Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

THE MIDDLEMORE HOME

Some Particulars of this Excellent Institution for Orphans and Destitute Children, and of the Good Work Accomplished Under its Auspices.

On Tuesday morning the Allan liner Mongolian brought 407 immigrants to our shores. Among these immigrants were 156 children brought out by the "Middlemore Home." Secretary, Mr. George Jackson, together with two matrons and Miss Middlemore, daughter of the founder of these children's homes, accompanied the party.

The "Middlemore Home for Children" was founded in 1872 by Mr. John T. Middlemore, of Birmingham, England, who has been a member of parliament for ten years representing the borough of North Birmingham. Of course, the Home had a small beginning and it has achieved its success only through the private efforts of its founder. Its growth is shown in the fact that the first party sent over consisted of 12 whereas the present party is made up of 156 boys and girls.

WORKING OF THE HOMES

The institute in Birmingham consists now of two homes adjoining one for boys and the other for girls. There is a matron to take charge of each home and a superintendent oversees the whole work.

The children are easily found for the Home by the "National Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children," by private inquiry, and by various other means. They are taken chiefly from Birmingham and its vicinity, and the Midland counties. Some of them are children of very poor parents, others are orphans and still others worse than orphans. When they are taken into the Home the children are trained for a month before sent to Canada. They are well fed, clothed, and sent to the ordinary council schools, which are equivalent to our common schools. Then when a party is made up, agents over here advertise for applications for the children. These applications are carefully investigated by private inquiry and such a great number of applications are sent in that for the 156 children this year there were 350 applications sent in.

On leaving the homes these "kiddies," (most of them between the ages of 10 and 12, though they range from 3 to 17 years of age), receive handbags and a change of clothes together with all necessities. Throughout the voyage they receive the best of care, and they are a healthy lot of young people who will make good citizens of our Maritime Provinces. They are looking forward hopefully and cheerfully for the future and their faces show eager excitement at the prospect before them.

HOW THEY TURN OUT

Mr. Gerow, the Canadian agent, says that about 90 per cent. of the children brought over, turn out all right. About 10 per cent. are unsatisfactory, and the very troublesome ones, of which there are fortunately, very few, are sent back to England. By Acts of Parliament which were passed in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and in Prince Edward Island last year, the Home is their legal guardian until they are 18 years of age. Until then, the Canadian Secretary has the right to re-place them if they are not happy in their homes. He makes an annual round finding out the circumstances personally. There are now about 850 on the supervision roll in the Maritime Provinces. Altogether the Home has sent out in its 38 years history about 4,500 children to this new land, all of them to the Maritime Provinces. In the location of homes, brothers and sisters are placed if not in the same place, at least, as near together as possible. The great majority of these young people brought over make good farmers and in every way desirable citizens for our new land. The Home for their reception on this side of the water is situated at Fairview about three miles from Halifax, and is a pleasant spot.

The correct list of the twenty children which were brought to the city by Secretary Geo. S. Jackson of the Middlemore Home, Birmingham, and the names and addresses of the persons to whom they were allotted is as follows:

Of the children brought out on the Mongolian, twenty were brought to this city by Mr. Geo. Jackson. Their names and ages and the names and addresses of the persons to whom they were allotted are as follows:

THE LASH ADVISED FOR PROTECTION OF GIRLS AND WOMEN

Toronto, June 9.—That the lash should be used more frequently in the cases of persons found guilty of committing criminal assaults on girls was strongly urged by the Grand Jury in their presentment to Judge Winchester on Saturday in the General Sessions. In dealing with this question the presentment contained the following reference: "Our attention has been particularly drawn to the numerous cases of assaulting young girls some of which were of a very serious nature. Scarcely a week passes but some report of this kind is published, and as the crime is becoming very alarming, we, as a Grand Jury, recommend whipping in all such cases."

We feel that the lash is the only remedy that will keep this sort of crime down, and at the same time serve as an admirable protection for young girls."

