LAYING CORNER STONE OF THE CATHEDRAL

The following is taken from Mr. Clarence Ward's "Old Times" in the St. John Globe:

The paper of Oct. 18, 1845, contains an account of the laying of the corner-stone of the Cathedral at Fredericton. As this event marks the beginning of a new historical period in the annals of the Church of England in this province, it may be of interest to make a note of it in these papers. While the project of building a Cathedral for the Episcopal Church was under consideration, a heated controversy was held between St. John and Fredericton for the honor of having the edifice erected in their respective cities, and for a long period the city papers were filled with a redundant correspondence from the advocates of the site pro and con. Fredericton was finally decided upon as being the more eligible position for the building, it being the headquarters of the military and the seat of government, and St. John with a good grace acquiesced in the decision. The following is the account of the ceremony:

"The Cathedral—The corner-stone of the Cathedral was laid at Fredericton on Wednesday, 15th October, 1845. The military, headed by His Excellency Sir William Colebrooke, the judges, councillors, members of the assembly, and gentlemen of the bar, together with the clergy, headed by the Lord Bishop, formed a procession in front of the Court House, and proceeded to the site of the building in the immediate vicinity of the parish church. Here a numerous assemblage of spectators was gathered to witness the ceremony. An appropriate prayer was offered by the Lord Bishop, and the silver trowel handed to Sir William Colebrooke, with a request that he would lay the stone. To this Sir William replied in an eloquent speech, and then executed in due form the office assigned him. Afterwards His Lordship addressed at some length the numerous assemblage that was present, combating the objections that some felt to this projected work, and earnestly inviting the co-operation of all. He then offered a concluding prayer, and the ceremony ended with singing the 100th Psalm, accompanied by the band. The morning presented rather a gloomy sky, but just as the stone was about to be laid, a momentary gleam of sunshine enlivened the scene, which throughout the whole proceeding appeared to awaken much interest in the minds of the spectators."

LABOR MEN DOUBT CHANCE OF SUCCESS OF ANY NEW UNION

Montreal, Aug. 18.—"I wish to say that the Canadian Federation of Labor has no branches nor locals in Toronto and that in Ottawa there is no local in affiliation with this organization which is either a stonemasons', bricklayers' or masons' and bricklayers' union. There was a local hod carriers' union there and when the Y.M.C.A. was being built these men went on strike because the firm which was constructing the Y.M.C.A. tried to reduce their wages. The bricklayers who were working on the job went out to help the hod carriers but they were not organized nor was there even a charter given by the Canadian Federation of Labor to the bricklayers of Ottawa."

This was the reply which Mr. Thos. Izzard of the International Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' Union made to the claim that the Canadian Federation of Labor had been a success in Toronto and Ottawa. In Ottawa, he said, the employees of the Government Printing Bureau were members of C.F. of L. but the wages paid them were according to the scale set by the International Union at Toronto.

The Builders' Exchange feel that by organizing some hundred or more bricklayers and stonemasons into a Canadian union pledged to an agreement with the Builders' Exchange, which is the opposite of that demanded by the local union they have driven in the thin edge of the wedge which will break the strike."

A meeting was held some days ago at which the men were asked to give their allegiance to the new organization but as most of those in attendance were International Union men the response was not enthusiastic. Some of the leaders think that at this meeting the men who took part in the interests of the C.F. of L. are not men who can lead the men on to better things.

"I have seldom heard such language on any platform as I heard at that meeting" one of the best of the labor men, and one not directly interested in the affairs of the bricklayers told The Herald.

AMERICANS BEAT SPANISH YACHTS A SECOND TIME

Marble Head, Mass., Aug. 18.—America again defeated Spain today in the Sonder yacht races off this port, all three American boats leading their foreign rivals at the finish. The Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams, 2nd, which took the first race of the series yesterday, again carried off the honors today, with the Cima a close second and the Beaver third.

