The Prospect of a Visit From
Dr. Pugsley's Cheers Heavy
Hearted Campbelltonians

Efforts Had Been Made to Arrange For a Meeting with the Lieut. Governor and Premier Hazen also, at which the Whole Situation Could be Discussed, but the Latter Went Off to Charlottetown--Contributions Continue to Come in Slowly--Much Distress is Still to be Found However as Provisions are not only Dear But Scarce.

Campbellton, N. B., July 26—A telegram from Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works, received here this morning, brought cheer to the heart-sick thousands, who, on the night before, suffered terribly from the effects of one of the wildest thunderstorms that has been experienced here in years. The telegram was dated Ottawa and stated that at the request of the town's stricken people the minister would pay them a visit not later than Friday.

This news has been eagerly looked for during the past few days and now that it has come the name of Dr. Pugsley is on the lips of every one.

The relief committee held a meeting this afternoon, at which the telegram was formally presented and steps taken for the receiving of the minister. It is the intention here to let Dr. Pugsley make a personal inspection of the ruins and decide for himself what must be done. The executive will make a personal appeal, however and explain the reason for their bonded indebtedness and how they stand at present in respect to it. It is hoped to have the lieutenant governor and Premier Hazen here to confer with the minister of public works.

In addition to the good news contained in the telegram received from the minister of public works the stricken people were also especially favored in another way and as a result of which joy is reigning in their hearts tonight. For the first time since the day of the disastrous conflagration the sun shone out in all its splendor, supplying them with warmth and comfort that they have long been praying for.

NECESSARIES ON SALE

Business is assuming large proportions here and conditions are such at present that those who have the required funds can purchase almost any of the necessities for life and many of the unecessaries also. In addition to what has been previously mentioned drugs are now being offered for sale and a plumbing establishment has also been opened up.

The Strike, as Seen From The Men's Point of View

(Montreal Herald.)

A Herald representative, wishing to learn things first hand from the point of view of the individuals of the rank and file of the strikers, went to find out what they had to say about the present troubles.

"Mr. Hays is all right," said a man in the large open space, paraded by policemen, in Bonaventure Station from which access to the outgoing trains is given to the public and to which passengers arrive from the trains.

"But Mr. Hays is ill-advised. He didn't seem to have plain horse sense such as he could get from talking to any employed man on any railroad."

"You didn't think of sending him some advisers?"

"Well, no, not exactly that. No, I don't mean that at all. You see, there are thirty-nine railroads in the United States and Canada, including the Canadian Pacific, that give the scale of wages the strikers are asking. Why then, should not the G. T. P. give the same prices?"

"You mean the strike as a gentle reminder to Mr. Hays?"

"Look here. Why should this road demand that its conductors and trainmen shall work for less than is being paid on other lines to men of equal qualifications?"

"Perhaps the road isn't making enough to afford it," was suggested.

"Then the road needs a new management," replied the striker. "It makes out of the work we do. If we hadn't the qualifications—if we couldn't make good, we would deserve the sack. The cost of living in Canada is as high as, or higher, than it is in the States. House rent is higher than it used to be. Bread costs more. Everything is dearer, but the price of newspapers. There wasn't anything left to do but strike. I hope the strike will end pretty soon, because the country is suffering from it, and will, suffer much more as time goes on."

"The next man seen expressed himself like this:

"The practical chance of escape from our dilemma is rather better than the theoretical one. The time is

Owing to the large amount of transferring of ownership of land that is being carried on the members of the legal profession of which there are three in number doing business here, are being kept extremely busy these days. The lawyers, A. E. G. McKenzie, William Murray and A. LeBlanc, all held offices here before the fire and were among the heaviest losers. Mr. McKenzie is now located in a tent and Messrs. Murray and LeBlanc in temporary shacks. While real estate has greatly enhanced in value and many transfers are being made, yet this cannot be taken as an indication that the town will be rebuilt, regardless of what becomes of the bonded indebtedness, for those who are buying are only doing so on condition that they be given an option of thirty days.