Referring to the cases of wounding heard during the present Sessions the Jurors made the following observations: "We note with a certain degree of regret that while there has been a large number of cases of less serious character there have been some cases of very serious importance. We regret to find that the crime of stabbing among the foreign element is on the increase and should be severely dealt with."

As a result of their visit to the jail they suggested that the crowded condition of this institution could be remedied by an addition to the north east section of the building and a separate building for the sick and insane. They also recommended that fire escapes be installed at the Merer Reformatory for the safeguarding of the inmates the present fire facilities in this respect being, in their view, wholly inadequate. A complimentary reference was made to the

AUSTRALIA MAKES A BID FOR SETTLERS

Commonwealth Government, Afraid of Yellow Peril Seeks British Settlers and Will Pay Their Fares;

(Montreal Witness.)

Instance of the difference in the immigration methods of the Australian and the Canadian governments, is given in the case of the "Whakatane" which arrived in port on Saturday from Middleboro, bound for Australia, via Montreal. The Whakatane's last voyage was from England to Australia, via the Suez. She was under charter to carry immigrants to Australia for the Queensland government. It was related on the vessel that she carried 505 passengers to Australia, whose fares were paid by the government of the British colony. Passengers intending to settle in Canada, instead of receiving encouragement of the kind, are compelled to show $25 on landing here, unless they are going to friends, or have guarantee of a position in the Dominion.

Chief Officer Neale, in discussing this, said that Queensland settlers are not only brought out by the authorities, but they are also kept for a week without payment, at the port of landing, and then sent out to situations.

One of the reasons for this Australian philanthropy, he said, was attributed to the Yellow Peril scare. Chinese and Japs swarmed into the country, in spite of the fear and hatred inspired by their presence, and in spite of the poll tax of a hundred pounds. In many cases the yellow men were known to evade the revenue officers by landing in junks on the coast, and afterwards making their way into settlements and cities.

The "Whakatane" is essentially a freighter, except for slight accommodation for a few cabin passengers. In order to provide for the steerage travellers, improvised quarters were rigged up fore and aft.

The "Whakatane" brings a load of pig iron to Montreal. She will have finished unloading on Friday, and will then take on Canadian consignments for Australia and New Zealand. She is the second steamship of the New Zealand Shipping Company's line, which will maintain a monthly service between the St. Lawrence and Australian points. The vessel is commanded by a Canadian Captain Hamming, who for some years sailed between Victoria and Australia.

BOSTON LADIES PREFER GAOL TO PAYING FINE

Boston, June 9.—"I will cheerfully go to jail rather than pay any fine that may be imposed because of an unjust city ordinance," said Mrs. Elizabeth Glendower Evans, a wealthy Back Bay woman who was arrested yesterday with Miss Mabel Gillespie, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League, for distributing circulars on unionism to the girls employed in the Gillette Safety Razor factory, South Boston.

Mrs. Evans who is silver-haired, dignified, and decidedly determined in manner, declared that she intended making a personal appeal to the City Council for the modification of the law which made possible the arrest of the town women yesterday.

Mrs. Sarah Conroy, organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, was giving out circulars at another entrance of the factory when Mrs. Evans and Miss Gillespie who is a Radcliffe graduate, were arrested. Mrs. Conroy was not taken into custody.

The machinists employed by the Gillette Company are on a strike for higher wages. An effort has been made to organize the several hundred girls employed in the factory, that their assistance might be given to the striking unionists.

Mrs. Evans and Miss Gillespie took up positions on West Second street yesterday morning, equipped with huge bundles of circulars. The benefits of unionism were pointed out in the circular and the girls were urged to assemble at Wells Memorial hall last evening for the purpose of forming a union.

excellent work being done at the Lakeside Home for Sick Children. In general the jurors found the public institutions all well managed and in good condition.

In relieving them of their duties Judge Winchester told the Grand Jurors that they had been careful and considerate in their work.
