SOME REFORMS FOR RUSSIA

Important Legislation Outlived For the Duma Which Met Today

A Bill to Provide For Universal Primary Education Down on the Program.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The fourth session of the Duma opened today. As had been anticipated there was trouble at once over a proposal to honor the memory of Professor Serge Bourmoussé, who died recently.

The vice president declined to put an offered motion that the members show some mark of respect to the former president of the lower house. Immediately upon the announcement of his decision, the constitutional democratic and the radicals withdrew from the sitting.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—The first important business of the fourth session of the third Duma, which opens today, will be the consideration of a bill introducing universal primary education, as it has been elaborated by the cabinet. This has already been considered by the Duma committee and while some differences have arisen with respect to language in non-Russian regions, its passage is assured. The committee report calls attention to the progress already made in the budget of the ministry of education, which has quadrupled since the establishment of the Duma.

The program also includes important financial and agrarian legislation in the 1911 budget, but the political bills regarding the freedom of speech and of the press, personal inviolability and of martial law, will probably not be reached this session.

The Duma is without a president, Alexander Guchkoff having temporarily resigned his functions as president last August, in order to serve a sentence of imprisonment for fighting a duel with Count Uvaroff. Ruchkoff, however, is eligible for re-election.

A disorderly opening of today's session was anticipated by the authorities because of opposition on the part of members of the right to a proposal to honor the memory of Prof. Sergo Mourantseff, who was at one time president of the lower house whose death occurred a few days ago.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU PREDICTS HEAVY FROSTS

Washington, Oct. 28.—Killing frosts are predicted by the weather bureau today throughout the western and central states and to extend far into the eastern section of the country and almost as far south as the Gulf coast. The frosts accompany the first well marked cool wave of the present season, influenced by a cold high area of great magnitude, which today covers the west with its centre in the Rocky Mountain region. Over the plains states and central valley, the cold wave swept down today and was moving rapidly eastward. As the wave moves eastward from the central states, the weather in the Atlantic states will clear as the temperature falls.

Conditions generally prompted the weather bureau to order storm warnings displayed on the Great Lakes, along the Atlantic Coast and the Gulf Coast.

ANOTHER DROP IN PRICE IN SUGAR

New York, Oct. 28.—All grades of refined sugar were reduced 15 cents a hundred pounds today.

A NICE LITTLE TURNIP.

Sackville Tribune.—A turnip weighing twenty pounds is quite a good sized turnip, after all. A turnip of that weight from the garden of Mrs. C. A. Richardson, of West Sackville, was brought into The Tribune office a few days ago. It was one of the Egyptian Purple Top variety and was certainly a turnip worth talking about.

New York, Oct. 28.—A "Blackhand" bomb exploded on the ground floor of a four story tenement house on Washington street today and smashed nearly every window in the structure, tore off plaster on three floors and threw nearly all of the sixty or more occupants from their beds. A panic followed, all rushing to the streets, but the police quickly restored order. John Romano, the owner of the house, told the police he had never received a threatening letter. He said, however, that he believed the bomb to be a warning and expected that he would get a letter in a few days demanding the payment of money.

McBeth is at the Gem tonight. Don't fail to see him, and The Right Girl, an Imp picture. A good show with swell music and realistic effects.

In the accompanying illustration are shown the first photographs which have reached this country of the scenes in the capital of Portugal during the recent revolution which resulted in the downfall of the Braganza dynasty and the establishment of a republic. The outbreak was begun on October 3, when several regiments joined hands with a street mob and gave the signals to the war ships in the Tagus that they were ready to revolt. The revolutionists aboard the vessels of the navy promptly hoisted the republican flag and began a bombardment of the royal palaces and the barracks where the royalist troops were holding out. Fierce fighting in the streets continued for several days, the officers and soldiers who had remained faithful to the king offering a desperate resistance. The roar of artillery filled the air day and night as the big guns of the fleet and the artillery regiments battered down the royal palaces and poured shell into the loyalist ranks. King Manuel, seeing himself deserted by his trusted friends reluctantly consented to leave Lisbon. Accompanied by the Queen Mother, Amelie, the Dowager Queen, Maria Pia, and the Duke of Oporto, he embarked aboard the royal yacht proceeding to Gibraltar. On the departure of the royal family and the surrender of death of the last remnants of their supporters the Portuguese republic was formally proclaimed and a provisional government was established.

MINING TOWN VISITED BY $75,000 BLAZE

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—After fighting the flames from midnight until long after dawn, the tired residents of Bosswell, a mining town in Somerset County, today looked out upon a scene of desolation. Property to the value of $75,000 had been destroyed. The hotel, business houses and seven dwellings were burned. The fire was fought with buckets and water from every available source of supply, aid from nearby towns being lost because railroads could not provide locomotives to carry fire engines to the stricken village.

ANARCHIST THREATENS LIFE OF THE KAISER

Brussels, Oct. 28.—The extraordinary precautions taken last night to protect Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria, when they left the city at eleven o'clock for Berlin, were explained today, when the police announced that a letter threatening His Majesty had been received at the Royal Palace yesterday. The communication was signed by militant Brussels anarchists, and read: "Since none has had the courage to blow up the German autocrat, I have decided to throw the bomb." Efforts of the authorities to arrest the writer were fruitless and accordingly unusual steps were taken to guard against any untoward incident. All of the windows of the houses overlooking the streets through which the royal party passed from the palace to the railway station, were ordered closed temporarily and the station itself was packed with troops. The railway line for a considerable distance out of the city was guarded.

NEW YORK STRIKE BECOMING SERIOUS

Several Acts of Violence Reported Today —Driver of Express Wagon Pelted with Stones—Strike Breakers Beaten by a Mob of Sympathizers—Troops Ready For Service in New Jersey.

New York, Oct. 28.—While the states troops of New Jersey have been ordered to be ready to march into Jersey City if the express strike passes beyond the control of the police, the first outbreak of violence in this city occurred today at Fifth Avenue and 46th street.

About 150 strikers and their sympathizers gathered at the corner when an American Express Company wagon drove up. They pelted the drivers with stones and grabbed the reins. The crew fled from the wagon. Another occurred at Denison and 67th street. The driver of this team also abandoned the wagon and fled.

Decisive action of some sort on the New Jersey side of the river was expected today following last night's rioting, in which two policemen were badly injured, and a number of strike breakers terribly beaten by an angry mob of strike sympathizers. The Adams Express Company made no effort today to send out any of its wagons. The American Express Company attempted to carry on its street deliveries and collections.

All of the drivers of the Adams Express Company in Manhattan went out on strike today. Two hundred more of the helpers and drivers of the American Express Company also joined the ranks of the strikers. Disorder in Jersey City continued today.

ANOTHER CLASH

New York, Oct. 28.—The worst clash yet in the Express strike occurred when a determined mob scooped down on eight wagons leaving the Wells Fargo stables in Jersey City.
