

"Hawes" Von Gal Hats

THE
SHAPES
FOR
SUMMER

The preferred shapes for the present season, still show the flat and medium-flat set brims. In soft hats the style differences are rather more in evidence. Of course good form and taste dictate the avoidance of extremes, in hats as in clothes. Individuality is of course desirable, and it is this attribute combined with Style, Quality, Superior Workmanship, Finish and Fit, that has placed HAWES, VON GAL HATS first in the favour of smartly dressed men.

CARDINAL GIBBONS LAUDS "A GOOD HOUSEKEEPER"

Has Ten Times More Respect for Women Who Work Than for the Idle Gossips of Society.

Baltimore, April 26.—"I have ten times more respect for the woman who goes out and earns her living, toils for herself and family and becomes a good housekeeper than for the idle gossiping society woman who passes away her precious moments in doing nothing."

Cardinal Gibbons spoke thus in the sermon at the confirmation exercises at St. Joseph's Catholic church recently. The confirmation class was the largest in the history of the church, 260 children and adults being confirmed.

"Above all, my boys and girls, be industrious," continued the Cardinal. "It is an honorable thing to work, and honorable and industrious work is what has made this great nation. Never be ashamed to work, and always be ever ready to do your share when the time comes. 'Men alone should not be industrious. Women also must be industrious and the working woman always commands and should demand much more respect than the idle woman.'"

PERSONALS

Mr. Max Kubeak of Toronto is at the Barker House.

Mr. R. King of Woodstock, is at the Barker House.

Messrs. A. W. Fraser, J. W. Andrew and E. R. Fenwick, of St. John, are at the Queen.

Mr. E. D. Ross of St. Stephen, is in the city.

Mr. J. S. Thompson of London, is registered at the Queen.

Miss Mary Coburn left last evening for Glasgow, Scotland, where she will join Miss Wark, who has been spending the winter in the old country.

MILLVILLE.

April 25.—The heavy rains of the past week were much welcomed by the lumbermen of this district. Hay Bros. now have their logs in safe waters, and will reach their mill in a few days.

Mr. David Schriever of Campbell Settlement has sold his farm and is now loading his stock and household effects. He intends locating in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Chas. Palmer is digging a cellar and making other preparations for building a house in the village. He expects soon to take up his residence here, and his farm in Maplewood is offered for sale.

The C.P.R. station is being given some much needed repairs. The waiting room and office are being lined with hard pine throughout, and other repairs are being made.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Chas. Sansom is very ill. All unite in wishing her a speedy recovery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Roster took place on Saturday morning last and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Trotton conducted the services, assisted by Mr. Richardson.

ITEMS FROM SANDYVILLE.

April 25.—By request of the readers of your valuable paper I make bold to write a few items. If satisfactory publish otherwise consign to the waste basket. Since the Fredericton Herald has taken its departure we felt that our best friend had left us but The Mail coming to us as it has supplied the want.

The heavy rains for the past week have been a great benefit to the country. The drives are all progressing favorably. Some of them are in safe waters.

Mr. C. N. Goodspeed, our genial merchant, has added to his grocery business a large department of dry goods, a long felt want in this locality.

Mrs. N. Stewart, who has been suffering from an attack of la grippe, is improving very slowly.

Miss Eva Stewart gave a birthday party to a few of her friends Saturday afternoon. Many beautiful tokens were presented to her showing the esteem in which she is held by her youthful companions. A very pleasant time was spent after which the National Anthem was sung and many good wishes exchanged.

WHY HE DIDN'T STAND UP.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting.

"Let all you husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher, at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Ah!" exclaimed the preacher peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly, as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up; I'm paralyzed."

For the last ten years the number of estates entered in each year's Death Duties in Britain has exceeded 60,000.

MUST BE LESS TALK IN COMMONS

Ottawa, April 26.—Each year as business increases and sessions lengthen, parliament endeavors to adjust itself to congested conditions by revising the rules in the interest of expedition. There has been a committee at work this session, on which Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Borden have sat, and it has brought in the report. The closure is not included in the recommendations, and Sir Wilfrid is not in favor of the limitation of speech by regulation if it could be limited by common sense. That proposal will stand over. The chief changes to expedite business will be that certain questions may be answered in writing.

It is also provided that any member, if elected for two seats, must make his selection within twenty days after his election to both seats is confirmed.

WHY MEN DON'T MARRY.

The question is agitating the minds of the lieges at present as to the reason that young men are not so fond of rushing into matrimony as the men of the last generation. The reasons are many, so it is said—that young women are not so attractive, they are becoming more "mannish" that they want to begin in a grander way than their mothers did, and so on. Perhaps the reason might be asked rather thus—"Why Women Don't Marry?"—and the answer be given that the women are more independent now, and do not take to marriage as the way of making a living. A young woman who earns money for herself has a better time of it before marriage than she can ever hope for again unless she marry a man in good position. Her work, if congenial, is not irksome; her life is free of care; she has money for her wants and money in her pocket. If she marry she must go to her husband for every penny, or have it given to her, cheerfully or otherwise, as the case may be. The old free, careless days are over, and to be a girl of spirit the money question is one of the most trying parts of matrimony. Now-a-days if a married woman earn money she may call it her own, but how few women have time for that, and besides, it is both the duty and the privilege of a husband to provide for his wife and children.

A BEGGAR'S NEWSPAPER.

Fraternities and other organization among street beggars have been in existence for years, but it is not widely known that in one city at least one newspaper edited solely for mendicants exists and even flourishes. This paper is printed and circulated mainly in Paris. The poorest street arab considers it as necessary as his penny loaf of bread, although it contains neither politics nor foreign news. The type is of the cheapest sort, and no artist has ever tried his skill on its pages. The following is the sort of matter which is printed:

"At the Madeleine, Tuesday, at noon, a grand marriage—two million francs dot."

"A baptism at St. Sulpice, Wednesday, at 4 o'clock—grandson of la Comtesse Rambeau."

"Thursday, interment of M. le Comte de Brian from the South Chapel of Notre Dame, at 2 o'clock."

"Reception chez Mme la Baronne Chevreau—Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, from 4 to 7."

These items are carefully noted by the interested poor, and on the days mentioned a motley throng of beggars assembles along the route—some in tags, and some in velvet gowns."

Quantities of sous change hands on such days for the French are generous on these occasions. A notice of a baptism is a signal for all the neighboring poor children to assemble at the church door, where dragee or sugar plums are lavishly thrown to the multitude. "Baptism candy" it is called, and it is displayed in the confectioners' windows in dainty boxes marked with gilt letters. "Baptême"

This candy is eaten at no other time. It belongs exclusively to such ceremonies, and the little boxes are distributed among the guests, with the baby's name emblazoned on the corner.

SCOTS SALMON.

The Salmon industry in Scotland dates from time immemorial, and at the present day is valuable and extensive, says the Greenock Telegraph. Hundreds of thousands of pounds are annually paid by tracksmen for the fishing rights of river, sea, or loch, and as wages and "fish money" to the army of men who are thereby provided with employment. In some parts of the country the season has already opened; in others the preparatory steps are being pushed rapidly forward. Within a month the trade will be in full swing, and tons of the lordly fish will be daily speeded up on the beach by the tempest, a mass of torn and broken cord and timber.

Owing to an undertaker's blunder, the body of a Nottingham man of independent means was buried in a pauper's grave.
