The Girl Who Lives Alone

whether she attends college or goes to business, needs the Perfection Oil Heater. It will heat a cold, cheerless boarding house or dormitory room and make it livable. • It is always a ready help in the many things women do for themselves in their rooms. With the damper top opened it will heat water for tea or cocoa; it will dry the small articles that a woman prefers to wash herself in her own room. It will quickly heat an iron or curling tongs; quickly dry wet shoes or skirts—an ever ready help for the woman who lives alone, dependent on her own resources. The is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. It will burn nine hours with one filling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless; has a cool handle and a damper top.

An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

THE GREAT BRITISH EMPIRE

ment that as far as our Empire is concerned, as far as its physical extension is concerned, it is at an end. We have enough to grapple with, enough to consolidate. We do not want more, but want to make the best of what we have. That is a matter of the most concern to you and the rest of us who have position and authority in the land. Let me remind you that only on the lines of peace can an Empire be consolidated. We want peace. Thank God for the Hague Tribunal; for the fact that a hundred countries today are gathered there in agreement that they will submit to arbitration and to the intelligence of the civilized world their dispute instead of to the argument of bloody war—which no man who cares for his country will ever advocate unless it be in the last extremity to defend his person or property against the aggressor.

The second ideal we stand for is progress. The British Empire has never taken possession of any subject race without endeavoring to lift them up into a higher life—a higher moral plane. Look at any of the young Nationalists from Egypt in my own house, and they expressed the opinion that if the British withdrew from Egypt there would be chaos and injustice. At the bottom of their souls they felt that it is the strong hand of British justice and British fair play that makes for the building up of their nation. Look at the Soudanese. Look at Africa and see what British civilization, British justice and morality, have done.

That great Presbyterian divine and well known writer, George Adam Smith, told me he had taken a tour of the British Eastern possessions, Egypt, Palestine, India and other places, and I said to him: "What seem to be the controlling forces over these vast populations who, if they rose in their might, could sweep the British soldiers into the sea?" "Well," he said, "it is not the British navy or the British soldiers, it is the consciousness that in British dominions the legislators, judges and Magistrates cannot be corrupted, and that, when the people appeal to British law, they get British justice." Do you think we hold India by force of arms? We hold India because of those splendid men who represent Great Britain in that land, men who, in their lonely positions, hold the British flag aloft in spite of difficulties and dangers and stand there for British justice.

Last of all, the British Empire is great not only for the ideals of peace and progress, but because she stands for purity—for purity in politics, in civil government. It has no dealing with graft, no dealing with political corruption. Men, it is the glory of our British Government that whatever may be the bitterness of party politics, no man ever has been charged in the British House of Commons with corruption in the state, or with using his position or great influence for his own personal ends or personal wealth.

Now, the British Empire stands not only for purity in politics and in the state, but it stands for purity in the home. Somebody has said: "The key-stone of the Empire is the hearth-stone." Men, we want wherever the British flag flies to stand up for purity, as King George says, not only for simplicity in the home-life but for purity in the home-life. There must be no pulling down of the flag of morality to suit the passions of men anywhere. A man said to me the other day in the railway train coming from Winnipeg: "But you must make some allowance for men's weaknesses and men's passions." I said to him: "No man would ask that question." If you are a brute and not a man, then do your work, but manhood means self-control, means whiteness of soul, means purity for his own life, and therefore for every other woman with the possibility of becoming another man's wife.

Well, I finish. Remember this, Rome Carthage and Venice were mighty in their day. The two greatest maritime powers in the world were Carthage and Venice; the mightiest Empire with the greatest strength was Rome; and they all perished, not from without, but from within, from luxury and lust; read their history. Rome was never conquered until Rome lay prostrate in her own moral corruption. "Where the carcass is there will the vultures be gathered together," but the carcass must rot before vultures come. Men and brethren, make no mistake. I have spoken of the growth of this Empire, I have spoken of its glory, of its greatness. This heritage, with its great privileges and responsibilities, has been handed down to us by men who have fought and bled, men who have lived honest, pure, hard lives. Shall we pass it down to our children unsullied by corruption or impurity as the British flag ought to be? Shall you who represent her in the oldest and greatest of our Dominions, who are

SOCIETY WOMEN'S HAIR

A Simple Treatment that Will Make It Truly Fascinating A. J. Ryan Guarantees it.

Nowadays every up-to-date woman has radiant hair.

What a foolish creature a woman would be if she lost the opportunity to add to her attractions.

Yet in Canada today there are hundreds of thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair who do not make any attempt to improve it.

In Paris most women have beautiful hair, and in Canada all women who use Parisian Sage have lustrous and luxuriant hair.

Any woman reader of The Mail can have attractive and lustrous hair in a few days' time by using this great hair rejuvenator, Parisian Sage.

A. J. Ryan sells a large bottle for 50 cents and he guarantees it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is an ideal hair tonic, not sticky or greasy.

MAYOR NATHAN, OF ROME, CONDEMNED

Montreal, Oct. 17.—The City Council this afternoon passed a resolution censuring Mayor Nathan, of Rome, on behalf of the Catholic population of Montreal for his "blasphemous insults" to the Pope.

A protest was filed by the Ministerial Association against the council dealing with the question at all on the ground that such action would merely create suspicion and foment keeping the flag flying through days of difficulty and days of stress; shall you not feel something of the old spirit of conscious chivalry, and stand sword in hand for England, home and duty?

CURES

DIARRHOEA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA, MORBUS, CHOLERA INFANTUM, SEASICKNESS, SUMMER COMPLAINT, and all LOOSENESS or FLUXES of the BOWELS

MRS. HOLLIDAY, Box No. 86, Wroxeter, Ont., writes:—"I must say that we have used Dr. Fowler's EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY for over seven years, and have found nothing to equal it for all Summer Complaints, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, etc. Our house is never without a bottle of the Extract and I can recommend it to be kept in every home, especially where there are children."

NOTICE—We wish to warn the public against being imposed on by unscrupulous dealers who substitute the so-called "Strawberry Compounds" for Dr. Fowler's.

If you want to be on the safe side ask for Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY, and insist on getting what you ask for. The original is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 35 cents.

Mrs. HARRY GILLILAND, Cardinal, Ont., writes:—"Our baby, was so very bad with Diarrhoea that it seemed her bowels were fairly raw. We tried everything we thought would help her but failed. A neighbor advised trying Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. We tried it and before the end of a week our baby was as well as ever. We always keep "Dr. Fowler's in our home."

discord in a cosmopolitan city such as Montreal with its many races and religion.

Five aldermen also protested in writing against the resolution. These were Aids. Carter, Body, Ward, Judge and Drummond, who took the ground that the city council of Rome had no interest as a body in any utterances or action of the chief magistrate of the "Eternal City."
