NO SIGNS IN BRITAIN OF THAT DECADENCE SO OFTEN HEARD ABOUT

Prof. Robertson Back From Trip There Saw Only Virility and Progress--Says England is Well Supplied with Technical Schools--British Parliament Sets High Standard of Debate--Bonar Law's Eminent Position.

(Ottawa Citizen)

"After nearly four months spent in England and Scotland, in which I took every opportunity I could to study prevailing conditions in as many lines of life as possible, the impression left on my mind is that England is still a great leader in agriculture and in the adaptation of her educational systems to the needs of her people."

Such is the opinion of Dr. James W. Robertson, C. M. G., who has just returned from the old country to begin his duties as chairman of the technical education committee of the commission of conservation. Dr. Robertson began his tour with the object of visiting the most progressive countries of Europe for the purpose of gathering information upon conservation and educational methods that would be of value to the commission. But his journey was cut short owing to the necessity of his proceeding with the work of the technical education committee. While in England Dr. Robertson took what he called a holiday. But a holiday with him means activity and that of a very intense kind. So he spent the time visiting schools, universities, colleges, members of parliament, and leaders in public thought in education and in agriculture and in studying the conditions of the people and of the country.

"My deep faith in Canada is not one whit lessened," Dr. Robertson said to The Citizen representative who had asked his opinion on various current questions, "but my faith in England has been increased by my visit."

"The people Britain," he continued "are apt to be usually harsh in their criticisms of their country's defects. But so much progress has been made during the past ten years under the joint efforts of the board of education and the county councils that even the several critics have been partially silenced."

"I was amazed," the doctor went on, "to find England so well provided with technical schools and at the same time planning for further advancement. She is not slavishly copying any system or systems, but is taking the best from the best and using it as she sees it suits her people's needs."

"One sees many references," Dr. Robertson added, speaking of his characteristic enthusiasm, "to the opinion that England is far behind Germany in educational matters. But I think, as far as I was able to learn that England has made quite as much progress in the last ten years as Germany and that in practically all her large industries her educational methods meet the people's needs fully as well."

Dr. Robertson turned next to the subject of agriculture, to which he has given so much thought and experience in Canada. "Two things deeply impressed me in British agriculture," he said. "One was the refreshing beauty of the country and the other was the excellence of their agriculture as a business and the first rate quality of the workmanship in farming operations. Two simple things in particular evidenced this and they were the care taken in straight ploughing and drilling and the general cleanliness of the fields, through the absence of weeds. The latter is, I am sorry to say, a striking contrast to Canada. I know that it is impossible here for the farmer to put as much labor upon his land as the English farmer does, but a great deal can be accomplished by selecting the most suitable crop rotation. I didn't see any evidence of the decadence of British agriculture. I was deeply impressed with the general excellence of the live stock. Here we have individual herds that are the equal of any in Britain, but there every herd seems to be of a high standard of breeding. It is refreshing also to see the beauty of the houses and neatness of the farm buildings. The houses almost invariably are surrounded with flowers, shrubs and climbing plants. England, too, is a great place for porches which when decorated with climbing plants give a touch of humanized beauty to the houses that nothing else gives."

"In the towns and cities too," stated the doctor, there seemed to be quite a wholesome condition of progress in all industries. The general feeling among business men was that they were not only holding their own but growing. Unemployment seemed less of a menace than two years ago and the recently established government bureaus seem to meet the needs in this respect in a very effective way.

"The well-kept appearance of the towns was a good tribute to the excellence of administration."

In a good many places now there is a movement called "the garden suburb movement." It is pointing the way to the escape from the conditions of the slums. His Excellency, Earl Grey took some time out of a very busy day to show a party of Canadians a garden suburb near Hampstead Heath. It is an example of how, by competent, economical business management, attractive and comfortable homes are provided for workers at exceedingly low rent with out one cent of charity entering into the transaction. There is a scheme of investment which sets a limit of five per cent. on the money invested. Some cosy and comfortable homes are available at a rental as low as $1.75 per week. In the same scheme detached houses of a more expensive character can be had for $400 per year. The people have a common club room with bowling green and tennis courts, etc., at a cost of only two dollars per year. The suburb is artistically laid out with beautiful grounds, and there are no square blocks. Mr. Harry Vivian, ex-M.P., has been the chief leader in this movement.

Dr. Robertson has a high opinion of the quality of debate in the imperial parliament. "I couldn't help noting particularly," he said, "the closeness of expression and the directness of their arguments. The British house of commons wouldn't tolerate a man talking to the gallery or speaking merely to satisfy public opinion in some far off constituency. We need have no fear of the British houses of parliament losing their standard as the place of debate for the great questions of empire."

