

CANADIANS AT ANNUAL FEAST CEMENT BONDS OF PEACE

Brilliant Assemblage at Annual Banquet of Canadian Club at the Hotel Astor, New York--Orators Discuss Plans For Celebrating the Treaty of Ghent.

Pleas for the tightening of the bonds of friendship and for establishment of a peace alliance between the Anglo-Saxon nations furnished the chief theme for a half dozen speeches that were made last night at the annual dinner of the Canadian Club of New York, in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor.

In furtherance of the sentiment for the formation of closer relations plans were discussed for a celebration in 1914, of the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent.

The Canadian speakers were the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian Minister of Labor, the Hon. Adam C. Bell, K. C., and Dr. Wm. Peterson L. L. D., D. M. G., principal of McGill University. For the United States, General Stewart L. Woodford spoke. Dr. Neil McPhatter, president of the club, declared that nothing is more propitious or significant for the future prosperity and peace of the world than the friendly feeling and affection of the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race for each other.

DR. McPHATTER'S SPEECH

"The mission of the Canadian Club of New York," said Dr. McPhatter, "is to cement the good feeling and friendship already existing between the people of this country and those of the land which we came."

"Gentlemen there is nothing more propitious, nothing more significant for the future welfare and happiness, for the future peace and prosperity of this world, than the friendly feeling and affection of the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race for each other. Similar in their ideas and ambitions, similar in blood and brawn, they are similar in upholding the principles of justice and fair dealing wherever their mighty flags float. "Fortunately for mankind the battle of war is forever buried between them and in their serene confidence in each other, in their good will and good fellowship, they have decided to sit down side by side and smoke the pipe of perpetual peace."

"Under the beneficent influence and sway of this joint association, the dream of a greater and grander civilization will eventually be evolved. The expansion of commerce, the pursuit of peaceful methods of arbitration in international disputes, the elimination of unnecessary conflict of war and of our honest, truthful desire for universal justice and fair dealing are truly the greatest aims and ambitions that can well be attained by two such enlightened peoples."

MR. KING'S ADDRESS.

"I have followed pretty closely the spoken and written utterances of public and representative men during the last year or two with reference to the proposed celebration of a century of peace," said Mr. Mackenzie King, "and such criticism as there has been, where they have not related, and this very properly, to the particular individual proposals, have only served to reveal the overwhelming unanimity with which the proposal is viewed by all shades of representative opinion."

"The celebration of one hundred years of peace between the two greatest world powers would be an event as unique in history as it is without parallel in the achievements of civilization itself. To be worthily and acceptably commemorated the task of determining the mode of celebration and the features that are to reveal its significance cannot be left to any one society or group of societies, to any one locality or group of localities or to the people of any one nation. An international commission, the personnel carefully selected from among distinguished citizens of the countries concerned, clothed with the necessary authority and power and acting under the same sense of responsibility to the people as a whole, is alone the proper body to be entrusted with such an undertaking, and this not merely as affording a means of avoiding the dangers which spring from possible rivalries, but as the only method of befitting the international character and world wide significance of the event. This I give, of course, as a personal, not as an official opinion."

General Stewart L. Woodford declared that a perpetual peace agreement between Great Britain and the United States would prove the forerunner of a world wide disarmament, in which the rulings of a peace court of the world would be enforced by an international police force, to be supported by the contributions of every nation.

TEXTS OF THE ORATIONS

"I cannot conceive of the absolute idiocy of our people or your people becoming involved in a struggle," said General Woodford. "The common sense of our people, I hope, would certainly prevent it."

"The establishment of a peace court of the world will come about as the State courts were evolved. The courts we have were formed to settle disputes among individuals; the world court will be established to settle disputes among nations, and the decrees of the world court will be enforced by an international police force to which the nations of the world will contribute."

William Peterson, LL.D., C. M. G., principal of McGill University, declared the United States and Canada have the same ideals and the same ends in view and should strive together for the advancement of their common interests.

"How fine it would be if the United States and Great Britain could go forward shoulder to shoulder, as an example of that peace among nations that we have so long desired," said Dr. Peterson. "Canada will do her part in helping for a better understanding between the mother country and the United States."

MR. BELL'S SPEECH.

"The British government has always acted as though war with the people of the United States was a contingency not to be considered," said Mr. Bell. "Great Britain has for a long time and in all parts of the globe looked into the face of a world which did not share her ideals, and possibly has made it a rule to preserve the neutrality at least of the United States."