The Spanish yacht Chonta was only a minute and one second behind the Beaver, while the Papoose and Mosquito II. were far behind. The Chonta at times during the race led the entire fleet. She not only pushed the American boats hard, but aspired to her rivals by maintaining her place principally through her use of the balloon jib in beating to windward. This violation of yachting precedent set the American yachtsmen to scratching their heads over what may prove to be a valuable innovation.

The new union agrees to recognize the Builders' Exchange and that its members shall only work for members of the Exchange which in turn pledges itself to employ members of the union exclusively and do everything reasonable to assist the union.

It is also provided by the Builders' Exchange plans that a joint arbitration committee shall be appointed which shall meet every February to formulate working rules and minimum rates of pay for one, two or three years. This committee to consist of six members, three on each side, who shall elect an umpire quite unconnected with either side. The rulings of the committee are to be accepted by all, while in the case of a dispute no other trades are to be drawn in and there must be no stoppage of work pending the settlement by the committee.

N. Y. FIREMEN FIGHT $1,000,000 JERSEY FIRE

With One Entire Business Block Burned and Many Others Blazing, Local Department Found Itself Powerless—Call for Aid Brings Three N. Y. Companies, Whose Eight Enormous Steams Quickly Quench Spreading Flames—Only Chimney of One Whole Square is Left Standing, One Fireman Killed, Many Hurt—Baby Born at Blaze

New York, August 19.—(Special)—Three companies of New York firemen performed valiant service in a fire that destroyed an entire block in Jersey City last night, doing $1,000,000 worth of damage killing one fireman and injuring many others.

The block that was destroyed is bounded by Stuben, Morgan, Washington and Warren streets, within a stone's throw of the Pennsylvania Railroad terminal. It consumed the buildings of Trucklow & Fuller Cork Works the rolling mills of the Ames Pipe Works and the factory of the Independent Baking Powder Company besides several smaller buildings. No thing is left on the block save a brick chimney rising 150 feet in the air and a brick wall that threatens to fall any moment.

At 9.30 o'clock when it seemed that half of Jersey City might be destroyed, Fire Commissioner Morris, of Jersey City telephoned to Chief Crocker in this city. Commissioner Morris said he had fifteen of his eighteen fire companies out, with about two hundred and fifty firemen and that it seemed impossible not merely to keep the fire under control, but to prevent it from spreading to the adjoining blocks.

CROCKER ACTS QUICKLY

Chief Crocker at once ordered three of his companies to Jersey City post haste. He sent Engine Company No. 7 from Duane street across the Cortlandt street ferry, Engine No. 18 from West Tenth street and Engine No. 30 from Spring street were rushed across the Desbrosses street ferry. When the New York fire fighters dashed upon the scene there was a cheer from the thousands of people congregated about the conflagration. The New York engines looked enormous in comparison with those of Jersey City. By this time the fire had covered the entire block and sparks had ignited buildings on the three adjoining blocks and it looked as if the entire lower district of the city might be destroyed.

The Vanderbeek Lumber Company's yard, piled thirty or forty feet high with dried lumber and covering a whole block, was ablaze. It seemed as if nothing could save it.

Butler Brothers' building, covering another block on another side of the fire, seemed doomed. The window sashes were on fire, and all the window glass had been broken.

The adjoining block of small frame tenements in which about 600 Polish families were housed was being ignited in spots and the excited tenants were dragging their household belongings to the sidewalk. The sparks were bedding and bundles of clothing piled up along the thorough fare.

Four blocks, it seemed, must go. When the New York firemen arrived on the scene with a great ringing of bells, tooting of whistles and clatter of hoofs, they unlimbered their apparatus in a jiffy. The Jersey City firemen gave way to their neighbors across the river, and the New Yorkers attached their large gauge hose to the hydrants.

sent political conditions, the most sensational conditions that have arisen in the Republican party for years.

OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA IN ITALY NOW

Bari, Italy, Aug. 18.—The latest report on the outbreak of Asiatic cholera, which has begun in the Province of Bari del Puglia, shows that there have been in all 33 deaths. The latest cases reported are one at Bisveglio, two at Barietta, three at Trinitapoli, one fatal case at Ope, five cases and two deaths at Margherita di Savoia and one death at Cerignola.

Stains in marble basins, made by the dropping of water, may be removed by rubbing with an old tooth brush dipped in pulverised chalk or ammonia.

and about eight enormous streams were concentrated on Warren street which resembled a fiery cavern into which the Jersey firemen dared not venture. In three minutes Warren street was cleared of all flames. Twenty-five New York fire ladders charged into it carrying their hose after them. Streams with 200 pounds pressure behind them were turned into the windows of the baking powder works.

The rest of the New York firemen, twenty-five in number turned streams on the lumber yard and gave it such a drenching that there was no more danger from that source. Then they turned their attention to the block of tenement houses and thoroughly soaked the buildings nearest the fire.

About the same time that the New York firemen arrived Walter Scott vice president of Butler Brothers sent out a general alarm for his 1,500 employees to report forthwith. Perhaps 1,000 of them came from their homes. They have been practising a fire drill for years and knew just what to do. The building was completely manned, every employe taking a position at his post and the burning window sashes were quenched within a few moments. This relieved the firemen of the necessity of giving their attention to the Butler building.

The large stable of the Vanderbeek Lumber Company containing fifty horses, adjoins the fire. As the flames approached the horses became extremely restless. A force of men were sent to get them out. This was a most difficult task but was successfully accomplished. Not a single horse was injured, except, perhaps, been slightly burned by falling sparks

FIREMAN FATALLY SHOCKED

Word was sent early to the Public Service Commission to turn off the current in the big feed wires running on all sides of the doomed block. It was half an hour before the current was turned off. In the meanwhile one of the wires fell to the street, Fireman Spencer Babcock of Jersey City Engine No. 8 became entangled in it and received the full force of the current. He was sent to the Jersey City Hospital where he died shortly after.

At about 10 o'clock the wall of the Baking Powder works fell on the Butler Brothers side with a loud crash. A score of firemen were working here and there was very little time for them to get from under. Most of them took refuge under the iron shed in front of Butler Brothers, but several were caught in the crash.

Thomas Dixon of Engine No. 5, mounted a ladder on another side of the building and climbed to the top-most rung. As he reached there the ladder toppled over into the street, Dixon was thought to be killed but he picked himself up, cursed the ladder and went back at his task.

BABY BORN DURING FIGHT

The excitement was added to when a baby was born to one of the Polish women who had been driven to the sidewalk from the tenement block that had been threatened. An ambulance surgeon from the Jersey City Hospital saw that mother and child had proper attention.

WILL ROOSEVELT TRY FOR THE PRESIDENCY?

New York, Aug. 19.—A despatch telling of the determination of Col. Roosevelt to enter the field for the presidency in 1912, was sent out from Oyster Bay last night. It read in part:

Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate for the presidency in 1912.

From now on all his energies will be directed toward that goal. He believes his policies have been abandoned, his great work for the Republican party flouted and a studied campaign under way to humiliate and insult him.

He believes that President Taft, while not taking an active part in this anti-Roosevelt campaign, has given it his tacit support and smiled on the men who have it in charge.

He believes the so-called "stand pat gang" the reactionaries whom he so bitterly fought and sought to drive out of the ranks of Republican leaders, are in the saddle again and that President Taft appears content to let them do the driving.

Mr. Roosevelt is now convinced that President Taft's advisers are banded together to destroy the Roosevelt idea and to openly attack their Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Aug. 19.—Susan Spencer, an aged woman, was found dead with a bullet hole in her head at the home of her nephew; Enoch Tompkins on a farm near Mill Brook early today. Tompkins is missing. The affair was reported by Jas Ferris a neighbor who called the police here. Mrs. Spencer was said to be wealthy and it was understood among the neighbors that she intended to leave all her property to Tompkins at her death.