SLUG TWO

TO ESTABLISH FIRE LIMITS.

Mindful of the terrible catastrophe and its gruesome consequences, the relief committee got together yesterday and discussed what steps they would take to have a fire limit established in case the local and Dominion governments should set matters at rights, and as a result the town be rebuilt. The question was warmly discussed, and on a statement being made by Chairman G. G. McKenzie to the effect that the fire underwriters had assured him that unless certain classes of brick and stone structures with fireproof equipment were erected in the business section of the town, they would grant no insurance, definite action in this respect was taken.

Several contributions received today, some of which were of a very substantial nature, lent an encouraging aspect to the financial situation and reminded the sufferers that there is still much sympathy being felt in their regard.

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Nova Scotia government sent $1,000 today. Other contributions included the Summer School of Science Liverpool, N. S., $126; proceeds of concert held by members of St. Ann's church, Musquash, N. B., $8.50; Black Cape, Que., $51.50; Fredericton Junction, proceeds of band concert, $38.50; residents of Salisbury, N. B., $118.50.

Mayor Murray wishes to correct a rumor to the effect that the steamer Senlac was charging residents of Campbellton $5 per day for board. The highest rate charged strangers is $3 a day, and townspeople can get rooms for 50 cents a day. The rate is necessitated by the price of provisions here. The people of the town are very grateful to the steamers Senlac and Canada for the free accommodation given on the night of the fire and for several days afterwards.

A PITIABLE CASE.

An example of the intense sufferings which are being endured by many of those living in the tented city at the foot of Patterson hill was accidentally brought to the notice of one of the leading members of the relief committee yesterday. The following is the story of how it came about: A woman who has been in the habit of calling at the relief station every morning and asking for bread, appeared as usual yesterday and made the same request. As there is a great scarcity of food on hand, this article of food is only given to those who are in extremely destitute circumstances. This woman pleaded such was her lot, and although the committee man did not entirely doubt her tale of woe, yet he thought there was nothing like being certain, and leaving the woman standing at the station, he went and made a personal investigation.

Arriving at the woman's tent, he saw there a sight that moved him almost to tears. Lying on a bed of spruce boughs was her husband, stricken with a severe cold and very scantily clothed. Seated on the green sward were five little children, ranging from one to six years of age, crying bitterly over the absence of their mother, who had gone to get them their paltry allowance. With the exception of a few dampened blankets and a pile of spruce boughs this pitiable group had absolutely no furnishings in their tent.

they had better give up the job. "We don't pretend to know their end of it. If these heads know their business as well as we know ours, and did it as well, there never would have been a strike. They are all on the make. Who isn't? We do not pretend to dictate; we want to live and let live. We work for bread—why don't we get the price of it? If we can't earn a living we had better go and die. Meat is so high that we think we had better be vegetarians. The price of bread was put up a cent a loaf only a little while ago. Why? To help the flour mills and the bakers, I suppose. Who moves the wheat to the mills? We do. Suppose the wheat should stay and lie and rot. What then? You say the public would suffer. Who are the public? We are, just as much as anybody else. "I say that the labor of our hands makes the country prosperous. The heads could manage and arrange and think our freight rates and passenger rates upon the basis of the wages we want and would do better than by keeping us down."

Another man said:

"The move to get others to fill our places is absurd. We are a body of efficient men and know our business from A to Z. This is the work we have spent our lives to learn. Who are the non-railroad men to take our places? They are those who have failed in everything they have tried to do, and who think, as a last resort, that they can handle our jobs and do our work better than we have been doing it. Were we discharged? No; we struck. Justice ought to give us a fair show and a square deal."

"Do you suppose these blooming strike-breakers as they are called—I could call them by another name if you asked me—do you suppose these chaps are vacating any positions we could take in exchange for those they are trying to take away from us?"

Upwards of 500 prize sheep, consisting chiefly of Southdowns and Shropshires, bought at the Royal show, were carried by the White Star steamer Cymric, which left Liverpool for Boston on the 28th ult. These valuable animals will be distributed far and wide in America.
