MR. JACK E. GILES' COMING-OF-AGE BALL GREAT SUCCESS

The Queen Hotel was the scene of festivity last night, the occasion being the ball given to mark the coming-of-age of Mr. Jack E. Giles, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Giles of Kingslear. About seventy guests were in attendance, many being from places outside Fredericton and vicinity. The ball began at 8.30 and continued until about three o'clock this morning. There were fifteen dances and three extras. Hanlon's orchestra furnished the music for dancing and the floral decorations, which were very beautiful, were from Bebbington's. The dining room of the hotel was used as the ball room and rooms on the first and second floors for bridge and sitting out. Supper was served at 1.30. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Giles, Mr. Jack E. Giles and Miss Friel.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Jardine, Mr. and Mrs. M. Shewan, Mrs. Stanley

TONIGHT

A program of unusual merit at the Unique tonight will include a Biograph comedy "The Masher," (nuff said) "Two Boys in Blue," a Selig war drama "A Lucky Toothache," (comedy) and a great Indian feature, "Ononko's Vow," depicting true Indian life amid natural surroundings.

UNITED IN SORROW

One of the finest pictures ever shown and a great wild west feature full of narrow escapes. Don't forget Thanhouser's great picture for the children, entitled "A Delightful Doll." Popular music. Gem's Orchestra.

AT THE BIJOU

Today's fine program--The Vitagraph feature, "The Bachelor and the Baby," a fascinating society story; "Spotted Snakes Schooling," an Indian story of the present, and "The Clown and the Minister," western special for Saturday matinee. "Magie Hoolihan gets a job." A great laugh producing comedy.

AID FOR CAMPBELLTON

Newcastle Advocate:--The Dominion Government has by an order in council granted $70,000 towards the town of Campbellton. This amount will be devoted to the paying of interest on the bonds. This amount invested at four per cent will pay interest to the amount of $8,000 for nearly eleven years, while at three per cent it will pay it for ten years and leave a little more than $2,000 to the good. This is a generous donation toward the town's finances and if wisely invested will do much to re-establish the town's financial standing.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S REPLY TO OPPOSITION LEADER

sion, and which was embodied in the statute, was condemned by the electors of Drummond and Arthabaska?

"I say no. I say that the verdict which was given on the 3rd of November last in the electoral division of Drummond and Arthabaska is in no sense a condemnation of the naval policy as embodied in that statute.

FALSE APPEAL TO ELECTORS.

"Everybody in this House knows that there are two things, two things only, which are provided for in that law. It provides that a naval service should be created, but nowhere within the four corners of that law is it stated that that naval service is to be created by conscription or by forced enrolment. Everybody knows that the service is to be purely voluntary, and there is not a man in this House who can stand up and deny that proposition. Everybody in this House knows also that the full control of this Parliament is maintained over that system.

"But is that the law which was attacked and denounced in the Drummond and Arthabaska election?

"Did those who attacked the law tell the electors of that constituency that there was to be no forced enrolment, that there was to be no conscription, and that the service was to be purely voluntary?"

Mr. Paquet--I said that.

Mr. Monk--I said that also.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier--I take the word of my honorable friends, and I am glad to know that there are two men who oppose that naval policy, and who told the truth in that election. But, if my honorable friends did tell the people that, they were given the lie by those who assisted them in that election. There are men in this House who heard it stated on the platform during the election that if this law was to be maintained conscription would be applied to the naval service.

THE FAMOUS PAMPHLET

Sir Wilfrid called attention to the pamphlet which had been circulated in Drummond and Arthabaska, and asked who was the author.

"The man who wrote it was ashamed to put his name to it, but we know it was circulated with the connivance of Conservatives and Nationalists."

It was only a repetition of what was told the electors last summer and Sir Wilfrid quoted from speeches which had been delivered by Quebec Conservatives and Nationalists denouncing England and the English, and drawing lurid pictures of what would befall the people of Quebec in the event of war.

