WILLIAM IRVINE DIED
SUDDENLY THIS MORNING
AT SON'S RESIDENCE

Deceased was Native of Ivinestown, Ireland, but Had Resided at Millidgeville for Years—Leaves Large Family.

The death of William Irvine, of Millidgeville, St. John, took place at about five o'clock this morning at the residence of his eldest son, Dr. W. H. Irvine, Carleton Street. Heart disease and complications caused death.

The deceased had been in the city about five weeks, having come here for medical treatment. Sunday morning he attended service at the Methodist Church and retired at about 11 p. m. The evening he had spent with the members of the family. At midnight his son, Dr. W. H. Irvine, and his brother, Mr. Arthur Irvine, of St. John, both saw him. At that time he was resting comfortably. Death which was not unexpected, took place in the morning. Mr. Arthur Irvine finding his brother dead when he visited his room at five o'clock.

The late William Irvine was a native of Ivinestown, Enniskillen County, Fermanagh, Ireland, and was born seventy-three years ago. He was the son of the late Dr. George C. Irvine, one of the pioneer medical practitioners of this province and came to New Brunswick at an early age. He was a brother of the late J. POLICE WILL STOP
SUNDAY BATHING

Henceforth no one is to swim on Sunday between Morrison's Mill and the site of the old Aberdeen Mill. Any person found bathing on Sunday between the points named will be reported by the police and prosecuted. Yesterday police officers visited The Flats and ordered away a number of boys who were bathing there. The bathers claimed that as they were trunks or bathing suits they should not be molested. The police thought differently. The magistrate has made a ruling that Sunday bathing is illegal and the police are now on the watch.

"The Gully," that part of the shore immediately above the Aberdeen Mill site, is not affected by the new order. The Flats which have been a popular bathing place are however. It is understood that residents of the lower part of Waterloo made objections which decided the police to take action. Bathing without trunks or bathing suits is prohibited at any part of the shore on any day.

REV. NEIL McLAUGHLIN
PREACHED TO APPRECIATIVE CONGREGATION YESTERDAY

New Methodist Pastor Made Excellent Impression—Powerful Sermon Last Night on Struggle and Victory.

The new pastor of the Methodist Church, Rev. Neil McLaughlin, preached his first sermons yesterday to an appreciative people. He spoke of his desire to give them his very best service and that he would be at their disposal at all times. But he felt it was a most difficult position he occupied as successor to Rev. Mr. McConnell, one of the foremost men in the Conference, but he would do his best.

MORNING SERVICE

Mr. McLaughlin's first sermon was founded upon the words recorded in St. John XXI.22. "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to Thee?" His interesting sermon was closely followed, and depicted the life and work of John the beloved disciple and from this picture many encouraging lessons were drawn.

EVENING SERVICE

In the evening Mr. McLaughlin chose for his text Revelation II, 17. "To him that overcometh, etc." and his chief thought centered around the hidden manna and white stone. The life of the Christian was shown to be subject to persecution and sore temptation. Without struggle there was no victory and this statement was true in all the realms of life. Beginning with the infant in the cradle, for he struggles in vain effort to walk, to boy struggles with problems in school, the young man as he ventures out into the business centres and marts of commerce meets with struggle before he can achieve victory. The professional man finds competition keen while he endeavors to reach some lofty plane; the young business man is kept back by his formidable rival of large experience. We are often dissatisfied with our environment and think if we had means at our disposal similar to the situation of some acquaintances, everything would be different. This is not sustained by experience, for in a very large majority of instances the young man who succeeds is the lad who had to pay his own way through college and whose parents he often had to assist as well. Numerous cases were cited to prove this condition of things and lessons of encouragement were drawn from the lives of well known people and also from well known characters of Bible renown. Struggle is overcome and victory achieved by a consistent life and by doing God's will. We must conquer

71ST REGT. MAY BUILD
BUNGALOW AT SUSSEX
FOR NEXT CAMP

Local Militia Arrived Home Saturday Afternoon in Good Health—Private Patterson's Condition Improving.

The staff and "A," "B," "D" and "G" Companies of the 71st York Regiment returned from Camp Sussex Saturday afternoon. The troops were under the command of Major Gray. A large number of bandmen who had been unable to go to camp joined the band at the C. P. R. station. The soldiers arrived at the barracks at about 3.30. They were rather sunburned but were in the best of health after their twelve days under canvas. The rear party of the regiment reached the city Saturday night. Some of its members who missed the train at Sussex did not arrive until eleven o'clock. Capt. Pringle, the Quartermaster, stayed in Sussex over Sunday arriving here this morning.

EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Private Patterson of the stretcher section who was in hospital at camp for some time as the result of an attack of nervous trouble was brought to this city with the regiment and was taken to his home. It is expected that he will recover.

CHANGES NEXT YEAR

The officers of the 71st Regiment have under consideration the building of a bungalow or permanent officers' mess-house at Sussex. At present the 8th Hussars is the only corps which trains at Sussex which possesses a permanent officers' mess. It is the intention of the officers of the local regiment to build a bungalow that will be considerably larger than that of the cavalry regiment. The location of the mess-house has not yet been decided upon. It is also possible that the sergeants' mess of the regiment will have permanent quarters next year. It is the intention of the military authorities to shift the lines of the infantry brigade to the south-east next year and add to the parade-ground the land heretofore occupied by them.

self, fight against cowardice, against appetite, ease, selfishness, and have faith in God. In speaking to the new converts he gave many illustrations of victory after struggle and left with the congregation many words of encouragement.

At the evening service Miss Nan Thompson sang Jesus, Lover of My Soul. Miss Jennie Torrens presided at the organ in the absence of Mr. Harrison, who is on his vacation.
