and scissors, which gave him the fall.

SECOND FALL.

McDonald worked a little harder for the second fall. Young Gotch kept making remarks about Dan's lack of wind and other matters, and the Cape Bretoner did not seem to relish the other's conversational efforts. The American's left arm had been strained by the hold which brought the first fall, but nevertheless he made Dan work for about 7 minutes before going to the mat. McDonald seemed to favor the scissors and tried for it repeatedly, but without success. He also tried for a toe-hold, but Gotch broke away and got on his feet.

The American began to use his hands on McDonald's nose and other parts of his face and bothered the Canadian a lot. Dan got his man on the mat again but Gotch turned the tables and for a while his supporters thought that he would get a fall out of the Cape Bretoner. McDonald turned Gotch over. He tried again for a scissors, but Gotch broke away and was on his feet at the end of forty-five minutes. Dan went right after the American, and got him again. He again tried his scissors and got one of Gotch's shoulders down. For a couple of minutes the smaller man kept his opponent busy and then the referee gave McDonald the fall.

RING NOTES

Porky Flynn is going to be a busy boxer the next two weeks. Tonight he meets Jack Williams of Philadelphia, at Lewiston, Me.; next Friday night he tackles an unknown at Augusta, Me.; next Monday night he will box either Jim Savage or Morris Harris at Brooklyn, and next Tuesday night he will meet Kid Cotton in Pittsburgh.
Tom Murphy has been matched to box Willie Beecher in New York Nov. 28.
Lew Powell, the California lightweight, and Cy Smith will meet in New York Nov. 21.
If the managers of Eddie Murphy of South Boston, and Jim Moriarty, live up to their statements, there will be a final battle between Murphy and Moriarty for $500 a side. When Murphy's manager declared that those are the only conditions under which Murphy would box Moriarty, the manager of the latter said that it was agreeable to him.

THE QUEEN HOTEL BOWLERS TRIMMED SANS SOUCI TEAM

Campers Lost on Arctic Alleys by Fifty-five Pins--Next Game at Queen Hotel.

The Queen Hotel Bowling Team took the Sans Souci team into camp in great style last night, winning the third game of the series by 55 pins at the Arctic Alleys. Sans Souci was beaten from start to finish, managing to hold their opponents down only on the second string. This makes two wins for the Queen Hotel to one for Sans Souci and the next match will be rolled on the Queen Hotel Alleys. The scoring was as follows:

MORRIS IS ANXIOUS FOR A CHANCE AT JACK JOHNSON

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 15.—Carl Morris, of Sapulpa, the giant engineer who recently entered the prize ring with the avowed purpose of working up to the point where he can issue a challenge for the heavyweight championship, with the hope of bringing the belt into the possession of a white man again, is showing unexpected form with the gloves, and fight fans in Oklahoma, who had not hitherto taken Morris very seriously, are now beginning to wonder whether he may not be championship material after all.

Morris' friends are especially encouraged by the showing made in his fight at Tulsa against Ed Anderson, of San Francisco, who was knocked out in the fifth round of what was to have been a 15-round go by the Sapulpa roadrunner. Anderson, who has been quite successful both as a boxer and a wrestler, defeated Tom Sharkey in Los Angeles and has fought many of the men who are considered top-notchers in the game. Anderson weighed 195 pounds at the time of the fight, while Morris weighed in at 245. He weighed 320 pounds when he stepped down from a "Frisco engine three months ago to enter the ring, but has trained down 75 pounds in three months. He had the best of the contest with Anderson all the way through, and would have ended it much earlier but for Anderson's gameness in coming back when he was hardly able to keep on his feet.

Morris is a man of remarkable physique. He is 25 years old and stands six feet four inches in his bare feet. He learned the rudiments of the boxing game in the army, but had no idea of becoming a professional pugilist until a few months ago, when friends, who had noted his cleverness as well as his physique, advised such a course. In his fight with Anderson he showed 100 per cent improvement since his recent battle with Tim Hurley. He intends to go to the game in conservative style, matching fights wherever he can get them, but trying to get a better man as he goes along.

CARROLL THE WINNER IN SLASHING BOUT

New York, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Jimmy Carroll, the San Francisco bantamweight, easily defeated Charley Harvey of Philadelphia, in a slashing 10-round bout at the Olympic A. C. here last night. In the first round Carroll was wild, while Harvey used a right chop to the jaw which kept the California on the move. In the second round however, Carroll solved Harvey's style and from thence to the end it was all Carroll.

Duckie—Unless he is a very recent acquaintance and your people approve of him, I see no reason why you should not go. Pronounce it just as it was spelt Karoo. Later on we will talk about your writing.

Now it is up to both to show the coin as evidence that they mean what they say.—Boston Globe.

HARRY K. THAW'S LIFE AT MATTEWAN

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Attorney general O'Mally filed in the court of appeal today affidavits in opposition to the appeal of Mrs. Mary C. Thaw in her application for the transfer of her son Harry K. Thaw, from the Mattewan State Hospital to some other asylum within the state. Among the affidavits is one of Dr. Thos. T. Baker first assistant physician at the Mattewan in answer to the charges of Mrs. Thaw that the confinement of her son at Mattewan is impairing his health. Dr. Baker says Thaw's surroundings in Mattewan are more congenial than they would be in a civil institution. To prove this, he gives in detail Thaw's daily routine in Ward 1 where he is a prisoner.

The appeal probably will be argued Friday. Dr. Baker writes that since Thaw was committed to Mattewan he has gained thirty-seven pounds in weight, is permitted to play cards with congenial companions, to receive visitors, take out door exercise, read the best of literature and is not compelled to associate with anyone who is not his equal intellectually and morally.

One of Mrs. Thaw's contentions was that her son is compelled to associate with patients who use vile language and who often assault him. Dr. Baker says that these assertions are wholly unfounded, and that, on the contrary, the record of Thaw's past life, as brought out in the courts would indicate that some of the patients might have good reason to object to associating with him.