"If that be the view of the British statesmen it certainly has the support of the Canadian people, who would look upon war with the United States as a war of unnatural character, for which no sufficient reason could be found. And yet there has been no occasion when the Canadian people had allowed the natural belief that war with the United States would fall most heavily on them to put forward any counsel of timidity. We have lived at peace with the United States, and it is certain that we propose to do so forever, but we do not abate any part of our right to assert our interests in a friendly but effectual manner. Peace we should have."

"There are other reasons why the world will turn from war. These will be found in the interests of neutrals. A war is as offensive and annoying and injurious to the inoffensive neutral as is a breach of the civic peace of the good citizen. The interests of neutrals are very great and incontestable, and are being more and more firmly asserted, and soon neutral peoples will refuse to allow their ships and other property to be seized, and will insist that their right to the peaceful exercise of their industry shall be respected."

Dr. J. A. Macdonald, LL. D., editor of the Toronto Globe, who was to have spoken, was kept at home through illness and his speech was read by Mr. J. F. MacKay also of Toronto. Dr. Macdonald's speech, in which he pleaded for franker and more profitable trade relations, said: "Canada covets the unique and strategic position given to her by history, geography and the marvellous

A WOMAN'S BACK.

Not One Woman In Twenty Has a Strong Back.

The kidneys are to blame nine times out of ten.

When the blood isn't properly filtered the poisons that ought to be carried off by the kidneys are sent back through the system and it's hardly to be wondered that back-aches and lame backs come to make life miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by expelling all the poisonous matter from the kidneys, and then heal the delicate membranes and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. A. H. Hutton, Jr., McCreary, Man., writes: "Two years ago last spring I had a very severe pain in the small of my back. When I would rise it seemed as if my back would break. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I would have to get up three or four times during the night. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they effected a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify Doan's.

P. E. ISLAND CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Charlottetown, Nov. 18.—A deplorable accident occurred at Iona today, when the two-year-old child of Benjamin Walsh, section foreman, was burned to death. Mr. Walsh was on work on the railway and Mrs. Walsh was outside the house attending the cattle, the two children being left sitting by the wood stove. A spark flew out and ignited the little one's dress. Two neighbors who were passing, heard the child's cries and rushed to her aid, but she was so badly burned that death came a few hours later.

commingling of nationalities within her own citizenship. She would take the hand of Britain and the hand of the United States and hold them in a troth which can never be broken. Not across the leagues of estranging sea but by the four thousand miles of a uniting boundary line would Canada pledge the faith of this Anglo-Saxon fraternity."

NEW YORK'S IDEAL IS PAGANISM

New York, Nov. 18.—"Excessive luxury, extravagant expenditure on food and drinks and dress has always been a sure sign of paganism," declared the Rev. Frederick Lynch, in a sermon on "Luxury and Christianity" at Pilgrim Congregational Church.

"When ancient Rome was most pagan," continued Rev. Mr. Lynch, "she had the most extravagant dinners and orgies. If luxury did not cause her decline and degeneration it accompanied it. Luxury and degeneration have always gone together. "Many of us are worrying over the awful growth of shameful extravagance in New York. Some dinners given here during the last fifteen years equal anything given in ancient Rome. It has been no uncommon thing to hear of dinners costing $20,000 or even $40,000. A lesser horde of imitators of these so-called society people spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in gorging themselves and their guests."

"On New Year's Eve thousands of gluttons sit in our hotels and cafes spending huge sums on eating and drinking, these suppers being often real orgies and bachelors. "All this is not only unutterably vulgar, coarse and disgusting, not only deadening the finer susceptibilities of many of our people, not only turning us in our quest from ideals, literature and art to minister to the ja'd sensis, but it is absolutely unchristian."

"Christianity does not despise comfort, joy or rational things. It is not ascetic and does not despise rational enjoyment of nice food and drink. Its founder often shared the hospitality of homes, was happy with others at weddings and probably at the delicious fruit and meat of this world with the pleasure nature intended for us all."

"But Christianity and luxury, extravagance, gluttony are absolutely antagonistic. Christianity is the following of Christ in the simple serviceable life. Its followers are to make their chief thought not for the stomach, but for the soul. "A real Christian could no more spend such sums on eating as many of our degenerate men and women are doing, while all around him men and babies are starving, then he could deny his Lord."

"Those who practice it are bringing on a revival of paganism. They give $10,000 to Christian work, and spend $10,000 on foods, dress, drinks, yachts and often low entertainments. "The money spent in New York last year on gluttony, over-dressing, lavish entertainments, wines and vulgar luxuries would put a missionary in every city of the East and give Christianity an impulse in America that would turn its wavering attempts against evil into a triumphant victory."
