

Tories Carrying on Guerilla Warefare in Province of Quebec

They Now Hold Bourassa up as a Great Man While They Formerly Denounced Him as a Traitor--Have Entered Into a Compact with Nationalist Leaders Which They Hope Will Land Them in Power.

(Halifax Chronicle)

It is a remarkable feature of present day politics in Canada that the mischievous campaign which is being waged in Quebec by Mr. Bourassa and his fire-brand crew is passing almost unnoticed by the majority of the opposition organs. All of a sudden most of the journals supporting Mr. Borden have feigned supreme indifference. There is scarcely a word of dissent from the propaganda promoted by Mr. Bourassa. No word of censure or rebuke.

When Mr. Bourassa's operations are mentioned at all, there are generally coupled with it words of praise rather than blame—fine compliments about his brilliant oratorical gifts, his attractive personality and his pure-souled motives. Generally, too, he is acclaimed as challenging the supremacy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Indeed, one of the most inveterate champions of Toryism has gratuitously certified to his "attachment to British connection." What a tremendous change has come over the spirit of their dreams!

A few short years ago when Mr. Bourassa was in the House of Commons as a supporter of the Liberal Party, and when his views were much less reactionary than they are today, he was savagely denounced by these very opposition organs now grown so silent. He was pictured as a rebel going about breathing treason and plotting the ruin of the Empire, and the end of all things British. Liberals were held up to scorn and derision as "Bourassites." No vituperation was spared in their eagerness to brand the Liberal party with treason—and all because of Mr. Bourassa. Today Mr. Bourassa has been exalted to a pedestal of patriotism. No longer do we hear the sneering cry about the "Bourassites." There is nothing but honeyed words and effusive compliments for Mr. Bourassa.

A STRANGE CONTRAST

The contrast between the attitude of the opposition press then and now would be almost startling, if its significance were not so obvious. The reason for this new found admiration for Mr. Bourassa, once anathema to himself, is not far to seek. Mr. Bourassa is now playing the Tory game. With Mr. Monk, the Conservative leader in Quebec, he is denouncing Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a traitor to the French-Canadian race and as having sacrificed Canadian anatomy on the altar of Imperialism. Occasionally they vary their vicious attack on Sir Wilfrid by indulging in mild criticism of Mr. Borden's preposterous naval proposals, but this is merely part of the game.

It is a guerilla campaign against the Laurier Government in which this line of attack is adopted by Messrs. Bourassa and Monk in Quebec, while Mr. Borden and the "Old Flag" faction in the English-speaking Provinces are waging war against the Government's naval policy as designed to bring about Canada's separation from the Empire; and some of their more unscrupulous organs are depicting Sir Wilfrid as a black-hearted traitor to the Empire. This diversity of attack, as violent on the one side as the other, is the kind of guerilla warfare agreed upon. For this we have the unimpeachable authority of the editor of the Toronto News, the intimate friend and close confidant of Mr. Borden, who has recently outlined in the London Times the plan of campaign against the Government.

We have thus before us the combination whereby the opposition hope to climb into power. There can be no question, in the light of the explanation given in the Times by the editor of the News, that there is a perfect understanding, if not a formal agreement, between the Bordenites and the "Bourassites." Certainly up to this time Mr. Borden has not ventured to speak one word in repudiation of the men who are working in his behalf in Quebec, and it is noteworthy that some of his leading supporters in the House are giving their strenuous support to the Bourassa propaganda all along the line.

This alliance being complete, although there is pretence of denial, it is well that the nature of the campaign should be understood. In a recent speech denouncing the Government's naval policy, Mr. Bourassa said that the old men among the audience would soon pass away, but the mothers would remain and "One day your wives will see the agent of the Government coming to them with this iniquitous law in his hand and saying to them: 'Good mother, it is necessary that you give me your son, not to defend his native country, but to fight in all countries and on all the seas of the world in favor of the English flag; but when your women learn some months afterwards that an Austrian howitzer, a Japanese bullet, or a German ball has slain her child, who has fallen into the depths of an abyss or from the bridge of a ship, do you think she will say: 'It's all right! My husband was a good Liberal and as it was Mr. Laurier who passed this law, it's all right.' No, she will curse you, and she will be right in doing so."

Again in a speech at Grand Mere, Mr. Bourassa declared: "Laurier has betrayed the Province of Quebec and all Canada, but he will not suffer the consequence of this iniquitous law. He is seventy years old and has no children. He need not worry himself about the consequences. In twenty years the recruiting officer will come to your homes and will say to your wives: 'Mothers, you count on your son to make you happy in your old years; you expect him to protect your old age; but you are mistaken. The law passed in 1910 by the Laurier Government robs you of your

HE FEARED BLOOD POISON

But Zam-Buk Saved His Thumb!