The doctor added a few terse epigrams.

During his trip away Mr. Manzer saw many things of great interest. He was in England at the time of the King's funeral and says that the sight was one never to be forgotten. England, says Mr. Manzer, is one continuous garden, a beautiful country having endless opportunities for the tourist and sightseer.

Leader: There are several rumors afoot as to the future of the Miller Tanning Extract Company. Gentlemen from Millerton, who were in town on Wednesday say that there is a great amount of standing bark and that the mill will start to consume this. Another statement is advanced that the concern is now being reconstructed and that actual operations will re-commence shortly. The total liabilities of the concern in the province are $100,000, while the assets are stated about the same.

KOLAPORE CUP LOST TO CANADA JUST BY TWO POINTS

Bisley, July 8.—Today's Kolapore competition was the most exciting in many years. The Canadians were leading when unfortunately Mitchell, for his last shot, got an outer. This raised the hopes of the mother country, who had two shots to go after the Canucks had finished, when Gray, with a bull and Runciman with an inner, scored a victory for the mother country by two points.

The total scores in Kolapore cup match were: Britain, 749; Canada, 797; Australia, 779; Guernsey, 775; Malay States, 767; Singapore, 763; South Africa, 751; India, 750.

It is estimated that members of the Commons against the declaration bill will number 150. Many opponents are credited with the intention of appealing to the House of Lords to defeat the measure, as the case with Salisbury's bill in 1901.

Joseph Chamberlain received thousands of messages today on his birthday. Many came from Canada. The press for all parties pays tribute to the veteran statesman. Mr. Chamberlain was born in 1836, and is 74 years old.

At a dinner of Union M. P.'s to celebrate Chamberlain's birthday tonight the following cable was sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other overseas premiers:

"A number of personal friends and admirers of Joseph Chamberlain are celebrating his birthday, and desire to send Imperial greetings to the colony through the medium of its prime minister."

A letter is published from the Archbishop of Canterbury to the Dean of Quebec under date of July 4, referring to a paragraph in a New York paper reporting that King Edward died a Roman Catholic. The archbishop says the report is preposterous and baseless.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND AFTER A THIRTY HOURS HUNT

Moncton, N. B., July 8.—Mrs. Albert Jones, of River Glade, who disappeared from her home early Thursday morning, was found in the woods about noon today about three miles distant. She was sitting on a stump of a tree and crying. She is mentally deranged but does not appear to have suffered much as a result of over thirty hours' wandering in the woods.

POLO MATCH CALLED OFF

New York, July 9.—A cable received in New York from England, said that because of injury to one of the players of Etonian Polo team it would be necessary to call off the proposed international match with the Meadowbrook team to have been played on Long Island early this fall. The Meadowbrook team holds the cup at the present time.

HIS DECISIONS READY IN ADVANCE

(Washington Star.)

Mayor Lyons of Mobile, said in a recent interview:

"No, I cannot pronounce judgment on this question yet. Do you take me for Judge Taliaferro?"

"Judge Taliaferro," the Mayor explained with a smile, "was holding court back before the war in the little court house of Citronville. It was a cloudy spring afternoon and a very difficult and puzzling case was on. The lawyers wrangled, quoted from great law books and broke into grand flights of eloquence, while Judge Taliaferro listened solemnly or gazed out of the window at the approaching storm."

"It grew darker. The Judge snatched a sheet of paper, scribbled a line or two upon it, and, placing it beneath a paperweight, took up his hat. 'Colonel,' he said briskly, to the lawyer who had the floor, 'excuse me for interrupting' yuh, sun; and I want that yuh should go right on with the argument, fo' it's a good one. But it's suah goin' to rain this evenin', colonel, an' I just natcherly got to set out my sweet potatoes right away. But you go right on, colonel; an' me-jah, you follow him up; an' when you two gentlemen get 'roun' you'll find my decision under this heah paper weight.'"

And the Judge disappeared through the door before the lawyers had time to exchange one astonished glance."

The habit of biting the lips especially the habit of biting off detached portions of the skin, is ruinous to their beauty, both in color and texture, and may even cause trouble and sometimes incurable eruptions.

The way to cleanse sponges is to mix together one tablespoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of common soda, with enough boiling water to cover the sponge. Place the sponge in the mixture and allow it to stand twenty-four hours. Afterwards wash the sponge in warm water until quite clean.
