REVOLUTIONARY SPIRIT SPREADING IN MEXICO

Several Fierce Encounters with Troops Reported Today—Jail Broken Into and Prisoners Set Free—Arms and Ammunition and County Funds Confiscated—Twenty Revolutionists Killed and Eighty Wounded in One Scrap.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—With practically all lines of communication in the hands of the Mexican government with the frontier closely guarded and all travel over the international bridge at this point forbidden between the hours of midnight and six a. m., knowledge of the situation in Mexico this morning is vague. From the meagre information which filtered through last night, however, it is known that the situation is critical in the extreme. Serious disorders were reported from points in seven different states, the territory affected spreading in fine shape from a point less than 100 miles northwest of the City of Mexico to the United States border. In addition fighting is reported in Puebla, southeast of the Mexican capital, and in Grizeba, state of Vera Cruz, which lies to the east of the City of Mexico.

Francisco I. Laderou, head of the anti-re-electionists in Mexico, is reported to have entered the country at the head of a force numbering approximately 1,000, and Mexican troops are moving north to meet him. Rumor has it, that General Bernado Baye, the military hero of the country who was implicated in the uprising two years ago and who has been practically an exile since, has reached Mexico. The report gave tremendous impetus to the revolutionary cause.

United States troops along the Mexican border are under arms ready to move at a moment's notice and despatches from Washington clearly indicate the uneasiness felt by the federal authorities.

Outbreaks occurred at Durango, Guerrero and Gomez Palacio in the State of Durango, Parral in the State of Chihuahua, Torreon, and Hernandez, in the State of Coahuila, Acamero in the State of Guanajuato, and Orizaba in the State of Vera Cruz. Outbreaks had previously been reported in Zocatecas, in the State of Zocatecas, and Puebla, in the State of Puebla. The most serious feature of the uprising is the report from Gomez Palacio that 300 federal troops went over to the revolutionists, taking with them large quantities of arms and ammunition. Troops are being rushed to all points where disorders are reported and it is practically certain that there has been heavy fighting at many places, with much bloodshed. Early this morning it was reported that the Mexican government had assumed charge of the telegraph lines within the republic, and that no message can be transmitted except under strict government censorship. Every street in Juarez is being patrolled by rurales this morning. Double guards were on duty at the municipal prison, the federal arms, the banks and custom house last night. Every pedestrian is stopped and questioned as to his business. The Associated Press correspondent was stopped and questioned every block when he entered the city this morning.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 22.—Despatches received here indicate that the spirit of revolution is spreading rapidly in Mexico. At Acambaro State of Guanajuato, 300 men broke into the jail and freed the prisoners last night then looted the loan shops and confiscated all the arms and ammunition. They then went to the Municipal palace and secured all the county funds. They were met by troops at midnight and in the fight 20 were killed and 80 wounded. The soldiers are now in possession and the revolutionists fled to the mountains.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—It is reported that revolutionists attacked the town of Parral in the state of Chihuahua at four o'clock this morning and were repulsed with a loss of fifteen men. Three rurales are said to be badly wounded.

Soldiers are trying to dislodge the revolutionists from the hill tops surrounding the city. A full company of federal rurales rode into Torreon at midnight.

The situation on the border here at El Paso remains unchanged. No disturbances have taken place in Juarez and the town is reported tranquil.

A big sign has been posted at the international bridge connecting this city with Juarez, Mexico, forbidding any person to pass over between the hours of 12 midnight and 6 o'clock a. m.

This action was taken at the instance of the Mexican government. Guards were posted to enforce the order.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 22.—A train load of infantry left Chihuahua last night for Parral to quell an insurrection which started yesterday. The miners at Parral have confiscated all the dynamite from the mines and are awaiting the soldiers.

The last wire was cut near Gomez Palacio at 2 a. m. The train of soldiers which left Chihuahua are said to be disembarking at Jimenez, the supposition being that they are awaiting reinforcements from the south. No communication can be had with Parral.

The revolutionists have evacuated Gomez Palacio, according to information received here at 4 a. m. They retired peacefully to the hills leaving the city in the hands of the government troops. It is asserted that the revolutionists have gone towards San Pedro Las Palmas state of Coahuila. The city of Torreon was put under martial law at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The stores are closed and business is suspended. The electric railway to Gomez Palacio was stopped and all people were warned to keep in doors.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 22.—According to advices received this morning, San Antonio, San Andres, Torreon, Ranch, Minaca, Encinillas, Guerrero and the surrounding country in the State of Chihuahua, were taken last night by revolutionists who confiscated all stores military equipments and surrounded all cattle and horses. Chihuahua is under martial law.

SHARP DECLINE IN THE PRICE OF PROVISIONS

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Such is the sympathy that exists between prices in the American and Canadian markets, that the drop in the cost of flour that was lately reported in the United States, was followed this morning by an almost equal drop in the cost of flour to Montrealers.

Saturday the grocery stores closed with flour costing $7.50 a barrel, to-day it may be obtained for $6.90. So far the drop in the price of flour is not general, only a few of the larger grocery stores having cut their prices from fifty to sixty cents per barrel.

It is the opinion of those who have lowered their prices that the fall is bound to be general, and that it will be lasting.

A drop has also occurred within the last few days in the price of sugar.

The sugar which a week ago cost six cents per pound can now be bought for five and a half.