Once again a case is reported in which the popular balm Zam-Buk has saved a worker from the terrible effects of blood-poisoning. Mr. Alfred Hy. Orth, of Shipley, Ont., says: "While at work I had the misfortune to run a rusty nail under my thumb nail, to the depth of about one and a half inches. The pain was terrible and what I feared was that the nail being so dirty and rusty, would set up festering and blood-poison. I knew from previous experience how good Zam-Buk was, so I cleaned the thumb, melted a little Zam-Buk, and ran it into the wound. The result was wonderful! It soothed the pain and the thumb actually did not swell. Zam-Buk kept away all inflammation. I was able to go on, with my work all the time, and in a few days the thumb was as good as ever. A balm which can do this should be in every working man's home."

Zam-Buk is the finest form of "insurance" for all workers. Its antiseptic power is so great that no disease germ can live in it; and if immediately applied to a sore or injury, or diseased patch, all danger of blood-poisoning is averted.

Being composed of pure vegetable essences, Zam-Buk is an ideal balm for babies and young children, and mothers will find it far superior to the ordinary salves, some of which contain harmful mineral poisons, rapid animal fats, etc.

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, inflamed patches, bad leg, varicose veins and ulcers, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases and injuries. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c. a box, 3 for $1.25. Post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

HON. MR. FIELDING IMPROVED IN HEALTH

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Hon. W. S. Fielding is spending this week in Montreal where he can be for a few days under the eye of the specialist whom he consulted some weeks ago, when his attack of facial paralysis developed. Though the trouble was diagnosed as a slight and local nature, and the paralysis of the facial nerves affected has since been gradually passing away, he will as precautionary measure take further medical advice, and if necessary further treatment before the incessant work of the next session begins.

While in Montreal, the Minister of Finance will attend to his departmental work as usual.

No definite word has yet been received from Washington in regard to the date and place of the resumption of trade negotiations. Some developments are expected, however, within the next week or two.

A NORTH SHORE YARN

A hunting story of more than ordinary interest comes from Oyster River. A man named Morrison who resides in that section, on Saturday last, shot a bear under unprecedented circumstances. The bear was enjoying a ride across the river on the back of a moose. Whether this Barnum-Bailey stunt was premeditated on the bear's part with the intention of getting across the river in an expeditious manner, whether Bruin fell from a tree by accident as the moose was passing underneath or whether the bear deliberately attacked the moose, are questions the answers to which would provide the key to the mystery. Mr. Morrison shot the bear while standing on the bridge. It is said by farmers that, owing to the failure of the blueberry crop, the bears are in need of food and are more than usually bold in consequence.

children and I shall carry away thy son with me." In twenty years perhaps your children may be mortally wounded on the bridge of a warship because you have been too Liberal to vote against Laurier."

These are samples of the yelping at Sir Wilfrid because he has undertaken the organization of a Canadian Navy. Many others of a similar ludicrous and violent character could be given, but these will suffice to show the nature of the canvass which is being used by Mr. Borden's allies in Quebec. Here we have the revival of the old cry, "too British" in Quebec and "too French" elsewhere.

QUEEN'S VIEWS ON MARRIAGE

The Queen of Romania, who recently was extremely ill, says that woman's true happiness lies in regarding marriage as a holy sacrifice and seeking to understand man rather than to look for man to understand her. "If women from the beginning" says she, regarded marriage as a holy sacrifice, as a perfect oblivion, they perhaps would get on better. I do not say they would be happier; that is another question. In every nation marriage bears the character which that nation needs. For this reason no laws and regulations can be made; it is for the single individuals to enable and perfect themselves in this as in all things. There would be no woman's question if married life had been differently handled. The men wanted to have servants, the women heroes; and the men did not become heroes and the woman could no longer bear the pressure under which the men tried to hold them. In wedded life persons imagine they can let themselves go, and do not think that as soon as they let themselves go all their faults become gigantic and their good qualities insignificantly small. It is just in married life that one ought never to let one's self go. An untimely yawn may result in a complete tragedy.

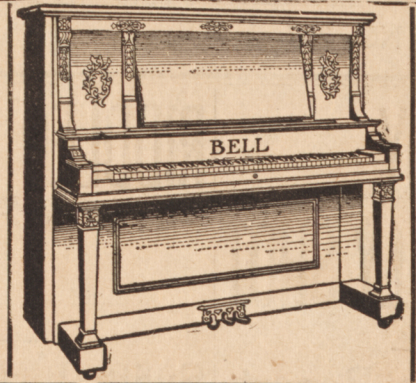

Infidelity cannot point to any fulfilled prophecies.
God's hardest work is to reveal himself to the sinner.
