EDUCATION DEPT.
IS ARRANGING FOR DRILL IN SCHOOLS

Q. M. S. Instructor Langille Detailed For Class at Moncton—St. John Has Applied For Instructor.

Steps are being taken by the Education Department of the province, to supply instructors in Swedish physical drill for teachers at various centres in the province. Moncton and St. John have made application for instructors. The Sisters of Charity engaged as teachers in the local schools have also applied for instruction in this drill and other applications are expected.

Q. M. Sgt. Instructor Langille of No. 3 Regimental Depot, this city, had been detailed for duty in Moncton where upwards of forty teachers are to be instructed. He will go to Moncton in ten days or a fortnight.

At St. John 172 teachers have expressed a desire to have the course. It is not yet known who will be detailed as instructor there but it is expected that the detail will be made soon.

Many teachers in this city and in other parts of the province took the special course in Swedish drill given at No. 3 Regimental Depot during the summer and are already qualified to instruct. The usual courses at the Normal School are to be given again this year.

FUNERAL OF LATE
NORMAN McDONALD TODAY

The funeral of the late Norman McDonald took place this afternoon from his late residence, Odell Avenue and was largely attended. Lodge No. 35, Walker L.O.L. and St. Andrew's Society marched in the procession. Music was furnished by the Fredericton Brass Band. The mourners were as follows:—

BISHOPS BADE FAREWELL TO FREDERICTON YESTERDAY

Made Final Addresses at Garden Party Held at Frogmore—Several Hundred People in Attendance.

Several hundred people attended the garden party given at Frogmore in honor of the visiting Anglican Bishops yesterday afternoon.

The entertainment began at three o'clock and was concluded shortly after five. Addresses were delivered by the Bishop of London, the Bishop of Glasgow and the Bishop of Washington. The Bishop of Fredericton introduced the speakers.

During the afternoon refreshments were served and an excellent programme of music was played by the Fredericton Brass Band. Many of those who attended the garden party were presented to their Lordships.

Bishop Richardson introducing the speakers said that it was with diffidence that he had asked his Lordship the Bishop of London to speak as he had been worked so hard during his stay in Canada. The Bishop of Glasgow of course would be heard because he was Scotch. As far as the United States was concerned he was glad that he had so large a representative of that nation to present as he had in the Bishop of Washington. (Laughter)

BISHOP OF LONDON

The Bishop of London prefaced his address by remarking that this was positively the last performance that the party would give in Canada and that in a short time the three fountains which had been pouring out words would be stopped. He admitted that he had been hard worked during his Canadian tour but he had been repaid amply by the hospitality with which he had been received.

The Bishop of Fredericton had spoken of his smile but it was nothing compared with the Canadian smile which he had observed everywhere. (Laughter)

Fredericton he had found reminded him much of the Old Land as it was a Cathedral town. There had been a tradition in England that a cathedral town was sleepy and full of cliques. Fredericton he hoped would reverse that tradition and be the centre of the diocese.

He hoped that when he should return to Fredericton he would be able to observe a great growth in the number of saints in the church. The bishop here paid tribute amid applause to the hospitality and excellent qualities of Mrs. Richardson, wife of the Bishop of Fredericton.

BISHOP OF GLASGOW

The Bishop of Glasgow followed alluding to Bishop Richardson's remark that Scotland came after England he said that it was very true for a Scottish king had gone after the English crown. (applause)

His Lordship thanked Canadians in general for the hospitable reception they had given the party. He had been pleased to observe that the Church of England in Canada had no stiffness about it as the mother-church was charged with having.

In England the saying was that the Wesleyans had the fire, the Baptists the water and the Church of England the starch. The Church in Canada had evidently gone to the wash and had the starch all taken out. (Laughter)

BISHOP OF WASHINGTON

The Bishop of Washington was the last speaker. After making mention of the enjoyable time he had spent in Canada he said that there were three things which had most strongly impressed him during his stay in the Dominion. The first was the congregational singing, the second the realization of the strength of the Church in Canada, third the privilege of having been associated with the leaders of the Church across the water. Scotland had given the church in the United States one of its greatest bishops and also the Book of Common Prayer. London had at one time been the centre of the American Church and he had in his own diocese churches which early in their history had made their reports to the Bishop of London.

BISHOP RICHARDSON

Before the party was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem, Bishop Richardson in a brief address stated that one great lesson which had been taught those who had heard the Bishop of London preach had been that simplicity could be an attribute of greatness. (applause)