MONK CHALLENGED

Mr. Monk--You might mention some of the speakers on your own side who talked of the navy being used to attack Britain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier challenged Mr. Monk to give the name of any Liberal who had used such language.

Mr. Monk, after a pause, during which the Chamber resounded with Liberal cheers and cries of "Name, name," said he referred to a well-known Liberal notary in Richmond. Mr. Gauvreau--You are lying to the House. (Cries of "Take it back.") "Withdraw" and "Order."

Sir Wilfrid asked for the name of the notary, and Mr. Monk, after some hesitation, said it was Begin.

GREATER NATIONAL POLICY

Sir Wilfrid said he had not heard of the gentleman, and proceeded to refer to the recantations which Messrs Monk and Bourassa had made in Montreal after the election.

"Already the member for Jacques Cartier has learned the lesson that this policy of the segregation of the Province of Quebec from the rest of the Dominion will not pass either in Quebec or elsewhere. He has already learned that we must in this country be national, not in the small sense of the Nationalist, but in the larger and broader sense--that we must have the same policy for all the provinces of the Dominion, the east as well as the west and must profess in them all the same sentiments. That is the only policy which will triumph. It is a policy which will triumph in Quebec as everywhere else.

LACKED SEA VISION.

"The electors of Drummond and Arthabaska may not at this moment appreciate the necessity of a navy. They are an inland division. They are not familiar with the conditions prevalent at the sea shore, and it may be that they look upon any expense connected with the navy as a waste of money. That may be their opinion today but such is not the opinion of the provinces by the sea. When a few days ago the Niobe sailed into the port of Halifax, it was received with acclamation by the whole population. Everybody went down to the harbor to have a good view of the good ship. When the Rainbow came into Vancouver it was received with, if possible, greater enthusiasm.

"Everybody in this country must understand that the conditions are not exactly the same in all its parts--that there are variances in the different sections; but all must understand that the burdens of one must be the burdens of all, just as the disabilities of one must be the disabilities of all. We are constantly developing as a nation; we are discovering new sources of revenue; portions of our continent, which we considered inaccessible or barren and of no account whatever we are beginning to find are abounding in wealth. We are finding resources promising great prosperity in most unexpected sections. We are building a railway to the shores of Hudson Bay, 600 miles at least from the fortifications at Halifax.

MUST HAVE PROTECTION

"We are building a railway across the continent to the northern waters of the Pacific at Prince Rupert, 600 miles at least from the fortifications at Esquimalt.

"Will anyone say that we are to leave these distant portions of our country absolutely unprotected? No, the common sense of the people will come to the conclusion that these distant parts of our country, where so much wealth is being developed, must be protected either by fortifications or ships.

"The policy we have adopted and to which my hon. friend assented in a previous session, may not be altogether appreciated now, but the time will come when those who oppose that policy will be ashamed of their previous attitude, just as the time has come when those in Arthabaska who opposed it are ashamed of the methods whereby they achieved their victory." (Loud Liberal cheers.)

MR. FOSTER SPEAKS.

Mr. Foster, who followed, declared against reciprocity with the United States, asserting that the time for it had passed, and that Canada should build itself up without regard to the United States.

SHOT A WHITE DEER.

(Victoria Co. News.)

A snow white deer was one of the trophies of the hunting trip in the Rockies of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weaver of Hotel Monarch. The animal was a splendid specimen and one for which Mr. Weaver has since refused a large amount of money. Mr. Weaver secured also a large moose, one caribou, two bears and two deer. Mr. Weaver was accompanied by Mrs. Weaver, who is considered one of the best rifle shots in Alberta and who secured a fine mountain sheep and a nice elk. Mr. Weaver has a hotel in Monarch, and is doing a good business. He is an excellent host and one who has had a vast experience in Hotel life. He is well liked by the travelling public and is well patronized.

(Mr. Weaver was at one time proprietor of Windsor Hall, this city.)