So far other commodities apart from meats have not shown any effects of the drops in American prices, but it is the opinion of the retail grocers of the city that a drop all along the line is about to come.

MR. MAX AIKEN FOR ASHTON-UNDER-TYNE

Montreal, Nov. 22.—A special cable to the Star says: Mr. W. H. Aiken has finally decided to go to the hottest corner of the fight namely Lancashire. The young Canadian accepted this morning the invitation of the Unionists of Ashton-under-Lyne, in the Manchester arena and leaves for that district tomorrow.

The polling in this constituency will be held on the second or third day of the election namely, Monday, December 5 or Tuesday December 6.

Ashton-under-Lyne has been a Unionist seat since the Home Rule days of 1885, except in the last two elections when the solid labor vote went Radical.

The figures at the last election, in January were: Scott, Liberal 4,039; Whiteley, Unionist, 3,746; Gee Social 1,413.

Mr. Aiken in reply to questions says: "I am going into Lancashire not because I am certain of winning or because other preferable seats might not be obtainable, but because Mr. Bonar Law's candidature there makes it the key to the whole position. He is raising the banner of Empire and preference there, and I, as a Canadian must stand by his side at a critical moment like this."

Mr. Hamilton Benn, who has himself a stiff fight in the London division of Greenwich, and who is supposed to be chiefly responsible for Mr. Aiken's acceptance of the candidacy of Ashton-under-Lyne says:

"It is magnificent. Mr. Aiken could have had a safe seat, but has chosen the part of the field where the battle is fiercest. Those who knew him expected nothing less. If he wins Lancashire, we win England, and every Canadian must be glad to know that two Canadians are right in the van."

CRIPPEN HANGS TOMORROW

All Hope of Eleventh Hour Delay Has Been Abandoned

Precautions Taken to Prevent a Hitch at the Last Moment—Case Has Taken Great Hold Upon Public.

London, Nov. 22.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen will be hanged at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. This announcement was made today and with it passed any hopes that the condemned man may have had an eleventh hour delay.

Grievous details incident to the office of the executioner have been worked out and the usual caution of the British criminal procedure taken to guard against any hitch at the last moment.

From the time that his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, disappeared up to the day of his conviction, public sentiment against Crippen grew stronger but in his last hours the prisoner is not without sympathy. Clara Ethel LeNeve, the woman for whom the crown alleged, Crippen killed his wife, has continued her visits to the American's cell and there are others who shake their heads and declare that they would never convict a man on circumstantial evidence.

From expressions in the papers and the gossip of the street, it is plain that no other murder cases of recent years has taken such a hold upon the feelings of all classes.

FUNERAL OF COUNT TOLSTOI

Thousands Pay Last Sad Tribute to Great Novelist and Historian

Sons of Deceased Carried the Casket While the Countess and Other Relatives Followed on Foot.

Tula, Russia, Nov. 22.—Throughout the night, and during the early hours of today, special trains arrived at Zaseika, the railway station near Yasnaya, Poliana estate, bearing delegations to the funeral of Count Leo Tolstoy. Students from Moscow occupied twenty-three coaches.

Following Tolstoy's written request his grave has been made under "Poverty Oak," in the spot "where in childhood he buried a green rocking-horse."

This reference was to an episode in the early life of Tolstoy and his brothers who, with childish rites, consigned to the earth a hobby horse in the belief that when it was disinterred, a reign of happiness would be inaugurated.

The novelist often referred to the disposition of his body and in directions left specified explicitly that the ceremony thereto should be "of the simplest without the rites of the orthodox church."

The special train bringing the body from Astapova arrived at the Zaseika Station at 8 o'clock this morning. The funeral party was met by throngs of mourning peasants who, since daylight, had been wending their way thither from the surrounding countryside. According to Russian custom, Tolstoy's sons formed the party of bearers and bore the casket on their shoulders over the two miles separating the station from the novelist's home at Yasnaya Poliana.

The route was through a small wood, across gently sloping fields, and through the wooded park of the estate to the house. The way was lined with mourners. Peasants marched at the head of the procession, carrying white banners inscribed "Leo Nikolavitch, the memory of your goodness will never fade from the minds of us orphaned peasants." Following the peasants were two student choirs chanting memorial hymns and four carriages filled with wreaths. Then came the sons, struggling slowly under the weight of the casket. The Countess and others of the family followed the bier afoot. Arrived at the house, the cortege halted and the casket was borne within and placed upon a catafalque in the author's favorite room. This had been emptied of its furniture and was barren except for the cherished bookcase, a portrait of Tolstoy's brother and a bust of Buddha.

Here in the old home from which Tolstoy fled twelve days ago to seek the solitude which was to be denied him, the body lay in state. The public was freely admitted to the room and for several hours an unbroken line of peasant folk and others of humble circumstances passed reverently by the bier. The interment was deferred until late in the afternoon.

WHY MINER LEAGUES WERE NOT REPRESENTED

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Ignoring of requests made by the American Association of professional baseball clubs explains the failure of the growing minor leagues to have an official representative at the recent gathering of the big baseball commission in Chicago.

The feature of the annual meeting last week was the failure of the American Association to even put in a request for the reclassification which would raise the American Association and eastern league into a class by themselves to be rated as "A 1."

This had been given out as one of the points which would surely bring up a heated fight during the course of the gathering. Threatened move did not materialize however, for the simple reason that the American Association magnates regarded the request as hopeless and preferred to wait.
