

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

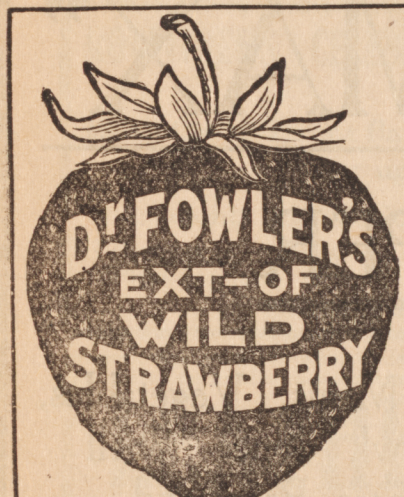

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

The latest London fashion for trimming dresses and shawls is the use of beads of glass porcelain and various metals.

If a loaf of bread has become stale hold it under the water-tap for one minute, then place in a brisk oven for a quarter of an hour. It will then taste like new bread.

Warm plates and dishes by pouring boiling water over them. There is not the least danger of them cracking or turning brown as when they are put in the oven.

THE QUEBEC NATIONALISTS AND THE CANADIAN NAVY

(Toronto Globe)
Now that the "tumult and the shouting" of the Drummond-Arthurs contest have died out, it may not be amiss to call public attention to the necessity of ascertaining where we are as the result of what has taken place. Mr. Bourassa and his confederates regard the election of Mr. Gilbert as a triumph of "Nationalism." If it is really so the question still remains what was defeated. "Nationalism" means precisely what those who use the term signify by it. The Nationalists themselves have never made clear, have apparently never tried to make clear, what they wish to connote by it to other people. Their talk about their aims and ideals is nebulous and obscure, apparently made purposely so. But, disguise it as they may in a cloud of platitudinarian phrases, the intention of the Nationalists is to promote not the solidarity of the whole Dominion, but the political influence of a part of the population of one province.

The antithesis of "Nationalism" in the bye-election was "Imperialism." This was what Mr. Bourassa and his friends denounced, and it was over this they triumphed. There can be no mistake about the aims and ideals of the Imperialists. They want to put a factitious stop to the natural and proper development of Canadian autonomy, limit and impair the right of Canadians to control their own domestic affairs, and bring this Dominion for the first time in its history into a state of definite subordination to the Imperial authorities. What they are proposing for themselves, and asking other people to assent to, is the curtailment on the one hand of our legislative authority, and on the other of our right to keep under our own absolute control our contribution to the defence of the Empire as a whole. Against this Imperialist propaganda the Nationalist movement has been directed, and whatever else the election of Mr. Gilbert may signify, it means at least that the Imperialism of the Canadian "jingo" is absolutely and invincibly repugnant to the French-speaking people of the province of Quebec.

Between these two extremes stands the Canadianism embodied in and represented by the Liberal policy of the formation of a Canadian fleet, created and maintained at the sole expense of Canada, and kept absolutely under the control of the Canadian government and Parliament. Over and over again the nature and object of the Canadian navy, of which the nucleus is already in existence at Halifax and Esquimalt, has been explained in Parliament and on the public platform. There is no afterthought about it to come out later. The "Canadian navy" policy is simple, intelligible, sensible and patriotic. The fleet will increase just as rapidly as the Canadian people, asserting their will through their own representatives in Parliament, determine. It shall be put to such uses not only in times of peace but in times of war as the Canadian parliament explicitly orders, and to no other uses. And this thoroughly Canadian scheme has the explicit and unqualified approval of the British Admiralty as the one that best meets the needs of the Empire at large.

Whatever the election of Mr. Gilbert may hereafter signify in regard to the "Canadian navy" scheme, there can be no question as to which of the two attitudes the Nationalists object to most strenuously; that of the "Imperialists" who desire to make a contribution to the British fleet in the form of uncontrollable appropriations for the building of warships in British dockyards, and that of the "Canadianists" who prefer to have appropriations for the navy spent in Canada and the resulting fleet controlled by the Canadian government and Parliament. At present it is incumbent on Mr. Borden and his fellow-Imperialists to tell the public honestly and unreservedly what they think of the Nationalist movement.

Hymns, it is said serve even better than the Lord's Prayer as a time-measure for egg-boiling for they can be lengthened or shortened, according to circumstances.

"Bronchitis"

This is an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air tubes in the lungs.

The disease begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, and there is a dry harsh, croupy cough.

After a few days mucous begins to be raised. This is at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color and is occasionally streaked with blood.

Cure the first symptoms of Bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and thus prevent it becoming chronic and perhaps turning to Consumption.

Mrs. D. J. McCormack, Cleveland, N. S., writes: "My little boy, two years old, caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was so choked up he could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup I decided to try a bottle, and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise and would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

CORRESPONDENCE

SOME POINTED CRITICISM

The Editor Daily Mail:
Dear Sir.—After witnessing that most delightful entertainment recently produced under the auspices of the "King's Daughters" in this city, it appeared to me that both those who planned it and those who carried it out so admirably were deserving of commendation. There was one thing however, which to me was somewhat of a "fly in the ointment" and that was the frequent and seemingly unnecessary use of the name of the Deity. Better leave sacred things alone in affairs of this kind when there is a world of things profane from which to choose.

Another thing which somewhat surprised me was the apparently indifferent manner in which the singing of "O Canada" was received. The song stirred to the depths my love for this Canada, my own, my native land. I could scarce refrain from joining in the song, yet behind me a chattering conversation was carried on and when the piece was finished nothing more than ordinary applause greeted the performers. An audience west of Montreal would have raised the roof in these Maritime Provinces we do not lack loyalty, but I certainly think we lack enthusiasm. This lack of enthusiasm is quite noticeable in our congregational singing which I suppose is about the worst in Canada. People who know the enthusiastic spirit of middle and western Canada find this deficiency in the church service very depressing. What is the trouble? Is it lack of early training? Is it in the air or is it simply plain ordinary laziness?

A NEW BRUNSWICKER WHO'S WINNING FAME

Rev. H. A. Cody, M. A., author of the new book The Frontiersman, was born at Cody's, Queen's County, New Brunswick, in 1872, says the Toronto Globe. His early education was in the public and high schools of the county, and he graduated from King's College, Windsor, N. S., in 1895. He was ordained deacon in 1896 and to the priesthood in 1898. He was rector of Greenwich for seven years, and then volunteered for missionary service in the west under the celebrated Bishop Bompas. His literary ability was shown in his splendid Life of Bishop Bompas. In the Yukon he became a fast friend of Mr. Robert W. Service, the popular Canadian poet.

Mr. Cody has written, besides his life of Bishop Bompas, several essays and articles dealing with the Yukon and other parts of the west. When only a boy Mr. Cody, with his two sisters, started a little magazine called The Jolly Band. One sister wrote the stories, and Mr. Cody supplied the poetry. Only a few numbers of the magazine were issued, as each number was in manuscript, for the typewriter was unknown luxury to the triumvirate. Mr. Cody in his college days, and while in the east after leaving King's was a member of the Haliburton Club when Professor Roberts was president.
